MORE THAN YEAR BEFORE 1926 PRIMARY

Each to Have Considerable Advantage Over Possible Opponents for the Party Nominations.

By CURTIS A. BEITS.

With the Democratic and Republican Senatorial campaigns in Missouri forced into full swing more than a year before the 1926 primary election, a campaign of almost unprecedented length will provide a surfeit of politics.

Congressman Harry B. Hawes, Democrat, and Senator George H. Williams, Republican, the Candidates.

CHAMPION BOXER DIES ON OPERATING TABLE

Pancho Villa, World Flyweight Titleholder, Suffocated Under Anesthetic.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Pancho Villa, flyweight pugilist champion of the world and the first Filipino to hold a pugilistic title, died at St. Mary's Hospital here yesterday after an anesthetic had been administered to him preliminary to an operation on his throat. The little fighter suffocated before the knife could be used. The boxer's real name was Francisco Gilledo.

Earth Tremor and Shock By Dynamite at Same Time

Experience at Edwardsville Divides Opinion, of Citizens, but Proof of Coincidence Appears Ample.

The coincidental occurrence of a slight earthquake and a heavy shock from a charge of dynamite was the unusual experience of Edwardsville, across the river in Madison County, late yesterday afternoon. Today, opinion in the little city is divided over whether the pronounced quivering felt shortly after 5 o'clock was due to the quake or blasting.

The fact that there was a blast nobody doubts. It was exploded in the west end of the town by the Alton Brick Co., which for several months has been engaged in removing shale from the side of a hill. But the fact that at about the same time there was also an earth tremor which well might have contributed to the disturbance was disclosed by the seismograph at St. Louis University.

COURT REFUSES TO BAR BRITISH SHIP RUM UNDER SEAL

U. S. Judge Rules Tribunal Cannot Compel Prosecuting Officers to Enforce Penal Laws.

REMEDY HELD TO LIE IN EXECUTIVE

Declines to Grant Writ Sought by American Ship Men, but Does Not Pass on Liquor Treaty.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 15.—British ships may continue to bring liquor into American ports under seal for the use of passengers European-bound, as allowed by the rum treaty between the United States and Great Britain, under a ruling by Federal Judge Mack.

On the ground that the Federal courts have no power to compel prosecuting officers to enforce the law, Judge Mack yesterday declined to grant an injunction which would have restrained port officials and prohibition authorities from recognizing the rum treaty provisions.

The court held that an appeal for enforcement of a penal law must be made to the executive branch of the Government, "and ultimately with the people." He held it was unnecessary for him to pass upon the British flag, the treaty and the Senate to make a treaty which exempts British ships from the constitutional amendment placing a ban on the transportation of liquor within the country's territorial limits.

STOCKHOLDERS OF DEFUNCT OIL FIRM MUST PAY $33,443

Thirteen Holding Shares in the Vortex Corporation Liable to Creditors, Says Judge Miller's Decision.

CAPITAL $150,000, ACTUAL CASH $464

Court Places Value of the Equipment at $289.13, and Declares Leases Were Worthless.

Thirteen stockholders of the Vortex Oil Corporation, which failed three years ago, are required by a decision of Circuit Judge Miller, handed down today, to pay a total of $33,443.49 to creditors of the corporation.

The decision is in favor of Neville C. Fisher, trustee in bankruptcy of the company, who filed suit against the shareholders based on their alleged failure to pay for stock issue due them. Creditors' claims totaling $40,620 have been allowed.

Defendants and Liability.

The defendants and the amounts for which they are held liable are: A. L. Morgens, $10,970.39; George J. Wanstrath, $10,000; H. W. Meyer and S. W. Uhl, $11,492.44 each; State Senator Joseph H. Brogan, J. W. Hennrich and Milton Fritchie, $1,000 each; Bernard H. and Mary Fellenz, $1,000 jointly; P. F. Didier, $574.62; Jesse W. Shaw, $500; Edward McDonough, $2000, and J. P. Frank, $100.

Tennessee's Governor Cheers the Prosecution

It's a Poor Case That Runs From Prayer, Executive Wires Stewart.

COURTHOUSE, DAYTON, Tenn., July 15.

OFFICIAL A commendation from Gov. Austin Peay, over the manner in which Attorney-General A. T. Stewart is handling the prosecution of John Thomas Scopes, for alleged violation of the anti-evolution teaching law came today in the form of a telegram.

The message was: "It is a poor case that runs from prayer. You are handling that case like a veteran and I am proud of you. Regards to Mr. Bryan and friends. 'AUSTIN PEAY.'"

JUDGE DENIES MOTION TO QUASH AT SCOPES TRIAL

Court, as Expected, Holds Evolution Statute Constitutional—Defense Has Laid Basis for Appeal.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 15.—Circuit Judge John T. Raulston, presiding over the Scopes trial, today held the Tennessee anti-evolution statute constitutional and denied its motion to quash the indictment. Consequently the trial will proceed. This has been the expectation of those on the ground.

Judge Raulston's decision on the constitutionality of the law is not final, however. The defense has carefully laid the groundwork for an appeal to the Supreme Court of Tennessee and the United States Supreme Court in case Scopes is convicted. In one or both of these higher courts the question of whether the law is constitutional must ultimately be decided. Had Judge Raulston held the law unconstitutional the State could have appealed.

PROMOTER AND OFFICE FORCE TAKEN IN RAID

Jacob Karchner and 25 Other Persons Arrested in Benoit Building.

Jacob Karchner, who last summer was expelled from the American Legion here, was arrested by detectives at 1 p. m. today in a raid on his ticket selling offices in the Benoit Building, Ninth and Pine streets.

The arrest resulted from an investigation by police at the instance of the Better Business Bureau. Karchner's entire office force, including 14 men, two young women typists and five delivery boys, was also taken to Central District, to be held until the Circuit Attorney hears the circumstances.

Detectives reported that 12 of Karchner's men were soliciting sales over telephones for tickets for a dance to be given by the United Workers of the Blind, at Hotel Chase on Aug. 3. Tickets so sold were delivered by the boys, who were equipped with bicycles. The young women, it was reported, were busy writing letters, asking the recipients to buy tickets and these letters, along with tickets, were also being delivered by the boys to various prospects.

FOUND DEAD ON A ROAD

RICHARD LINDABURY, LAWYER, FOUND DEAD ON A ROAD

By the Associated Press.

BERNARDSVILLE, N. J., July 15.—Richard Vilett Lindabury, 74 years old, senior member of the Newark law firm of Lindabury, Depu & Falks, and a director and general counsel of the Prudential Insurance Co. and the United States Steel Corporation, was found dead today on a road near his estate here.

County Physician Long said that death was due to apoplexy. Lindabury had been horseback riding. His body was found about two miles from his home by Charles Westchester, an ice dealer.

Westchester knew that Lindabury rode each morning and when a horse ran into his yard with cuts on its side and on the saddle he recognized it as Lindabury's horse.

CAN'T TAKE PROHIBITION OUT OF POLITICS, WATSON SAYS

OF POLITICS, WATSON SAYS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—With the Treasury endeavoring to eliminate patronage from dry enforcement, Senator Watson of Indiana, an administration leader, declared today that there was no possibility of taking the question of prohibition out of politics.

"We have long been advised," he said, "that the tariff was not a political question, but it has not been taken out of politics. No more can prohibition be taken out."

Possibility of amending the Volstead act, Senator Watson believes, rests upon whether the opponents of the law adopt the tactics of the dry leaders in working from within the two political parties. Advocates of modification, he said, had failed to gain substantial headway because they had not committed themselves unalterably in opposition to the restoration of the saloon and had not offered a tangible substitute for the saloon.

By the Associated Press.

FREDERICK, Md., July 15.—Robert Shroyer, 28 years old, convicted of wife beating, today was whipped at the post by Sheriff Ingomar W. Albaugh. Ten lashes were applied with a blacksnake whip under sentence passed last Monday. Shroyer afterward shook hands with the Sheriff.

The whipping took place in the county jail with three witnesses and a physician present. It was the first whipping of a white man in the State in several years.

The second point, alleging a violation of the constitutional provision that the Legislature should cherish literature and learning in schools of the State, he passed over with a brief statement of the law, since the point had not been pressed by the defense.

The next, a purely technical point, charging the bill had not been read a sufficient number of times in the two houses of the Legislature before its enactment, also was dismissed with a simple reading of the constitutional provision.

Taking up the next phase, which alleged a violation of the constitutional right to worship God according to the dictates of the individual conscience, he declared he failed to see "how this act in anywise interferes or in the leastwise restrains any person from worshipping God in the manner that pleases him. It gives no preference to any particular religion or mode of worship. Our public schools are not maintained as

HOLIDAY SPIRIT AT SCOPES TRIAL GIVING WAY TO AN ATMOSPHERE OF HOSTILITY

Darrow's Objection to Courtroom Prayer Stirs Community—Dayton, Expecting a Show, Finds Itself in Midst of Battle.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 15.—The spirit of holiday in which the Scopes trial opened has disappeared. Instead, the air is pervaded with a hostility bordering upon enmity. Rhea County, expecting merely a good show with nobody hurt, finds itself suddenly in the midst of a battle in which sharp, heavy, staggering blows have been struck.

The ominous transformation began Monday when the dapper New Yorker, Dudley Field Malone, took a nasty fall out of the town favorite, "Ginny Ben" McKenize in open court. That McKenize has courted it by resorting to the most palatable appeals to local prejudice made no difference. It grew when John Neal, former dean of the University of Tennessee Law School, denounced William J. Bryan as a man "who is either profoundly ignorant of the Constitution or profoundly contemptuous of the rights which it guarantees."

Then came Clarence Darrow's tremendous assault upon the whole breastwork of fundamentalism, bigotry, obscurantism and the effort to inject religion into government. As those sledge hammer blows resounded through the courtroom they carried to Rhea County a realization of how deep-seated this controversy really was.

Community stirred. Yesterday morning the defense exploded a mine by objecting vigorously to the practice of opening each session of the court with prayer. Even more than Darrow's attack, this stirred the community. Some of his historical and philosophical arguments of the day before may have gone uncomprehended, but Rhea County could understand this to its own satisfaction. It went right to the heart of the question as these people are beginning to see it. It confirmed the dreadful and growing suspicion the defense in this case is nothing but a downright atheistic onslaught upon God and Christianity.

Thus we heard the term "agnostic" hurled at Darrow, and the epithet "murderer" would have been flung. Thus we heard the prosecution shouting, "This is a Christian community. We know nothing of infidelity here, and care not to hear of it." And behind the lawyers was that rumbling undertone from the courtroom, the angry, growing assertion of outraged reverence.

Rhea County does not understand when it is told that it is a Christian community. Rhea County cannot see that there is any other side in a controversy involving the sanctity of the Bible.

It does not see that the things which it wants to take for granted are the very things in this case. It cannot conceive of such issues being raised except for the malignant purpose of undermining faith and virtue. Now it finds the Bible assailed as a man-made book, full of mistakes. And it hears objections to prayer in court. To Rhea County it is all sacrilege and blasphemy. It is interesting to compare impressions of five days ago with those of today. Five days ago a famous writer of copyrighted articles upon setting foot in Dayton, wrote: "I had expected to find a typical squalid Southern town, with darkies roosting on the horse blocks and pigs snorting under the porches. Instead, I find a charming hamlet, full of beautiful homes, housing people who are warm, enlightened and hospitable." That was Friday. This is what he wrote yesterday:

"The net effect of Clarence Darrow's great speech upon the so-called minds of the fundamentalists of upland Tennessee was precisely the same as if he had bawled it out a rain squall. When it was over, the morons in the audience simply bawled it. The case will not be decided by logic, nor even by counting noses. And for every nose in these hills that has ever thrust itself into any book save the Bible, there are 100 adorned with the brass ring of Bryan. These are his people. They understand him."

Another View.

On that same gala Friday, which now seems so long ago, another distinguished Eastern correspondent who had pictured this as backward community. These were as intelligent and as tolerant as many people anywhere, and said "and those who say otherwise either haven't seen them or have no respect for facts." Alas for that happy day, this is what he writes now:

"This section would sooner secede from the Union than have its antievolution bill taken away. If the statute is nationally unconstitutional, this county would vote almost to a man to nullify the Constitution and leave the statute."

As one who was born, and whose ancestors for three generations were born, within a few miles of this place, the writer offers the following explanation. This case was not started by the sort of people who really comprise the population of Rhea County and all these mountain counties. It was started

Tennessee Statute, Bible Story Which It Upholds, and Evolution Theory Taught by the Defendant

(From "A Circle Biology" by George William Hunter, Ph.D., of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., the textbook used in the Dayton High School.)

THE ameba is a type of the simplest form of animal life. Although but a single cell, the ameba appears to be aware of the existence of food when it is near at hand. Food may be taken into the body at any point, the semi-fluid protoplasm simply rolling over and engulfing the food material. We find the single cell performing all the general activities which the many-celled animal is able to perform. Any part of the cell can take in food, can absorb oxygen, can change the food into protoplasm, and excrete waste material.

Protists are found almost everywhere in shallow water, especially close to the surface. They form the food for many animals higher in the scale of life.

Animal forms may be arranged so as to begin with very simple forms of animal life, and gradually give rise to those more complex, and that thus ultimately the most complex forms came into existence. Over 500,000 species of animals are known to exist today.

Although man is separated mentally by a wide gap from all other animals, he is not so far removed from them as we must make him to place man. • • •

Yesterday afternoon Arthur Garfield Hays of defense counsel offered to Judge Raulston a petition signed by five modernist ministers, asking that if he was determined to hear the case, he should open court with prayer, he choose one of their persuasion alternately with a fundamentalist minister, so that some of those in the courtroom would not be compelled to listen to prayers which some of the times were "offensive." Something like a hiss greeted this, and before Hays was well started on it, Attorney Stewart was on his feet objecting.

Hays insisted on his right to make a motion without interruption and Stewart, hitherto the mildest lawyer in the courtroom, turned on him with a snarling, "Will you please hush your mouth till I have finished, and then you may speak." And more applause when Stewart declared that "This is a Christian community here."

When Judge Raulston announced that hereafter he would leave the choice of a minister to the Dayton Pastors' Association, the solution invoked a loud, exultant guffaw from the spectators.

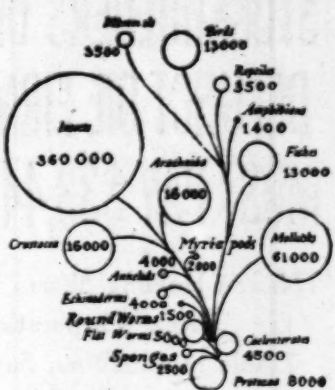

Less than an hour later Stewart, who is a university graduate and a man of culture, was remorselessly searching for Hays and announcing that he would repeat his apology in public today. Assured by defense counsel that this was not necessary, he nevertheless insisted. Perhaps he had something in mind beside the preservation of courtroom decorum. With his malicious voice and magnetic gesture, he has called upon the people to save their children from the slimy tentacles of atheism and the jaws of hell. He has been heard. The clans are gathering. Sullenly, with lowering brows and smoldering eyes, Rhea County is rallying to his God.

LINCHY SERVED WITH NOTICE OF SUIT TYING UP PROPERTY

Wife Brought Action Ten Days Ago After She Filed Divorce Proceedings

Edmond Linchey, a grandson of the late Edward Butler, Democratic boss, yesterday was served with a summons in suit by his wife, Mrs. Katherine Linchey, 6351 Pershing avenue, to enjoin him from disposing of his property, valued at $100,000.

The suit was filed 10 days ago, after Mrs. Linchey had filed divorce proceedings. But Deputy Sheriff Sam Thompson, who has been looking for the defendant to serve him with the injunction petition, was unable to find him until yesterday, when he located him in the office of an attorney in the Central National Bank Building. Thompson previously had served Linchey with a copy of the divorce petition. The injunction suit was the first divorce trial today before Circuit Judge Falkenhainer.

The evolutionary family tree, as pictured in Hunter's "Circle Biology," the textbook from which Scopes taught. The figures show the number of species of each form of animal life estimated by scientists, the total number exceeding 500,000.

GENESIS, CHAPTER I.

IN THE beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. And God said, let there be light, and there was light. (Then follows the account of the creation of the firmament, the waters, land, grass and living soul, and the moon and stars, in the first four days.)

And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind; and God saw that it was good. • • •

And God said, let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and beast of the field, after its kind; and it was so. • • •

And God said, let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let him have dominion over the fish of the sea, over the fowls of the air, over the beasts, and over all the earth. • • •

So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. • • •

And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

(Following the foregoing material in Chapter I, Chapter II contains what is either retelling in detail of the creation of man, or, as some critics declare, a variant account of that event.)

There went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and man became a living soul. • • •

And the Lord God said, it is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him an helpmeet for him. • • • important that the atmosphere in which it is tried be kept neutral of passion.

Sue Hicks, young special prosecutor, retorted with the accusation that the renewal of the exception was gratuitous and asked that the court allow the defense to note his objections but forbid it from "keeping up this here heckling every morning."

Judge's Statement.

"I believe," said Judge Raulston, "that every religious people which is worthy of the name should believe in God and in his divine guidance. At times when there has been no minister in the court, I have called on some good, pious old man, whom I knew was good and believed in God, to lead in prayer. I intend to continue my custom of ordering prayer."

"I don't think," he said in a ministerial manner, "that it will hurt anybody, and I think it may help somebody."

General Stewart addressed the court and offered a public apology for remarks which he made to Arthur Garfield Hays of defense counsel in the course of a heated clash yesterday afternoon. Hays accepted the amendment on condition that "there shall be no further reference by State's counsel to the geographical, political, religious or economic connections and beliefs of counsel."

Neal, however, leaped to his feet and declared: "I am not at all satisfied with the Attorney-General's apology, and he knows why. I have entreated him in private, and offered him every opportunity to apologize for a deliberate insult which he administered to me and my colleagues, and he has persistently refused to do so. I regard his position as indefensibly discourteous, and I want to register my opinion of it."

Stewart did not lose his temper. He said, "Well, gentlemen, I am always willing to admit when I made a mistake, but I can't bring myself to apologize for saying what I believe is true."

As the courtroom was listening in bewilderment to this unintelligible colloquy, Clarence Darrow arose and made clear what it was that he wanted. Stewart referred to Darrow yesterday as an agnostic.

"Notwithstanding what Dr. Neal has just said," growled Darrow, "I will have to say to the Court that it is no insult to me to say that I am an agnostic, because I am one. I do not pretend to know, where to many ignorant men are sure, that there is no God. As for referring to me as an infidel, why, there's no offense in that, because it means nothing. The term is used by Saracens to describe those who do not believe in Mohammedanism. Some Christian sects use it to indicate those who disagree with them. Actually there is no sense in it, and it doesn't affront me at all."

Secs Prejudice by Jury.

"On the other hand," he went on, with deepening seriousness, "I

EARNINGS OF PEOPLE'S BUS CO. GAIN 125 PCT.

June Receipts Were $217,600 Against $113,362 in Same Month in 1924.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Expansion of motorbus operations continues in American cities in spite of street car competition.

An analysis of the business of the Omnibus Corporation, operating the Fifth Avenue Coach Co., New York; People's Motor Bus, St. Louis; and Chicago Motor Coach, for the first six months of 1925 shows an increase of 36.88 per cent in gross receipts over the corresponding period of 1924.

Although extension of lines in all three cities accounted for some of the increase, the growing popularity of the bus is credited by President John A. Ritchie of the Omnibus Corporation with a large proportion of the increase in passengers carried.

Gross receipts for the first six months this year were $1,552,491, against $1,133,362 last year. The increase in passengers carried was 20,825,250.

St. Louis showed the largest percentage of increase in gross earnings, reporting $1,225,775 for the first half of 1925, against $811,618 last year, an increase of more than 50 per cent. June receipts in St. Louis were $217,600, against $113,362 in June, 1924.

"To call me an agnostic is a compliment, so far as I am concerned, but other people might not think so, and I don't believe the fact that I am an agnostic should be allowed to influence the jury in determining the guilt or innocence of Mr. Scopes."

"I agree with that," said Judge Raulston, "and I want to advise counsel at this time to make no reference to the religious beliefs of other lawyers in the presence of the jury."

Richard Beamish, chairman of the Reporter's Committee, appointed to inquire into the premature publication yesterday of what purported to be the Judge's decision on the motion to quash, reported that the correspondent did not get the decision from the Court's stenographer and believed the information he sent out to be true. The committee recommended that the correspondent be not removed from the court. Judge Raulston asked the source of the information and was told that it came from the Court through deduction.

"The young man met the Judge entering a local hotel," Beamish explained, reciting a conversation between the Judge and the correspondent.

"Will court continue tomorrow?" Beamish said the correspondent inquired.

"And your honor, you answered 'Yes.'"

The reporter knew that court could not continue if you quashed the indictment. He therefore made a careful deduction that you intended to rule against the defense motion and based his story upon that.

Judge Raulston asked "no the correspondent was and Beamish reported that it was William K. Hutchinson of the International News Service. Hutchinson was asked to come before the Court and a statement to make, explaining that he need not feel obliged to make a statement. Hutchinson said a statement to the Court in chambers.

To Get Private Audience.

Beamish spoke up to say that Hutchinson was "thoroughly ethical." The Court announced that the newspaper man would be given a private audience.

The committee report was signed by four of the five members, Richard Beamish, Philadelphia Enquirer; Earl Schaub, Universal Service; Forrest Davis, New York Herald-Tribune; and Tony Muto, New York Evening Bulletin. Philip Kinsley, Chicago Tribune, the fifth member, did not sign the report.

Judge Raulston took a recess after reading his decision but returned to the bench he addressed himself to the press and made two slight corrections in the text of the 10,000-word opinion, apparently under the impression that it was being published verbatim. Then he proposed a recess.

Malone agreed that the trial be expedited as much as possible as defense attorneys were under great pressure, due to business elsewhere, and asked him to dispose of the defense motion, which is identical with the motion to quash already overruled.

Another Recess Taken.

"We will take a recess to let your gentlemen get your demurrer together," the Judge said.

"Why, you have it. I gave it to your honor," exclaimed Neal. The Judge patted his pockets ungraciously and looked under a paper on his desk.

"Well, I'll declare," he said, "I've been under such heavy responsibilities, that I am afraid I haven't looked at it."

"We assure your honor that it is the same language as the one in the motion to quash, and we assure that you will overrule it, but we want to get a ruling for the record," Neal explained.

"Well," said the Judge brightly, "I'll take a recess to 1 o'clock, to enable you to get the demurrer from me if I have it."

GERMAN CABINET AGREES ON REPLY TO SECURITY PROPOSAL

Final Meeting Today to Draft Statement on France's Reply to Proposal.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 15.—The German Cabinet today agreed upon the tentative text of its reply to the French note regarding Germany's proposal for a Western European security pact.

There will be a final meeting on Germany's reply Friday at a conference of the Cabinet with the Reichstag's Foreign Relations Committee and the Premiers of the Federated States of Germany.

The French note, representing an Anglo-French agreement, replied to Germany's suggestion in February for a security pact protecting the frontiers of Western Europe.

MAN'S DEATH DUE TO HEART DISEASE, NOT AUTO INJURIES

A Coroner's investigation to determine whether Emmett Young, 46, of 4212 Idaho avenue, who collapsed yesterday in the bathroom at his home, died from injuries sustained Saturday when he was knocked down by an automobile, today resulted in a finding by Deputy Coroner Dever of death caused by chronic heart disease.

Although Young's sister, Miss Camille Young, did not know he was under medical treatment, their family physician, Dr. William H. Walters, stated that he had treated Young for the heart ailment for four years. He said that after the accident Young showed him a bruise on the left forearm and complained of a slight pain in the back. He did not consider the injuries sufficient to affect the heart condition.

Young stepped into the alley between his home Saturday and was knocked down by a truck.

TWO ATTACKS BY RIFFIANS ON FRENCH POSITIONS DEFEATED

By the Associated Press.

FEZ, French Morocco, July 15.—The French today defeated two attacks by Abd-el-Krim's Riffians upon positions protecting Fez and Taza.

The unsuccessful Riffian attacks were made on Ain Aicha, one of the most important French points in the Fez protection, and at Bab Morouj, near Taza.

COOLIDGE READING WHITTIER Will Take Trip Into Territory Where Stories Had Settling.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 15.—President Coolidge's desk in his office at White Court is covered with official papers, but amid the mass is one book—the poems of John Greenleaf Whittier.

President Coolidge is practicing what he preaches. Before coming to Massachusetts he recommended to those in his party that the Quaker poet would be good summer reading, since occasional riffs would be taken into the Whittier territory, above Amesbury, where "Snowbound" was written.

When he has time off from work, the President is refreshing himself with "In School Days," "The Barefoot Boy," and "Maud Muller."

TRIES TO END LIFE WITH SPOON

Vagrancy Prisoner in Belleville Jail Had Sharpened It on Floor.

George Breedlove, 20 years old, of East St. Louis, serving 60 days in the St. Clair County Jail at Belleville, is in the St. Clair County hospital as a result of attempting to end his life early yesterday morning. Breedlove severed an artery in his right arm with a tin spoon, which he had sharpened on the granite floor of the cell house. Other prisoners, hearing him screaming, notified Henry Reissen, and Breedlove was removed to the county hospital. He has a good chance for recovery, physicians say.

Breedlove and 11 other men were arrested last week when deputy sheriffs made a raid on a shed near the Louisville & Nashville Railroad tracks in St. Louis following a tip that narcotics were being sold there. Ten of the 12 men, including Breedlove, entered pleas of guilty of vagrancy and were given 60 days in jail each.

SITE OF OIL SHALE Plant Selected.

DENVER, Colo., July 15.—Raulston, Colo., in the western part of the state, will be the site of the Federal Government's $20,000 experimental oil shale plant, J. S. Desmond, United States engineer, announced here today. Although the site was tentatively selected some time ago, the final decision was left up to Desmond who made an inspection of the proposed site.

POST-DISPATCH WANTS TO RESTORE LOST ARTICLES OF SCIENTIFIC VALUE.

Five applicants for the position of warden of the City Jail are being examined today by the Efficiency Board. One of the applicants is the present warden, Melvin Hoffman, an original Miller supporter, who was appointed temporarily June 1 to succeed Richard Matten, who had held the position four years. Names of the other applicants were not disclosed.

The position pays $250 a month, with living quarters, food supplies and laundry furnished, for the first year, and $225 a month thereafter. The three persons having the highest averages in the examination will be certified to Director of Public Welfare, who may appoint any one of the three.

Tomorrow an examination will be held to select a warden of the City workhouse, a position now held temporarily by Elmer Presser, father-in-law of Robert Kratky, Mayor Miller's campaign manager. The salary of this position is the same as that of the City Jail. Friday an examination will select two deputy assessors, each with a salary of $275 a month, will be held.

YOUTHS SAID TO HAVE SIX STORE HOLDUPS

One on Sick Parole in Boonville; Man Shot in One of Robberies.

The police hold prisoners three boys, two 17 years and the third 14, who, they say, confessed to six holdups of stores in five weeks. In one of the holdups a 69-year-old man, who was a robber, was shot.

The prisoners described themselves as Robert Fischer, 14, old, an orphan, who says that he left the home of relatives in St. Louis 10 weeks ago; Collins, 17, of 1923 Larkin street, for whom the police have a previous arrest record; and John J. Bianco, 17, of 3510 St. Louis

YOUTHS SAID TO ADMIT SIX STORE HOLDUPS

One on Sick Parole From Boonville; Man Shot in One of Robberies.

The police hold prisoner today three boys, two 17 years old and the third 16, who, they say, have confessed to six holdups of stores in five weeks. In one of the holdups a 69-year-old man, who resisted the robbers, was shot.

The prisoners described themselves as Robert Fischer, 16 years old, an orphan, who says that he left the home of relatives in South St. Louis 10 weeks ago; Samuel Collins, 17, of 1923 Laffin avenue, for whom the police have no previous arrest record; and Herman J. Bianco, 17, of 3510 St. Louis avenue, who a month ago was given sick parole from Boonville Reformatory, to which he had been sent 11 months ago for theft of an automobile.

The police also are holding Ernest Dickson, 19, of 3305 Palm street, at liberty under an appeal bond from a 5-year sentence for robbery, and Francis Hoover, 18, of 4120 Pleasant street. One of the boys, Fischer, has named them as his companions in a seventh holdup, but they deny their participation.

The holdups attributed to the three boys are: June 20, grocery store of Emil Jans, 2200 St. Louis avenue; June 25, drug store of Otto Kopp, 5901 North Market street; June 28, filling station at Garrison avenue and Montross street; July 3, saloon at 11th and Chestnut streets; July 5, delicatessen of Wm. Gilbert, 4624 Delmar boulevard; July 8, candy store of Philip Heim, Grand boulevard and St. Louis avenue.

In the latter robbery, the boys got nothing, they said, because the shooting of Heim's brother, Henry Heim, 69 years old, who resisted them. Fischer related, the police say, that he did not want to shoot Heim because he was an old man and that he first struck him with the revolver, but Heim continued to struggle for his weapon, whereupon he shot him in the leg. They then fled.

Describes Robbery.

William F. Bright, proprietor of the Chestnut street saloon, was positive in his identification of the boys, the police say, when Fischer recalled to him incidents of the robbery, which Bright corroborated.

Likewise, Robert Epstein, proprietor of a drug store at 212 North Taylor avenue, which Fischer said was robbed by himself, Hoover and Dickson, was positive in his identification. He had reported that the robbers got $100. Fischer said they got only $15.

"Didn't the negro porter try to run?" Fischer asked Epstein, "didn't I go into the back room to make him to the front of the store?" "I guess that's right," Epstein replied.

The police received with incredulity the statement of Fischer that they were actuated to the robbery by a desire to provide food for Thomas A. Skinner, two-term convict, who since he was shot by the police two months ago in burglary, has been in bed at 340 Bell avenue. Two of the five were arrested as they came from Skinner's room and a third was found in the room.

COUNTRESS CRAVEN SEEKS TO DIVORCE HER ELOPING PEER

Names Countess Cathcart, Who Flew With Husband to South Africa, as Co-respondent.

BELIEVED THEY WERE SOULMATES

Cathcart, 56, Divorced His Young Wife, Naming Earl of Craven, Who Put in No Defense.

By Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

LONDON, July 15.—Announcement that the Countess of Craven has filed suit for divorce, citing Vera Countess Cathcart, as co-respondent, is another stage in a marriage scandal extending back several years, wherein the principal lack of concealment and contempt for conventions have been unparalleled.

Earl Craven, whose mother was formerly Cornelia Bradley Martin of New York, married in 1916, while known as the Viscount Uffington, Mary Wilhelmina George, daughter of the town clerk of the obscure Scottish municipality of Invergreen. They were 19.

Shortly after the marriage, of which his parents disapproved, Uffington went to the French front, where he lost a leg and had an arm seriously injured. He was invalided home, but became estranged from his wife.

Uffington was adjudged a bankrupt in 1919. His wife was suing for restoration for conjugal rights in 1919, when Uffington's father, Earl Craven, fell overboard and was drowned from a yacht during the fashionable Cowes festival. Uffington succeeded to the earldom and his wife's legal proceedings were stopped.

But the reconciliation was insincere and became a complete arrangement, when Craven succumbed to the fascinations of the beautiful Countess Cathcart. Her husband later then was killed in World War and she was married to the 56-year-old Earl of Cathcart in 1919, after "love at first sight."

Cathcart obtained a divorce in 1922, naming the Earl of Craven, who put in no defense. Eighteen months later she was named in a libel suit when Craven and the Countess Cathcart openly eloped to South Africa—the Countess is a South African girl—and freely admitted they took the step to enable the Countess of Craven to bring suit for divorce and enable them to marry as they were convinced they were real soulmates.

Author of "The Woman Tainted."

For a long time the Countess of Craven declined to institute proceedings. Therefore, the couple returned to England last year, going about openly. They were received in most society circles, though banned by the court.

The Countess Cathcart wrote a novel, "The Woman Tainted," describing a love triangle wherein there were certain resemblances to the author's own romance, though the principal character was a "sit" who engaged in a series of amorous adventures. The Countess was adjudged bankrupt in February, 1925, but obtained permission to visit South Africa to try to make money from a relative. It is understood she is still in South Africa, hence the difficulties of serving the divorce papers are likely to delay a court hearing until next spring.

U. S.-GERMAN FLIGHT TO POLE PROPOSED

Dr. Hugo Eckener Would Have Each Country Fly Its Own Airship.

BERLIN, July 15.—America today is about to join Germany in a dirigible expedition to the North Pole, each country to fly its own giant airship, but with the two keeping in constant touch and assisting and supplementing each other.

The invitation was extended by Dr. Hugo Eckener, pilot in his trans-Atlantic delivery of the Los Angeles.

"I cannot imagine a greater guarantee of the success and safety of this epoch making Arctic exploration with airships than in your country and mine joining hands in the same spirit of enthusiasm that marked the Los Angeles trans-Atlantic flight on the part of the two peoples on both sides of the ocean," Dr. Eckener said in an interview.

"If each country starts building an Arctic Zeppelin in the immediate future, we can start together next spring," the mous dirigible designer and pilot continued. "Leaving simultaneously and meeting in the Arctic, we can proceed with comradely-like, mutual assistance."

Predicts Trip to Pole.

"I think the ultimate result will be the establishment of a regular air traffic from Spitzbergen via the North Pole to Alaska and back. I visualize the summer tourists of both hemispheres, in some future years, spending their vacations in taking these Arctic trips. I believe the expedition would result also in invaluable study of the unexplored regions between Alaska and the Pole."

"No two countries are more eminently fitted for this enterprise than the home of the Zeppelins and America, which has shown such wonderful aptness in handling big dirigibles and which has already done so much in Arctic exploration."

Dr. Eckener said there should be two bases for the joint expedition—one in Alaska, established by America, and another in Spitzbergen, established by Germany. Both must have radio stations, all needed supplies and provisions for emergency landings.

Equipped to Land on Ice.

In answer to a question as to the size of Polar dirigibles, Dr. Eckener said:

"If, as I believe, America will fill the gas bag with helium, it should be between 120,000 and 130,000 cubic meters capacity, while the German vessel, filled with hydrogen, should be between 100,000 and 110,000 cubic meters in size."

He would leave the details of construction and co-operation to those in charge of the trip. Both airships must be equipped to land in water and ice, which he thinks could be done with complete safety.

He believed exploring groups could be left on the ice and later picked up by the airships.

By the Associated Press.

MARFETTA, Ok., July 15.—J. M. Tuck, 80 years old, a pioneer of Southwestern Oklahoma, and his son, Hubert, were shot and killed in their restaurant here last night. Charles Scarritt, Vaughn Cochran and S. Hill are held in jail in connection with the shooting. A piece of J. M. Tuck is the only known witness to the shooting. She refuses to discuss the crime.

BELIEVES KNAPP IS NEAR MURDER SCENE

Nassau County (N. Y.) Prosecutor Convinced Aligned Slayer Will Be Caught Soon.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 15.—While some authorities are expecting the apprehension of Philip Knox Knapp, accused "thrill slayer," in this city, update officials are continuing their search for him in a dozen cities and towns.

District Attorney Weeks of Nassau County yesterday said he believed Knapp was hiding not far from the scene of the murder of Louis Penella, Hempstead taxicab driver.

"I am convinced it is but a matter of hours before he is located," Weeks said.

The prosecutor made public a letter apparently written by Knapp, in which he said he was hiding in the stationery of an Albany hotel.

"I don't think it would be wise to be seen in New York right away," it said, "so I guess I'll keep the old bus up in this part of the country for a while."

Believes Letter a "Blind."

Weeks believes the letter was designed to throw pursuers off the track.

Meanwhile reports have trickled in that the former collegian and deserter from the aviation service, whose consuming desire to experience a super thrill is believed to have prompted the slaying of the taxicab driver has been seen in Syracuse, where his parents live, in Oneonta, Romulus and other cities.

Near Romulus was found abandoned a motor car which belonged to the fugitive's father, William W. Knapp. It was found that the car had visited the cottage of his parents on Cayuga Lake. A quickening of the quest throughout Seneca County resulted, but with no tangible results.

Writes of Poker Game.

A man thought to resemble Knapp was arrested at Oneonta, but was released when airman flew there from Mitchell Field and failed to identify him.

The letter made public by Weeks contained suggestions that Knapp was "lootroting" again. It was written July 8, to a corporal at Mitchell Field.

It begins: "At last I've settled in the old game again. I came down last night on my first trip, not to New York any more, but from just above Plattburg to Albany and everything seems to be breaking right so far. When I got in New York last week, Wednesday night, everything seemed to go wrong, for I lost a young fellow, the driver of the car, who was in the mood I was in then I was easily persuaded to join him again."

Officers Search Knapp Home at Waterloo, N. Y.

By the Associated Press.

WATERLOO, N. Y., July 15.—State and county officers early today circled the home of the Knapp family and conducted a systematic search without finding the fugitive. Philip Knapp, army deserter and suspected murderer, the youth's mother told the officers that her son was not there and added that if he does come he will be surrendered immediately.

GIVEN LIFE TERM IN PRISON FOR KILLING GIRL 'AT HER REQUEST'

By the Associated Press.

WATERTOWN, S. D., July 15.—Winfred Meek, 21 years old, of Garden City, was sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for life in the State penitentiary at Sioux Falls, following his plea of guilty in Circuit Court today to a charge of having killed Byrle Healy, 17-year-old Garden City girl, last Sunday night.

Meek, who is 21 years old, said that he and Healy and he went to a tomahawk riding Sunday night and that the girl asked him to kill her, the State's Attorney declared, the youth confessed. The couple drove to a straw stack in an isolated pasture, struck Miss Healy on the head with an iron rod and then choked her.

After placing her body in the straw, he went to a moving picture show and later returned and set fire to the straw.

Robert Depzel, another youth, living near Crocker, who had been held with Meek, was released last night when Meek assumed responsibility for the killing, the State's Attorney asserted.

MINERS REJECT PAY INQUIRY

By the Associated Press.

SCARBOROUGH, England, July 15.—The Mine Workers' Federation today unanimously adopted a resolution refusing to accept the Government's court of inquiry into the mining dispute and refusing the coal mine owners' proposal for negotiations until the latter withdrew their notice terminating the present working agreement.

The action indicated the determination of the miners' federation in session here to fight to a finish the wage reductions proposed by the owners.

CHILD IN AUTO HURT IN UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

Curling Iron in Mouth Pushed Down Throat in Crash of Two Cars.

Injured.

Toby Carlie, 9 years old, 3065 Thomas street, lacerations inside the throat.

John Pettijohn, 12, 4339 Potomac street, fractured skull and lacerations of the head and face.

Arthur Houston, 31, 4339 Potomac street, cuts and bruises of the body.

Miss Nellie Moore, 24, 1106B Hickory street, fractured skull and internal injuries.

Frank Coleman, 42, 516 North Twenty-seventh street, East St. Louis, possible concussion of brain, face lacerations and injuries to the right leg.

A curling iron which Toby Carlie was holding in her mouth, was pushed down her throat, causing severe lacerations, when an automobile in which she was riding with her father, Isadore, collided with another machine at Garrison and Cass avenues at 5 p. m. yesterday.

John Pettijohn, 33 years old, of 4339 Potomac street, suffered a fractured skull and lacerations of the head and face, and his cousin, Arthur Houston, 31, of the same address, suffered cuts and bruises of the body in the afternoon when Houston lost control of a Ford chassis he was driving, causing it to crash into a shed in the alley in the rear of their home.

The Marvel Printing Co., 704 North Seventh street, suffered fractures of the skull, ribs, right kneecap, right jaw and right shoulder at 2 p. m. when struck by an automobile as he was crossing third street at Locust street. The driver of the machine, Joseph Keibel of 3830 South Main street, was not arrested, as witnesses told police Wrobel stepped directly in the path of his machine.

Miss Nellie Moore, 24, of 1106B Hickory street, suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries yesterday when struck by a truck as she was crossing the street in front of 1223 South Broadway.

Frank Coleman, 42, of 516 North Twenty-seventh street, East St. Louis, suffered possible concussion of the brain, lacerations of the face and an injury of the right leg last night when his automobile ran over him after he had cranked it while in gear. The accident occurred on State street, just east of Twenty-fifth street.

SHIP BUILDING AT LOW LEVEL

Steam Tonnage Still Declines While Motor Vessels Increase.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 15.—A new low record in world shipbuilding since the World War is shown in the statement issued by Lloyd's register of shipping for the quarter ended June 30, covering all maritime countries. On June 30, there were building or on the ways, 2,369,431 tons, as compared with 2,385,110 tons March 31, 1925, a decrease of 27,079 tons.

Increases in tonnage orders over those of the preceding quarter were reported by ship yards of the United States, Italy, Japan and some of the small shipbuilding nations.

These, however, were more than offset by the decreases in Great Britain, Ireland, France, Germany and Holland. Orders for steam tonnage continues to decrease, while orders for motor ships show a steady increase.

At least 50 per cent of the world's ship building now calls for motor ships. During the last quarter the United States moved up from seventh to sixth place, changing positions with Denmark.

Five St. Louisans Off For Gold Hunt in Peru

Prospecting Party Quickly Formed by Engineer Who Had Experience in Wilds of That Country.

A street-corner conversation which turned for a moment on the faded wealth of the Peruvian Incas began a quest on which five St. Louisans and a Kansas City mining expert sailed Saturday from New Orleans for Peru to prospect for gold.

Ralph Gribble of 4019A Lucky street, and Albert Freeman of 1533 North Union boulevard, were passengers on a quest on which five St. Louisans and a Kansas City mining expert sailed Saturday from New Orleans for Peru to prospect for gold.

John Meyer of 4463 East avenue joined them. Freeman told them of a friend who had returned from seven months of railroad building in Northern Peru with stories of Indians buying provisions with yellow grains of the precious metal, and of a few months of profitable "prospecting" he himself had done, before illness forced abandonment of his camp, nearly 200 miles from civilization.

St. Louisans Quickly Enlist.

Freeman's friend had planned to return with him and two or three others to Peru and prospecting. But, Freeman related, when one had to draw out it seemed to knock the props from under them all. They never had been able to get another organization together, and his friend had left the country on another engineering project.

Couldn't find anybody to prospect for gold? Gribble and Meyer were incredulous. They would go without hesitation. And so they have.

It did not take long among their friends to find two who wanted to go and could arrange it. But making those arrangements took months. Ten days ago they were ready and departed for New Orleans, to take passage to Havana and thence to Payta, Peru.

From Payta they will travel 32 miles by rail—on the railroad which Freeman's friend helped build—to Sullamayo. There they take leave of ease and civilization.

188 Miles of Bush Ahead.

They figure that 188 miles of bush lies ahead of them. The circuitous route they will take to keep to comparatively easy traveling will make it more than that. For more than half the distance they will follow the river bottoms. But thereafter they have the mountains to cross.

The inaccessibility of the Chuquango River Valley was the obstacle which Freeman's engineering acquaintance told him prevented the development of gold mining there. That and the unappealing philosophy of the Indians who were its only inhabitants. Wealth, he said, left them cold, and the fact that they would have to work for it increased their metaphorical frigidity. In the high water season they would build dams and let the river do the work of panning out the precious granules, but pan it out themselves? Not for the Piro Indians.

Equipment of Primitive Type.

Since the adventurers deem it impossible to take big-scale mining equipment over the mountains, they took two trunks full of the picks and pans—the equipment of the "forty-niners" in the California gold rush. They wore the durable outfits they wear in the wilds, in order to avoid burdening themselves with clothing that will then be useless.

Milton Camp, who was to have gone on the earlier venture, is a Kansas City member. He is 35 years old, and the oldest member of the party. Gribble, the youngest, is 25. The other two St. Louisans are Harry Beardsley of 5915 Washington boulevard and Edward Brenner of 3117 Sheridan avenue. Both are married, and Freeman, a widower, has a daughter.

12,000 NEW STREET SIGNS TO BE PURCHASED AT ONCE

Markings Over Entire City to Be Replaced at Estimated Cost of $6000.

As a result of prolonged complaint from residents of all sections of the city about the present disappointing condition of street signs, the city will purchase at once about 12,000 new enameled tags for marking of streets of the entire city, or about 500 miles of thoroughfares. Specifications for these were approved by the Board of Standardization yesterday, and Supply Commissioner Dietz was authorized to advertise for bids.

The markers will be similar to those now in use, having a blue background and raised white lettering. They will be four inches wide and of such length as is required for the name of the streets to be placed upon them. They are expected to cost about 50 cents each, calling for a total appropriation of $6000. Two shifts of two laborers each are now at work placing the signs from an old supply of about 2400 tags. When these are exhausted, the work will continue with the new markers.

GIRL, 8, INJURED IN FALL PLAYING 'CONQUER THE LEADER'

Playing "conquer the leader" with other children, Lucille Wilson, 8 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wilson of 3818 North Eleventh street, fell from the ledge of a window at Divot Library Branch, Eleventh and Farrar streets, into an areaway, 15 feet below, yesterday, suffering a fractured right leg and internal injuries. She was taken to city hospital.

John Goldsmith, 12 years old, and his brother, Saul, 7, of 1815 North Sarah street, fell 15 feet from the roof of a porch on which they were playing yesterday. John suffered a fractured right arm and Saul a lacerated scalp and split lips. They are under treatment at home.

TRADE BALANCE
IN U. S. FAVOR

Report of Last Fiscal Year
Shows Merchandise Exports Exceeded Imports by $980,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Business conditions during 1924 left little room for complaint on the part of the American people, Secretary Hoover declared today in the foreword to the Commerce Department's official history of the year's trade.

Publication of this document, known as the department's year book, summarizing statistics of production and distribution covering the nation's trade, coincided with announcement of foreign trade figures disclosing a balance of $1,042,681,497 in favor of the United States in the last fiscal year.

In his foreword to the year book, Hoover cited that 1924 had been marked by very complete employment of the country's working force; that agriculture had experienced "some partial recovery from three years of extreme difficulty," that transportation efficiency had been high, that buildings and construction had established new records, that the general production and distribution of articles for consumption had been measurably satisfactory.

There were some less satisfactory elements in the business situation, but the general results were held to be gratifying. The shipping industry shows some improvement in 1924," Hoover related, "although it has not yet reached a basis of stability. The textile industries experienced more inactivity than other manufacturing industries. The bituminous coal industry is in great difficulties due to complex causes, partly the hold-over from excessive expansion during the war. But generally we have but few difficulties remaining which can be attributed to the effect of the war."

Shift in Farm Prices.
"Agriculture has been blessed with a shift in prices for the better, probably in a large way at least reflecting the fact that the number of farmers in the United States has remained constant since 1914, the consumers have increased greatly. Wheat prices were no doubt helped by the subnormal crops abroad and prices by crop failures in certain states. By and large, the average prices of all agricultural produce now approximate the general level of commodity prices. Some farm products, particularly cattle, are still below the normal relationship with other commodities, but the shift is constantly in the direction of equality and gives hope for still better conditions for agriculture."

Our foreign trade for the (calendar) year shows an increase over 1923 of 10 per cent in exports at $4,591,000,000, and a decrease of 5 per cent in imports at $3,611,000,000. The most permanently significant change in our export movement was an increase of 7 1/2 per cent in manufactured goods, as compared with the previous year. Our merchandise exports exceeded our imports by $980,000,000.

Eliminating Economic Waste.
"The current items of 'invisible imports' (that is, tourist expenditures, immigrant remittances, payments for shipping, etc.) totaling about $1,180,000,000 in 1924, however, considerably exceeded the current invisible exports' (chiefly interest on foreign loans, etc., and receipts of our merchant marine) amounting to about $750,000,000. Nevertheless, a large fraction of the heavy merchandise balance in our favor was taken care of by our loans to foreign countries of nearly $1,000,000,000."

"Greater stability has been attained in Europe, due to the at least temporary settlement of reparations and especially to the more successful efforts of many countries at balancing of budgets and stabilization of their currencies."

"The publication by the Department of Commerce of the results of the exhaustive manufacturers' census taken for the year 1923 brings out vividly the rapid progress in industrial efficiency and in elimination of economic waste during the recent years. The figures for 1923, when reduced to a quantitative basis (in order to avoid the effect of decreased purchasing power of the dollar) show that our manufacturing output has increased by fully 60 per cent over that of 1914. It also shows a very substantial gain over 1919."

Higher Real Wage.
"Against this large increase in products the number of wage-earners increased by only 25 per cent, as between 1914 and 1923, and it is interesting to note that the horsepower used increased 50 per cent in the same period. Wages for 1923 and 1924 were generally maintained at about 100 per cent higher than in 1913 and with the cost of living on a basis of about 70 per cent over the prewar level, our labor is receiving a large share of the result of this increased efficiency in the highest real wages of our history. The higher real wage has been expressed both in advancing of living and in greater savings on the part of the masses of population."

BIG DECREASE IN PAVING BIDS UNDER WILLITE PROCESS

First Letting Under Specification Since Judge Faris Ruled the Patent Was Void.

FIVE CONTRACTORS
SOUGHT THE JOBS

Firm Claiming Exclusive Right Not Included—Low Offer 18 Per Cent Under City Estimates.

Bids opened yesterday by the Board of Public Service for the paving of two streets under the Willite asphalt process were 18 per cent below what city engineers had estimated they should be, and the Central Paving and Construction Co., agents for Willite and who hitherto, in most instances, have been the only bidders under this specification, did not offer a bid.

This was the first letting to be held under the Willite specification since Judge Faris recently in Federal Court decided that the patent for the exclusive manufacture of Willite asphalt, held by the Western Willite Co., was void.

Five other contractors bid on the jobs yesterday. Prior to the ruling of Judge Faris, other contractors, with few exceptions, refrained from bidding under the Willite specification, because of a patent royalty exacted by the Willite company, which placed them at a disadvantage in competing with the local Willite agents. The specification calls for a percentage of copper sulphate added as a hardening process to an asphalt mixture.

Costly Under Royalties. That the Willite specification was a costly one under the royalties demanded by the Willite organization was first disclosed by the Post-Dispatch in a series of articles last winter, when the Trinidad Asphalt Manufacturing Co. began a fight against the specification that resulted in the ruling by Judge Faris.

The Web-Boone Paving Co.'s bid of $142,711.20 was low for the reconstruction with Willite of Magnolia avenue, from Grand boulevard to Kingshighway boulevard. The bid was $21,288.80 under the city engineer's estimate of $175,000, thus effecting a big saving to taxpayers.

The Trinidad Asphalt Manufacturing Co.'s bid of $57,952.25 was low for the reconstruction of Euclid avenue, from Natural Bridge avenue to the center-line of Carter avenue. The estimate was $111,000.

The ordinances specifying Willite process for these streets were passed under the Kiel administration, and the letting is not contrary to a resolution recently adopted by the Board of Public Service not to specify Willite further until a study of the wearing qualities of this pavement already down could be made.

Bids on Eleven Other Jobs. Bids were received for the construction of 11 other streets totaling $198,000. Blackburn-Crean Construction Co., with low on three jobs for paving Alcott avenue with Kentucky rock asphalt, from West Florissant avenue to west line of Florissant tract, $11,650.25—5 per cent below the estimate; Lexington avenue, from Cora to Marcus avenue, brick pavement, $11,551.75—4 per cent under the estimate; Mississippi avenue, from Park to Chouteau avenue, granite block paving, $39,209.25—6 per cent below the estimate.

The Bridges Asphalt Co. was low for paving Elmer street westward to the west line of Dewey avenue, bitulithic paving, $22,842.35—3 per cent under the estimate; Milvett avenue, from Kingshighway boulevard to January avenue, bitulithic paving, $24,189.75—1 per cent over the estimate.

The Brighton Construction Co. was the low bidder for paving Mississippi avenue, from Lafayette to Park avenue, $25,738.85—13 per cent under the estimate; Missouri avenue, from Chippewa street to Keokuk avenue, $9,100.50—20 per cent under the estimate; Waldemar avenue, from Manchester to Forest avenue, $14,216.25—15 per cent under the estimate.

Low Bid for Magnolia. The Web-Boone Paving Co. submitted the low bid for asphalt paving on Magnolia avenue, from Sulphur avenue to Clifton avenue and Southwest avenue, $11,068.35—13 per cent under the estimate, and for asphaltic concrete paving on Wise avenue, from McCausland avenue to the east line of Forest Park Home place, $14,068.25—14 per cent under the estimate.

The Granite Bituminous Paving Co. submitted the low bid for bitulithic paving on Emerson avenue, from West Florissant avenue to Harney avenue, $14,225.15—1 per cent over the estimate.

TWO ABSOLVED OF DEATH IN CLUBHOUSE AT GLENCOE

Another Man, Said to Have Swung Pick Handle at August Hosenlopp, Is Sought.

Lawrence Halley and W. D. Woolsey, of Glencoe, were discharged by Justice of the Peace Becker when arraigned before him yesterday on murder charges in the case of August Hosenlopp, who was fatally injured May 3 in a brawl in a Glencoe clubhouse. Patrick O'Brien, who is out on $2500 bond in the case, testified at the hearing. Another man, alleged to have swung a pick handle at Hosenlopp, is being sought.

Ray Hurt in Fall From Bicycle. Albert Hemachke Jr., 11 years old of 1440 Burd avenue, fell from his bicycle when it struck a depression in the street near his home yesterday. At St. Luke's Hospital it was said he had suffered concussion of the brain and a probable fracture of the skull.

WAR FINANCE HEAD

FLOYD R. HARRISON.

AN employee of the Agriculture Department since 1908, Harrison was graduated from Georgetown Law School while working his way up to assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture and is now elevated to one of the most important financial positions in the Government as director of the War Finance Corporation, succeeding Frank W. Mondell.

WIFE OF MINISTER DENIES HE ADMITTED IMPROPER CONDUCT

Mrs. Carl D. Case Witness in Slander Suit Growing Out of Church Scandal.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Mrs. Carl D. Case, wife of the Rev. Carl D. Case, pastor of an Oak Park church, denied yesterday that she had ever stated that her husband had admitted improper relations with Mrs. Charlotte Leland, parish- oner.

Mrs. Case testified in the $50,000 damage suit of Albert Leland, Mrs. Leland's divorced husband, against E. L. Hartig, a church official, whom Leland accuses of slander. Leland Monday testified that Mrs. Case had a conference with him and told him that her husband had admitted indiscretions with Mrs. Leland.

The suit against Hartig, accused of calling Leland the father of an illegitimate child and a former rubber in a Turkish bath, is the aftermath of Leland's suit for divorce in which Dr. Case was named.

Mrs. Case said that she did say that "Carl has confessed to me," but insisted that she meant he "had told her everything and maintained his innocence."

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" is Far Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach cool and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles; any drug store.

Stop Itching Eczema

Penetrating, Antiseptic Zemo Will Help You

Never mind how often you have tried and failed, you can stop burning, itching Eczema quickly by applying Zemo. In a short time usually every trace of Eczema, Tetter, Pimples, Rash, Blackheads and similar skin diseases will be removed. For clearing the skin and making it vigorously healthy, always use Zemo, the penetrating, antiseptic liquid. It is the one dependable treatment for skin troubles of all kinds. Trial bottle 35c, large size $1.00. Zemo Soap, antiseptic and healing, 25c. All druggists.

Why They Parted

"I got down with pain in my right side which at times almost crazed me. Most all of the doctors said operation. But what I want to tell you is the pain disappeared with the first dose of your medicine and I never see any more. My wife's wonderful remedy has the right name—gas, sour stomach and dropsy have left." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the watery mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose, with complete or money refunded. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Judges & Druggists and drug stores everywhere.

CURLEE COMPANY ANSWERS CHARGE AS TO INCORPORATION

Matter of Obtaining Charter in Delaware Decided Upon Before Strike of Employees.

Denial that the Curlee Clothing Co. under the laws of Delaware was to obtain jurisdiction of Federal courts for an application forbidding illegal picketing by striking employees was made today in United States District Court by S. H. Curlee, president of the company.

Striking employees have challenged jurisdiction of the Court on the ground that the Delaware incorporation was a subterfuge to gain such jurisdiction.

The incorporation took place on June 17. Striking employees left their work on June 1. A temporary Federal restraining order has been granted. The present challenge was interposed before a hearing on application for a permanent injunction.

Curlee declared, under questions by his attorney, who is his brother, F. M. Curlee, that the question of Delaware incorporation for the company had been discussed as long ago as two years. The decision for the incorporation was made April 23, he said. The company was of the opinion that such incorporation would facilitate plans for expansion, such as the establishment of subsidiaries in New York and elsewhere, and consideration of employees desired for the establishment of profit sharing in the form of stock purchase by employees. Curlee also said that it was the opinion of attorneys that certain Federal tax matters could better be handled under a Delaware charter.

Prior to the granting of the restraining order forbidding illegal picketing, the police made more than 300 arrests of Curlee strikers.

$34,000 IN PROPERTY LISTED IN L. E. ANDERSON ESTATE

Inventory Includes $26,544 in Stocks, $6000 in Notes and $1900 Cash.

An inventory of the estate of Lorenzo E. Anderson, stock broker and real estate operator, was filed in Probate Court today. It lists personal property of $34,602.97, not including his interest in the brokerage firm of Lorenzo E. Anderson & Co., which he founded. No real estate is listed.

The personality includes $26,544 in stocks, $6000 in notes, $1900 in bonds, $40 in chattels and $1919.97 in cash. The stock includes 105 shares, total par value $10,500, of the Mercantile Trust Co.; 50 shares of the Windsor Investment Co., total par value $5000; 2700 shares of the Gardner Motor Co., no par value, and 150 shares of the Haw Real Estate Co., $1200. At market value, the single item of Mercantile Trust stock would be worth more than the total shown, as recent sales of that stock have been at $297 a share, so that the Anderson holdings would be worth $41,685.

The inventory was filed by the Mercantile Trust Co., co-executor with Mrs. Viola C. Anderson, the widow.

ROBBER SUSPECT HELD ON CLEANER'S MARK IN HAT

Man Arrested in Connection With Holdup After Police Trace Record in Hat Highwayman Dropped.

A cleaner's mark in a straw hat dropped by a highwayman while he was holding up a man in Maplewood, July 12, led to the arrest last night of a 25-year-old man, residing on Fyler avenue.

Maplewood police had turned the hat over to St. Louis detectives, who traced the mark to a cleaning and dyeing firm, whose records showed the hat had been cleaned last May and delivered to the man now under arrest. The detectives fitted the hat to the man's head, but he made no statement, they reported. He was taken to Maplewood, where the holdup victim will be asked to view him.

SECOND COMEDIAN OF THE MUNICIPAL OPERA PROMOTED

William McCarthy Succeeds to Principal Roles for Remainder of This Season.

William McCarthy, second comedian of the Municipal Opera cast, will succeed to the principal comedy roles of the productions yet to be given this summer. His promotion takes effect with next week's presentation of Franz Lehár's light opera, "The Count of Luxemburg."

John E. Young, who has appeared in the leading comedy parts of the first eight productions this year, will retire from the company Sunday night. He returns to New York to begin rehearsals of a play in which he will appear in the fall.

McCarthy is spending his fourth season as a member of the Municipal Opera forces.

COURT ORDERS LICENSE OF TWO PHYSICIANS RESTORED

Ruling Made in Certiorari Proceedings Filed by Anna Goldstein and Thomas R. Moore.

An order for the State Board of Health to restore to practice two physicians whose licenses it revoked in hearings here last Spring, was issued today by Circuit Judge Miller. The practitioners are Dr. Anna Goldstein and Dr. Thomas R. Moore.

The order was made in certiorari proceedings filed by the physicians after the revocation orders of the board had been entered. The proceedings included a plea for a review of the Board's hearings, and motions to quash the Board's proceedings and set aside its order. These motions were sustained by Judge Miller without comment.

The physicians contended the charges of falsifying educational credentials were not sustained, that incompetent testimony against them was introduced and that competent evidence in their favor was not admitted.

Body of Man Found in River.

The body of a man about 55 years old was taken from the Mississippi River at the foot of Market street at noon today. Papers in a coat pocket showed the name and address of William Overbeck, 702 North Fourth street. There were no marks of violence. Overbeck has not been reported missing to the police.

DRY AGENT FIRED OVER LOAN OF $100

Ben Goode Admits Borrowing From W. W. Bramble, Head of Perfume Firm Here.

A $100 loan received from the head of a perfume company, which was later raided for irregularities in handling of alcohol, was responsible for the recent dismissal from the service of Ben Goode, Kansas City Prohibition Agent.

Goode, who had once before been dismissed and then reinstated, was dropped several days ago as a result of an investigation by agents of the special intelligence unit of the Internal Revenue Department. Evidence showed he had accepted a loan of $100 from W. W. Bramble, head of the Layat Perfume Co., 5 North Third street, where a quantity of alcohol was seized in a raid several months ago.

Repaid Loan, He Says.

Goode yesterday told a Post-Dispatch reporter he gave Bramble a note for the loan and later repaid it. He said he was forced to borrow it to return to Kansas City, where his wife and child were ill in a hospital. He declares he knew of no irregularities in Bramble's alcohol accounts.

The investigating agents have the following letter said to have been written to Bramble by Goode, on Oct. 15: "Dear Bill—Just arrived in Kansas City from Arkansas. I expect to be in St. Louis in the near future. I have your money. Will call you as soon as I arrive in your city. Destroy this as soon as you read it." The letter is signed "Ben Goode."

The fact that Goode had accepted the loan from Bramble was revealed in a statement by Bramble to special agents. At that time he declared also that he had paid $2000 to two men to postpone a check of his alcohol accounts. At that time, last August, Bramble had a permit to handle alcohol in the course of his perfume business.

Statement Not Under Oath.

The statement about the $1000 payment was not sworn and later Bramble repudiated it, saying it had been forced from him under duress. Bramble surrendered his alcohol permit on Feb. 15, last, and it was some weeks later that his place was raided.

Former Special Assistant Attorney-General Dyott today said Bramble's statement concerning the alleged payment of $2000 named two men not in the prohibition forces as the recipients of the bribe. Agents Nolan and Brown of the special intelligence unit heard his statement.

United States District Attorney Curry, who has taken over the case, said it was still under investigation and declared it was possible he would ask that Nolan and Brown be subpoenaed before the grand jury to tell the substance of the statement which Bramble repudiated.

Evidence showed he had accepted a loan of $100 from W. W. Bramble, head of the Layat Perfume Co., North Third street, where a quantity of alcohol was seized in a raid several months ago.
Repaid Loan, He Says.
Goode yesterday told a Post-Dispatch reporter he gave Bramble a note for the loan and later repaid it. He said he was forced to borrow it to return to Kansas City, where his wife and child were ill in a hospital. He declared he knew of no irregularities in Bramble's alcohol accounts.
The investigating agents have been written to Bramble by Goode, on Oct. 15: "Dear Bill—Just arrived in Kansas City from Arkansas. I expect to be in St. Louis in the near future. I have your money. When will you be soon as I arrive in your city. Destroy this as soon as you read it." The letter is signed "Ben Goode."
The fact that Goode had accepted the loan from Bramble was revealed in a statement by Bramble to special agents. At that time he declared also that he had paid $2000 to two men to postpone a check of his alcohol accounts. At that time, last August, Bramble had a permit to handle alcohol in the course of his perfume business.
Statement Not Under Oath.
The statement about the $2000 payment was not sworn and later Bramble repudiated it, saying it had been forced from him under duress. Bramble surrendered his alcohol permit on Feb. 15, last, and it was some weeks later that his place was raided.
Former Special Assistant Attorney-General Dyott today said Bramble's statement concerning the alleged payment of $2000 named two men not in the prohibition forces as the recipients of the bribe. Agents Nolan and Brown of the special intelligence unit heard his statement.
United States District Attorney Curry, who has taken over the case, said it was still under investigation and declared it was possible he would ask that Nolan and Brown be subpoenaed before the grand jury to tell the substance of the statement which Bramble repudiated.
Popular Bluff Girl, 15, Disappears.
By the Associated Press.
POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., July 15.—Mr. and Mrs. L. Cloin of this county have appealed to authorities to assist in a search for their daughter, Bertha, 17 years old, who disappeared from their rural home Monday. An automobile driven by an unidentified man was seen in the vicinity and it is suspected by her parents that the girl was kidnapped.

NOTICE TO STAND ON DEMAND FOR BIDS WITH REQUISITIONS Comptroller Notifies Director Brod He Will Ignore Opinion of City Counselor.
Director Brod of the Public Safety Department and Comptroller Nolte, who clashed recently over the question of the Comptroller's jurisdiction over Union Market, came into conflict again today, when the Comptroller notified Brod a second time that he would have to submit bids in connection with requisitions for building repairs in the department.
The Comptroller notified Director Brod to that effect previously, when a bill for paperhanging at the City Health Center was submitted without the bids accompanying it. Brod appealed to City Counselor Senti, and got a reply saying that it was the Comptroller's duty to inform himself fully as to all transactions, but that it was within the director's discretion whether he should let original bids go out of his office. The Counselor said that the bids, being part of the Director's office records, were on file and that the Comptroller could inspect them if he desired.
Director Brod sent a copy of this opinion to the Comptroller's office. Nolte's reply was that he would insist on having the bids, and otherwise would approve no requisitions for repair expenditures, unless a court should order him to do so.
The Comptroller declared that the rule was a well established one, and that all city departments conformed to it. He holds it would not be practicable for his office to send to the different departments to inspect bids on file, some of them at the outlying institutions, but that the bids should be sent to his office. "I will not approve your requisitions unless accompanied by the bids," Comptroller Nolte wrote, "and if delays arise, the responsibility can be readily determined."
FALSE AFFIDAVIT CHARGES AGAINST DRUGGIST DROPPED
Morrison J. Miller Denied Removing Whisky and Reported That Place Had Been Robbed.
Charges of making a false affidavit in connection with the reporting of an alleged theft of whisky from his drug store at 927 Market street, several months ago, were dismissed against Morrison J. Miller by United States Commissioner Atkins yesterday following a preliminary hearing.
James A. Winzen, sole witness for the Government and former business associate of Miller, admitted he had had trouble with the latter when he withdrew from the drug business several months ago. He said that Miller had removed several cases of whisky on the day preceding the theft and had sold it to a neighborhood saloonkeeper.
Miller denied removing the whisky and insisted the place had been robbed. A. K. Feinberg, vice president of the Miller company, testified he heard Winzen threaten to "get" Miller after a disagreement over the sale of stock held by Winzen.
Miller's permit to sell whisky on prescription was revoked by Prohibition Director DeHart May 13, last, after a hearing of the charges.
INCREASE IN SWORD DUELS IN ITALY EVOKES ANTIQUEL MOVE
By the Associated Press.
ROME, July 15.—A recent large increase in the number of sword duels, most of which end without serious consequences, but also without pouring oil on the troubled waters, has evoked a renewal of the antiquing agitation, which was checked by the war.
Opponents of the duel assert that it is a silly survival of romanticism of an era which has long since ended. They point out that encounters on the field of honor, seldom settle the points at issue and that the swordsmen usually scratch others' fingers or forearms in their "mortal" combats.
Many newspaper articles on the subject have appeared lately and there is talk of reviving the international League Against the Duel, founded by Prince Alphonse de Bourbon, but abandoned after the outbreak of the World War.
"Emir of Kurdistan" Arrested.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, July 15.—The self-styled "Emir of Kurdistan," also known as Prince Mohammed Said Zerdecho, recently deported from the United States, has been arrested here, charged with swindling and passport falsification. Zerdecho was deported from the United States in March. British authorities refused to allow him to land in England and he was returned to New York, only to be refused admission. He was sent across the Atlantic again. Information is to the effect that he was finally allowed to land in France.

DRY AGENTS INDICATED AT CAIRO, III.
CAIRO, Ill., July 15.—John T. Mercer and A. C. Hornkohl, general Federal prohibition agents of Chicago, yesterday were indicted by a Circuit Court grand jury on charges of larceny and extortion. The men are at liberty on their own recognizance. They allegedly "frame-up" Walter Cook, at whose establishment the officers are alleged to have committed the offense, was indicted by the same grand jury on charges of stealing cigarettes from a wholesale house.

Ben Goode Admits Borrowing From W. W. Bramble, Head of Perfume Firm Here.
A $100 loan received from the head of a perfume company, which was later raided for irregularities in handling of alcohol, was responsible for the recent dismissal of the service of Ben Goode, Kansas City Prohibition Agent.
Goode, who had once before been dismissed and then reinstated, was dropped several days ago as a result of an investigation by agents of the Internal Revenue Department. Evidence showed he had accepted a loan of $100 from W. W. Bramble, head of the Layat Perfume Co., North Third street, where a quantity of alcohol was seized in a raid several months ago.
Repaid Loan, He Says.
Goode yesterday told a Post-Dispatch reporter he gave Bramble a note for the loan and later repaid it. He said he was forced to borrow it to return to Kansas City, where his wife and child were ill in a hospital. He declared he knew of no irregularities in Bramble's alcohol accounts.

DYOTT RELINQUISHES OFFICE

On instructions from Attorney-General Sargent, United States District Attorney Curry yesterday took over the office of special assistant to the Attorney-General.

which has been held here by John C. Dyott. Curry said he would retain Dyott's office staff for the present.

Dyott, who was in charge of liquor and narcotic violations, tendered his resignation three months ago.

Later Curry appeared at his office one day and stated he would take charge at once. Dyott wired to Washington and learned Curry was not authorized to do so, whereupon Curry desisted until yesterday.

GAMBLES WITH LAW

TO SEIZE BEER CARGO

Belleville Official Orders Search of Freight Car After Seeing Water Dripping

Assistant State's Attorney Curtis Lindauer of Belleville gambled with a provision of the new Illinois law relating to searches and seizures yesterday, and because he accepted the story of water dripping from a freight car as an indication of ice-packed contraband, he won. Seizure of a car containing 149 half barrels of beer, consigned to Joseph Michaels, followed. Previously Sheriff Schnipper had discovered a car with 270 cases of beer in it and had arrested four men, three of whom were St. Louisans, who were unloading the beer on three trucks bearing Missouri licenses.

Under a new section of the Illinois liquor law anyone who swears that liquor may be found in a certain place commits perjury if it is not found. It is designed to prevent promiscuous searches and seizures. But Lindauer pieced together a probable story around the dripping water and a chemical test showed the beer to be of 6.8 per cent alcoholic content.

Lindauer swore to the affidavit on which the warrant was based and would have been personally liable if beer had not been found. A member of the State's Attorney's staff might have some advantage in defending himself, however.

When Sheriff Schnipper raided the first car about two-thirds of the beer it had contained was gone. He said it had come from Murphysboro and probably was destined for St. Louis. He arrested four men who described themselves as George Baker of Cave Coeur and Nelson Strong, George Biermann and Ray Taylor of St. Louis. They were loading the beer on trucks bearing the names of John Meyer, 708 Thrush avenue; Oscar Hammon, 3197 Gravois avenue; and Frank B. Husman, 281 Bell avenue.

The four men are held in jail under $2000 bond. No one has appeared to claim the trucks. The beer in this car was 5.3 per cent alcohol.

Do You Drive a Car?

Even in fairly cool weather your feet have a hot time of it down on the floor-boards right next the motor... and on a sizzling hot day—ouch!

Don't do anything to make this discomfort worse. Don't torture your feet with hot, non-porous, rubber or composition soles.

Shoes with non-porous soles are just bake-ovens—and once they get heated up you can't forget your feet for an instant.

Remember, leather is porous. Leather doesn't hold the heat. Leather lets your feet breathe. Your feet will feel degrees cooler in good, sensible leather shoes with leather soles.

Of the $156,285, the business of the transaction was represented by $68,334.57, the politics of it by $87,950.43. This was only one of numerous State expenditures.

In this item, the political expenditure represents the amount paid by the State in excess of the charge which would have been made by the newspapers publishing the Amendments for the same amount of space purchased for advertising purposes by the private or business customer.

At each general election each two years, there is submitted to the voters of the State such proposed amendments to the Constitution as were approved by the preceding Legislature, and such matters as may be submitted under the Initiative and Referendum section of the Constitution. That the voters may become acquainted with the propositions to be voted on, the law requires their publication in one newspaper in each county in the State and in St. Louis once each week for four, consecutive weeks immediately preceding the election.

Law on the Publications.
The law specifies the number of times they shall be published. It fixes the maximum price beyond which the State cannot go, for the publication, and it imposes a strict requirement that notwithstanding the maximum rate fixed, the Secretary of State shall accept the most advantageous terms that can be obtained.

This maximum rate is much lower than the regular advertising rates of the large newspapers of St. Louis and Kansas City, and consequently the business is not attractive to them. It is much higher, however, than the regular rates of the smaller newspapers throughout the State, and each two years there is a lively scramble for the business, but through the political system in operation, it is a political and not a business scramble.

Personal influence and political pressure of every conceivable character, is brought to bear on the Secretary of State. About the only exception is that seldom is there an effort to get the price below the statutory maximum.

Cuticura Healed.

"Eczema broke out in a rash on my son's face, and on the back of his head in the form of very large pimples that would break and discharge. We had to tie his hands to keep him from scratching the eruptions. His hair fell out and he was restless.

"We had him treated without much benefit. We began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it helped him. We continued the treatment and in about six weeks he was completely healed." (Signed)

"The proposed amendments shall be published weekly in some newspaper, if such there be, within each county in the State, for four consecutive weeks next succeeding the general election then next ensuing."

It will be observed this section reads "some newspaper" not "some newspapers," thus limiting the legal publication to one newspaper in each county. This section has been construed by the Missouri Supreme Court, which in the case of Russell vs. Croy, 164 Mo. 69, and in State vs. Jones, 168 Mo., 398, held: "A

Section 10.401, Revised Statutes 1919, provides: "When any law, proclamation, advertisement, order or notice shall be published in any newspaper for the State or for any public officer on account of or in the name of the State, or for any county, or for any public officer on account of or in the name of any county, there shall not be allowed for such publication a higher rate than $1 per square of 250 ems for the first insertion, and 50 cents for each subsequent insertion and for fractional squares and parts of squares in the same proportion."

Section 10.402, Revised Statutes, 1919, provides: "In procuring the publication of any law, proclamation, advertisement, order or notice, as in the next preceding section mentioned, the public officers shall accept of the most advantageous terms that can be obtained, not exceeding the rates limited in the preceding section."

The amendments and initiative and referendum proposals submitted at the last election, set in 6-point type, 13 ems to the line, measured 453 squares of 250 ems. Secretary of State Becker allotted five publications instead of four, and at the statutory rate this amounted to $1359 for one newspaper in each county in the State. This made a total of $156,285 for the entire State. If the allotment had been for four publications instead of five the total under the maximum rate figured would have been $130,237.50, or a saving of $26,047.50 if there had been a strict interpretation of the statute and Supreme Court decisions governing the number of publications legally required.

Becker's Interpretation of Law. The interpretation Becker chose to place on the statute governing the publications did not limit him to one newspaper in each county. For many years the use of the amendment printing as a political adjunct has been customary with Secretaries of State. When a Republican was in office the printing went to Republican newspapers. When a Democrat held the office it went to Democratic newspapers. In some counties there are no Republican newspapers, and in others no Democratic newspapers, so that it has been necessary for the printing in some few instances to be given to papers of different political affiliation from that of the man holding the office.

Not infrequently the allotting of the printing has caused much embarrassment to the Secretary of State. In many counties there were two or more newspapers which had been equally steadfast in their support of the party or in their support of the individual holding the office of Secretary of State. Such cases required diplomacy in their handling, the diplomacy consisting of inducing the rival newspaper proprietors to agree to joint publication and a split of the allowance made by the State. In view of the fact that the maximum rate allowed usually was from two to four times the regular advertising rates of the rural newspapers, the effort usually was successful.

Usual Charges of the Papers. To ascertain the regular advertising cost of the amount of space used in the publication of the constitutional amendments, the Post-Dispatch obtained from an advertising agency of recognized standing a statement of the total cost of the space used in the same newspapers which held the contracts with the State. This report showed that the same amount of space could be purchased in the same newspapers for four publications contemplated by the statute for $51,084.57. In only five of the 115 papers having the contract was the regular advertising rate higher than the maximum allowed by the State. In 110 of the papers the rate was far below. The average for all 115 was less than half that paid by the State.

However, the $51,084.57 cannot be compared exactly with the state payment for the reason that each of the newspapers obtained the matter printed in the form of inserts for their papers, or in the form of type plates. To obtain the rates on which the $51,084.57 total was based it would be necessary to furnish the newspapers either the printed pages or the type plates. The cost of this is generously estimated at $150 per paper, or a total of $17,250 for the 115 newspapers. This estimate is purposely made high to make absolutely certain of fairness. The pages and plates are obtained from a publishing house in St. Louis. The printed pages, the more expensive form, were offered to the Home Adviser in Vienna for $130 for a circulation of 1400 for five weeks. Many of the newspapers which had the printing had a larger circulation than that. Many had a smaller circulation.

Adding the $17,250 to the $51,084.57, the total cost of the publication to a private person or a business concern desiring to purchase the same space the law contemplated the State should use, would be $68,334.57. As was shown above, the State paid $156,285 for it.

Suit Over Matter Likely. The Rev. Fugel has consulted former State Senator Irwin, a lawyer in Jefferson City, with a view to bringing an action against the Secretary of State in connection with the printing matter, though the form of the proceeding has not been determined.

Father Fugel for more than 10 years has fought the system in use, once going into court at his own expense. He obtained a judgment against Becker in the Cole County Circuit Court in Jefferson City in a case which is pending on appeal.

HOW POLITICS
IN PRINTING COST
STATE $87,950
in the highest courts.

The regular advertising rate in Father Fugel's paper is 15 cents per inch. When the time for the letting of the printing contract approached in 1924 he submitted a written bid at that rate. It was rejected. He then consulted Irwin regarding the bringing of an injunction suit, and a few days later received notification from Becker that his bid had been accepted.
This contract, in the form of a letter, was dated Sept. 15, 1924.
On its receipt Father Fugel believed he had won a decided victory, which would save much money to the taxpayers of the State. However, when the publication began, he saw that the Belle Banner, also in his county, also was publishing the amendments. He had read the statutes which provide for only one publication in a county, and he began wondering how the Belle Banner would be paid, in view of the fact that he had what he believed was the legal contract for one printing.

Not Granted Hearing.
He wrote to State Auditor Thompson asking to be heard before payment was made to any other person in Maries County. He was not granted the hearing.
In due time Father Fugel received a State Treasurer's draft for $339.75, his total bid at 15 cents an inch. He was convinced from the form in which he received payment that he was officially paid. The draft was accompanied by a letter from Becker.

It required a subsequent investigation to disclose just the corners that were turned the effort to attempt to satisfy the militant priest.
This investigation showed there was no record in either the office of the State Auditor nor that of the State Auditor of a payment to Father Fugel. The record showed that $1339, the total legal amount which could be paid in one county, had gone to J. B. Johns, publisher of the Belle Banner.

Becker was asked by a Post-Dispatch correspondent for an explanation of this $1339 official payment to Johns and also the $339 seemingly unofficial payment, though by State Treasurer's draft, to Fugel.

"I wanted to satisfy Father Fu-gel," Becker said. "I ranged with Johns that he would return from payment he received the amount of Father Fugel's bid and I would send it to Father Fugel."
When the warrants for the payments were ready I heard that Father Fugel intended to bring an injunction suit to prevent Johns from getting his money, so I had Johns come to Jefferson City.

"I went with Johns to the State Auditor's office, where he received his warrant, and then to the Treasurer's office, where I identified him, and he got his check. I then went with him to a Jefferson City bank, where he cashed the check, an amount over to me $339.75, the amount of Father Fugel's bid. I then returned to the Treasurer's office and purchased a Treasurer's draft for $339.75 and sent it to Father Fugel.

"Father Fugel hasn't anything on me. I had witnesses to every step of the transaction."

Father Fugel expressed disas-satisfaction with the entire matter.

"It looks like official business transactions should be handled in businesslike ways," he said. "What is the use of cutting around corners and dodging through all sorts of mystic mazes. I was led to believe I had a legal contract with the State. At least I have a letter from Mr. Becker stating that my bid was accepted. When the law provides for publication in only one newspaper in a county, how can he justify the making of a second contract in the county?"

"I feel a conscientious duty in this matter now, and it is my intention to get it into the courts if there is any way it can be done to determine just how far a public official can go. I am not at all afraid the courts will decide an official can go any farther than Mr.
Becker has, and am quite confident they will hold he has gone a considerable distance farther than he has a legal right to go."

Becker's Defense Ignores Double Publication
By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 13.—
Secretary of State Becker, to whom was submitted for comment in advance of publication the story of waste of public funds through the constitutional amendment printing under his supervision, defended the system adopted by him.

Ignoring the constitutional provision limiting official payment to one newspaper in each county, Becker said he had let the printing to several papers to obtain larger circulation.

"In some counties," he said, "the amendments were printed in as many as three papers. If we had let the printing on bids in many counties it probably would have gone to insignificant papers with little circulation. I think we are getting the most advantageous terms under our system."

Notwithstanding the regular advertising rates quoted by the advertising agency for each of the newspapers, Becker expressed the opinion that the printing would have cost more at regular rates than at the maximum State rate.

"Fugel has kicked to every Secretary of State," Becker said, referring to Father Fugel's complaint. "The other newspapers are satisfied and Fugel got all he asked. Instead of squawking about what the Secretary of State does, why don't the kickers go to the Legislature and get the law changed?" He admitted, however, he thought there was little probability of a change in the law over the protests of the rural press.

Personal Loans
DURING the past year thousands of St. Louis citizens have borrowed several million dollars from the Industrial Loan Company. Almost every line of business was represented—lawyers, doctors, merchants, contractors, carpenters, mechanics, city employes, foremen, clerks, stenographers and laborers. As to security, we accept any marketable collateral, but over 80 per cent of these loans were made upon the endorsement of two friends.
Money borrowed from the Industrial Loan Company may be repaid in small amounts, weekly or monthly. Loans of $100 may be paid up at $2 per week, $500 at $10 per week, and other amounts on the same basis. Or you can arrange for monthly or semi-monthly payments.

MADDOX, RECHOS
HEAD AFTER OP
DEFERS NAMINGMr. Elias Michael Says System Has Failed to Hold Its Place Under Him—Heir Votes With Her.

The question of reappointing the assistant superintendents of schools, or of making changes in the personnel of assistants, will be before the Board of Education Friday night. It was deferred last night's meeting by action of Supt. John J. Maddox, after he had been re-elected Superintendent, over the opposition of two members. Mrs. Elias Michael, who spoke at length against the selection, said that she represented the views of the other woman member, Mrs. B. F. Bush, who is a board. Henry Heier voted with the board, after re-electing Supt. Maddox by a 2 to 1 vote for a four-year term. Increased salary from $10,000 to $11,000 a year, and voted increases also the salaries of five other elected officers of the schools, all in teaching positions.

Supt. Maddox had prepared a list of recommendations for the board, which included the re-election of all the six assistant superintendents. They are C. G. Rathbun, W. J. S. Bryan, Henry J. Welling, Miss Lillie R. Ernst, L. W. Miller and B. G. Shackelford. Mrs. Michael's attitude.

After the meeting had closed, Supt. Maddox withdrew his recommendation from the board, which he had been the board, and the matter of selecting the assistants went over all Friday night.

It is believed that Supt. Maddox views at least one of the assistants as being connected with an opposition to him, which was expressed by Mrs. Michael in the following prepared statement, read here to the board:

As a member of the Board of Education of the City of St. Louis, I desire to state the reasons why I have voted 'No' to the re-election of Mr. John J. Maddox as superintendent of instruction.

The office of superintendent of instruction is the most important in the entire public school system of this city. The quality of work done in our public schools largely determined by the efficiency and ability of the superintendent.

The treasury of the St. Louis school board has money sufficient to meet normal needs. Under our charter the superintendent is given full powers. During the four years Mr. Maddox has held the office, these powers have, by interference or consent, or by the action of the board, been extended to such extent as to appear to place Mr. Maddox to some extent and the control of the board.

Ample Funds in Treasury. With ample funds in the treasury and enjoying almost unlimited funds to carry out his plans and wishes, it is fair and proper to believe that what has been the result of Mr. Maddox' administration, and that to inquire whether Mr. Maddox' record has shown such reason as to justify his re-election another four years.

I think it is clear that our public school system has failed to hold its rank it formerly held among the school systems in cities comparable with St. Louis in size, or in pertinent conditions, and it is clear that this loss in relation to the support of his own administrative conviction. I think some of Mr. Maddox's most important acts have been performed in undue haste, without adequate consultation, and with results not altogether to the pupils of our city.

At times Mr. Maddox has seemed to take many supervising and administrative functions away from assistant superintendents and advisors, and has thereby, in my opinion, substantially impaired the effectiveness of his organization.

The elementary schools of this city are not in my opinion, receiving adequate supervision. Certainly they are without that kind of supervision which existed under previous superintendents when our school system seems to have been more efficient. I think the present absence of such supervision as most harmful to the organization throughout the city.

Question of Conferences. The assistant superintendents, a number, most of whom received an annual salary of $3000, had their duties changed a number of times during the past year, which changes have tended to hamper their effectiveness in obtaining results through consistent and unbroken service. Moreover, I

MADDOX, RECHOS HEAD AFTER OF DEFERS NAMING

Mr. Elias Michael Says System Has Failed to Hold Its Place Under Him—Heier Votes With Her.

The question of reappointing the assistant superintendents of schools, or of making changes in the personnel of assistants, will be before the Board of Education today night. It was deferred from last night's meeting by action of Supt. John J. Maddox, after he had been re-elected Superintendent, over the opposition of two members. Mrs. Elias Michael, who spoke at length against the re-election, said that she represented the views of the other woman member, Mrs. B. F. Bush, who is abroad. Henry Heier voted with her.

The board, after re-electing Supt. Maddox by an 8 to 2 vote, a four-year term, increased his salary from $10,000 to $11,000 a year, and voted increases also in the salaries of five other elective officers of the schools, all in teaching positions.

Supt. Maddox had prepared a list of recommendations for the board, which included the re-election of all the six assistant superintendents. They are C. G. Rathbun, W. J. S. Bryan, Henry J. Werling, Miss Lillie R. Ernst, L. W. Under and R. C. Shackelford.

Mrs. Michael's attitude, after the meeting had closed, Supt. Maddox withdrew his recommendation from the program of business which he laid before the board, and the matter of selecting the assistants went over until Friday night.

It is believed that Supt. Maddox views at least one of the assistants as being connected with the opposition to him, which was expressed by Mrs. Michael in the following prepared statement, read by her to the board:

"As a member of the Board of Education of the City of St. Louis, I desire to state the reasons why I have voted 'No' to the re-election of Mr. John J. Maddox as superintendent of instruction."

"The office of superintendent of instruction is the most important office in the entire public school system of this city. The quality of the work done in our public schools is largely determined by the efficiency and ability of the superintendent."

"The treasury of the St. Louis school board has money sufficient to meet normal needs. Under our charter the superintendent is given full powers. During the four years Mr. Maddox has held the office, these powers have, by interpretation or consent of the board, been substantially impaired."

"I think it is clear that our public school system has failed to build a rank it formerly held among public school systems in cities comparable with St. Louis in size or in pertinent conditions, and it is clear that this loss in relative standing has occurred during the administration of Mr. Maddox."

"I have sometimes considered Mr. Maddox's policies vacillating, and at times, presented his views and policies to this board in a manner that they seemed to lack the support of his own convictions. I think some of Mr. Maddox's most important acts have been performed in undue haste, without adequate preparation, and with results not advantageous to the pupils of our schools."

"At times Mr. Maddox has seen fit to take many supervising and administrative functions away from the assistant superintendents and teachers, and has thereby, in my opinion, substantially impaired the effectiveness of his organization."

"The elementary schools of this city are not in my opinion receiving adequate supervision. Certainly they are without that kind of supervision which existed under former superintendents when our school system seems to have been more efficient. I find the present absence of such supervision as most harmful to the organization throughout the city."

"Question of Conference. The assistant superintendents, in number, most of whom receive an annual salary of $4,000, had their duties changed a number of times during the past year, which changes have resulted in these assistant superintendents from obtaining results obtainable through consistent and unbroken service. Moreover, I

It is believed that Supt. Maddox views at least one of the assistants as being connected with the opposition to him, which was expressed by Mrs. Michael in the following prepared statement, read by her to the board:

"The treasury of the St. Louis school board has money sufficient to meet the needs of the school system. Under our present superintendent, the treasury is empty. The superintendent is given the power to expend the money as he sees fit. He has expended it in a manner that has left the treasury empty. He has expended it in a manner that has left the treasury empty. He has expended it in a manner that has left the treasury empty.

"I think it is clear that our public school system has failed to hold its place under Mr. Maddox. It has failed to hold its place under Mr. Maddox. It has failed to hold its place under Mr. Maddox. It has failed to hold its place under Mr. Maddox. It has failed to hold its place under Mr. Maddox.

"At times Mr. Maddox has seen fit to take many supervising and administrative functions away from the assistant superintendents, and has thereby, in my opinion, substantially impaired the effectiveness of his organization. The elementary schools of this city are not, in my opinion, receiving adequate supervision. Certain things are without that kind of supervision which existed under the previous superintendent when our school system seems to have been more efficient. The present superintendent has been most hurtful to the organization throughout the year.

"Question of Conferences. The assistant superintendents, a number, most of whom receive an annual salary of $4,000, had their duties changed a number of times during the past year, which changes have prevented these assistant superintendents from obtaining results obtainable through consistent and unobstructed service. Moreover, I think it was a mistake for Mr. Maddox to abolish the former regular group conferences such as were held by our former superintendents, Supts. Blewett and Withers, with the assistant superintendents. The assistant superintendents were appointed because they were qualified experts, experienced in the service of the St. Louis school system, and had helped bring it to the high point of efficiency which it formerly occupied. The St. Louis schools are entitled to the joint wisdom of these assistant superintendents.

RE-ELECTED

"The result, in my opinion, is that in abolishing these regular group conferences, our public school system has been deprived of some of the valuable services of men and women who, through years of study and experience, are in a position to be of great benefit to our school system. Such a system discourages and tends to render less efficient the persons connected with the public schools, because it removes incentive and collaboration essential to good work and further tends to establish a one-man control.

"These constitute the principal reasons why I do not favor Mr. Maddox's re-election. I have reached these conclusions as a result of the work done in our public schools during the past year, and on my observation of our superintendent's work, and of my observation and contact in school rooms and elsewhere, having visited over 125 schools in the almost three years during which I have been on the School Board. Many instances have combined to compel the conclusion above stated.

"I am authorized by Mrs. B. F. Bush, another member of the board, now in Europe, to say that she concurs in my views."

Has Served Loyally.

Henry F. Fahrenkrog, chairman of the Committee on Instruction, made the speech naming the superintendent for re-election. He reviewed the superintendent's career, beginning with his appointment in 1910 as principal of Blow School, and his later work as principal of Wyman School, and of Cleveland High School, from which he was "drafted" by the Board in February, 1921, as acting superintendent.

"It is fair to say he was drafted," Fahrenkrog said, "because he was not seeking the position of superintendent. He has always served loyally and capably in any position to which he has been called."

"He has now served four years in this most responsible office of superintendent. The members of the Board have had daily opportunity to know how efficiently he has discharged the duties of his office. You know he has not only been capable, but he has been absolutely square in his dealings with the Board, with the teaching corps, with the pupils, and with the public. He has played no favorites; no considerations of political influence nor of social prestige have swayed him in his official relationships. Under his leadership our public school system has gone forward with the growth of the city, and has kept its rank in the very forefront of the school system of this country and of the world.

"Superintendent Mr. Maddox has introduced scientific methods of procedure to arrive at facts and conditions affecting educational needs and the best way to meet them. He has not only supervised the school system, but he has directed scientific investigation in order that the actual truth might be made clear. When the real conditions have been ascertained, he has placed before the Board and before his assistants, the principals and classroom teachers, the facts that have been shown to exist, and has then sought their advice."

"Progressive Future Policy. The keynote of his administration has been democracy in education."

COOLIDGE SEEKS 9-POWER ACCORD ON CHINESE POLICY

Hopes to Bring About Joint Action by the Signatories of Arms Conference Treaty.

LAYS DELAY TO FRANCE'S TARDINESS

Indications Are President Sides With Shipping Board in Refusal to Approve Palmer's Sales.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 15.—President Coolidge has assumed direct charge of negotiations with the other powers and is attempting to create a situation in China which will warrant and make possible early conferences on both customs duties and the surrender by the powers of extra-territorial rights.

In clarifying further the method by which the Chinese issue is being approached, a spokesman for the administration issued an official denial yesterday that an understanding has been reached by the United States, Great Britain and Japan on a plan of joint action in the Far East.

There is, according to the spokesman, no agreement whatever of the nature suggested by reports from Tokyo. "The United States is directing its efforts toward bringing about action by all the powers signatory to the nine-power pact along the lines laid out in the arms conference declarations."

The other phase of the American policy is to insist obviously by exerting all available pressure to bear on China, that the Oriental nation take adequate steps to protect foreigners and to create conditions which will give the powers some assurance that they can proceed with the arms conference program. All Signatories Consulted.

The President's spokesman emphasized that the three nations had entered into no arrangement for joint action of any kind other than action under the Washington conference commitments. In view of the dispatches from Swampscott it was announced that the State Department is communicating with all the signatories of the Washington treaties, rather than merely Great Britain and Japan.

President Coolidge told callers yesterday he naturally hopes for an early adjustment of differences in China, but could not name a date for the convening of the extra-territoriality conference. He takes it for granted that this conference, which the arms conference provided for by resolution, will be held, but feels the time is dependent upon conditions. The President, it is understood, is inclined to credit France responsibility for the delay in holding the extra-territoriality conference, as well as that on customs to France, because of the tardiness with which that nation ratified the work of the Washington conference.

It has been pointed out here that the conference on extra-territoriality might have been held shortly after the arms conference. It was, however, since it was based on a resolution adopted there, Mr. Coolidge, however, takes the view that such a conference would not have been practical until the last of the signatory powers sanctioned the work of the Washington gathering.

Rejects Butler's Suggestion. President Coolidge feels there is no need for the Government to follow the suggestion of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, that the United States have a representative at the League of Nations to inform the State Department of the work being done at Geneva.

While the President regards the suggestion with interest, he pointed out to visitors at White House yesterday there was no conference in the air. He is studying domestic questions in order to give Congress a constructive program next winter. He will ask Congress to take the departmental reorganization bill out of the pigeonhole and pass it without further delay. A spokesman pointed out today that Mr. Coolidge had made several transfers of bureaus to the Department of Commerce, but could not carry

A UNIQUE CHAPTER OF AMERICAN HISTORY

"The Rise and Fall of Jesse James"

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

Jesse James Expected to Go to Heaven When He Died—Was Always a Good Boy and Never Tortured Cats or Birds, Contrary to General Belief—the Early Life of Jesse and His Brother Frank Was Like That of Many Other Boys.

CHAPTER III.

JESSE JAMES was a good boy. A favorite form of recreation indulged in by romanticists who write about notorious outlaws is that of inventing infantile or early boyhood wickedness for their subjects. These bushrangers on the outer edges of the vast arena of letters have not devoted any very considerable effort or space to such inventions with regard to the James boys of Missouri, having been content to follow in the main some early-day Eastern "biographer" whose easy conscience permitted him to assume that, since the Jameses turned out to be bad men, Frank and Jesse must have been bad boys.

That egregious outlander, happily anonymous and forgotten, started something which his copyists have kept a-going. He set in motion the silly stories detailing the alleged boyhood cruelties practiced by Frank and Jesse James. Never having touched Missouri soil, probably fearing that even if he dared try to cross the State aboard a railway train he might be caught, killed and scalped by the Jameses, he sat in the safety of his Eastern eyrie and gazed from afar upon the simple lives of two Missouri farm lads, his own ferocious imagination transforming those average and ordinary boys into little ogres of brutality.

Testimony of their old neighbors, including that of boys and girls who played with them, attended the same schools and churches and participated in social "parties" along with them, paints a picture altogether different.

Frank and Jesse, we learn, were just like other boys. They were neither wicked nor more saint-like than the average American lad who grows up in a rural community.

Enter now, by your leave, the two little Jameses, Alexander Franklin, known to outlaw history as Frank, was hardly 10 years old when hell cracked wide open along the border; he was born Jan. 10, 1844. Jesse Woodson, Frank's little brother, was about 7, having begun his unique career Sept. 5, 1847. Jesse was born at the old homestead three or four miles from the small village of Centerville, now Kearney, in a house still standing in 1925, though considerably altered, enlarged and made over. Frank's birthplace was a cabinlike domicile about three miles away.

The parents of the James boys were from Kentucky. Both belonged to substantial pioneer families whose forefathers had traveled the old Wilderness road in the long-drawn trek which resulted in the winning of the earlier West. Logan County was the Kentucky center of the Jameses. The Coles settled at and near Lexington, in the bluegrass region.

Miss Zerelda Cole, born a century ago, had a mind of her own. Though educated in a Roman Catholic convent at Lexington, she would not permit religion to interfere with love. For that matter, love became her religion. In time, the element of hate entered and well-nigh destroyed her little heaven on earth, though love never waned; it waxed, increasing in its intensity from year to year until the end. She hated only those who hated those she loved, or who, through a sense of civic duty or in expectation of getting quick (though hardly easy) money, sought to harm her loved ones.

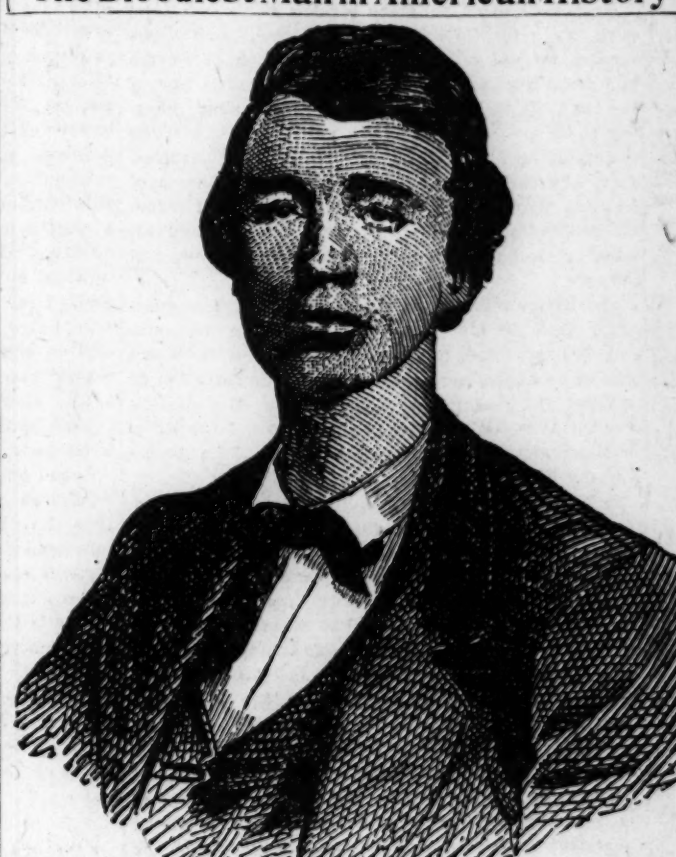

Robert James' Romance. Robert James was a student in an academy at Georgetown, Ky., when he met Zerelda Cole at some gathering. "Love at first sight" is the brief recorded history of that meeting. Young James was in his senior year and was studying for the ministry, though not cultivating the ministry systematically. In those pioneer days many a youth was graduated directly into the pulpit from a small academic institution, or even from a puncheon-floored country schoolhouse, without having received instruction in theology.

Robert and Zerelda did not wait until the young man's graduation. They were married a short time after their first met. He was 23, she 17. The young husband remained at his studies until the next spring. His mother, widowed and rewed, had removed to Missouri. Less than a year after Robert and Zerelda were united, the young couple visited Robert's mother in Clay County and liked Missouri so well that they made up their minds to remain. In the meantime Robert, ordained to the ministry, had become the Rev. Robert James.

The 24-year-old preacher acquired some fertile land near Centerville and built a house. His dwelling was small, his acres wide. Two or three years later he built a larger house. This is the celebrated Samuel farmhouse named for Dr. Reuben Samuel, who became husband of the Widow James in 1857. He was a physician who also practiced farming, as the Rev. Robert James had done.

In the pioneer days there were many country clergymen who preached on Sundays and farmed during the week. Mr. James was energetic in both lines. He organized two neighborhood congregations known as Providence and Mount Hope, which have withstood time's ravages and remain as monuments to his pious zeal. He became known widely throughout his section as an evangelist, holding "protracted meetings" or "revivals" here and there and mustering many converts into the fold. Jesse Edwards James, a Kansas City lawyer who is the only son of Jesse Woodson James, recalls the fame of his grandfather as a wholesale immerger of converts.

Jesse Edwards James, a Kansas City lawyer who is the only son of Jesse Woodson James, recalls the fame of his grandfather as a wholesale immerger of converts.

Both Frank and Jesse were schooled deeply in the old-fashioned religion. Every Sunday the family drove to church and took part in the worship. Sunday school, preceding the sermon, found the two boys and Susie present, singing the old-time songs and reciting golden texts along with the rest of the neighborhood children.

Jesse James remained thoroughly orthodox in his religious beliefs as long as he lived. This, perhaps, is a hard nut to crack; but, being a simple statement of fact, it goes down upon the record. He believed in a personal God and in a personal devil—probably in a considerable number of the latter. He accepted the orthodox heaven and the orthodox hell, his faith being implicitly simple. He expected to go to heaven when he died, for he believed that he had lived the best life he possibly could live under all the circumstances and that, therefore, he was entitled to salvation. Mrs. Samuel testified at the inquest over his body that when Jesse left her home for the last time, less than two weeks before he was shot down, he said to her at parting:

"Well, mother, if we never meet here again we'll meet in heaven." And, incidentally, his faithful mother was comforted by the same belief.

CHICAGO FINANCE COMMITTEE APPROVES WATER METER PLAN. Metering Recommended by War Department as Solution to Lake Level Controversy.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Chicago with more drinking water at its door than most inland cities of the world, faces individual building water metering as a measure to preserve the reservoir of the Great Lakes.

The Finance Committee of the City Council, acting on recommendation of the War Department growing out of the lake level controversy, yesterday approved a metering plan contemplating an outlay of $15,000,000 for equipment and installation.

Every building will have a meter. Charges will be 50 cents a thousand cubic feet, with a discount of 15 per cent for prompt payment of bills. The plan is expected to reduce present consumption 20,000,000 gallons daily by eliminating waste.

A 25-year controversy, which began with the creation of the sanitary district's sewerage disposal plan reversing the current in the Chicago River, will end when the City Council approves the committee recommendation.

FRANCE TO ASK 80 YEARS TO PAY AMERICAN DEBT

Ten-Year Moratorium With Low Rate of Interest Also to Be Urged at Washington Session.

BOULLON TO HEAD THE COMMISSION

Will Be Authorized to Offer U. S. Formation of Body to Examine Into the French Armament.

By ARNO DOSCH FLEURYOT.

Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. Copyright, 1925, by the Post-Dispatch and New York World. PARIS, July 15.—Henri Bouillon, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, has been selected by the Painleve Government as chairman of the Debt Funding Commission, which, it is now decided, will go to Washington in September.

Bouillon has not yet formally given his consent, but the New York World and Post-Dispatch understand that he will do so if plenary powers are given to him. Questioned on the subject, he said: "If I accept the leadership of the Debt Funding Commission, I shall go to Washington determined to get a settlement, and I will stay with it until I do."

If Finance Minister Caillaux goes to Washington it will be only toward the close of negotiations to sign the agreement.

May Even Discuss Armament. If, as the New York World and Post-Dispatch have reason to believe will happen, Bouillon negotiates for France, he will have powers far beyond those which ordinarily accompany a diplomatic task. Due to the exceptional circumstances, the French Government is ready to empower the commission to take up with the American Government every angle of the question in hand, and will even go so far as to discuss with Washington the question of France's armament, in case Washington considers the terms which France asks excessively lenient in consideration of France's considerable military expenses.

In other words, Bouillon will be in a position to discuss the charge of French imperialism and the New York World and Post-Dispatch learn from excellent sources he will be authorized to offer to Washington the formation of an unofficial but authoritative body, in which American votes will predominate, to examine into French armament, leaving to this body to decide whether in the present condition of Europe France can reduce the size of her army.

This unofficial body would consist of one Englishman, one Frenchman, one Italian and five Americans. The selection of experts, if the idea is carried to that point, is expected to be under the unofficial O. K. of Washington, as was the case with the Dawes Committee experts. Washington, having practically the power to appoint, can assure impartiality. The method of getting the body into being and making its findings official is expected to follow the Dawes plan precedent.

Wants 10-Year Moratorium. The terms which France is expected to offer through Bouillon, which may call forth the objection of this extraordinary body, are low. France wants a 10-year moratorium, and, as the correspondent has previously cabled, there is good reason to believe France, as well as other European credits, already has reason to believe that can be arranged if other conditions are satisfactory. A low rate of interest will be asked and a percentage of amortization which will spread the payments over 10 years.

France will first declare that the debt has grown from approximately $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 by accrued interest through no fault of France, but on account of Germany's failure to pay reparations from the start, as anticipated. But France will accept the figure of $4,000,000,000 without question, nevertheless, and will try to arrange for a long-time payment on a very low interest rate. About 1 per cent is the French idea.

The French argument for a low interest rate runs as follows: The Dawes plan, in effect, cuts the German debt to a third. Germany was allowed a three-year moratorium and, as financiers figure, Germany by the Dawes plan, was allowed 30 years to pay reparations. France asks a moratorium three times as long and nearly three times as long as pay the total. Two per cent interest would mean payment by France to America of $50,000,000.

Contributions to the Post-Dispatch Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund since the last acknowledgment amount to $114.50, bringing the total of the fund to $1747.30. This is short of the fund's total for the corresponding date of last summer and previous years, and friends of the babies are urged to remember the little sufferers of the tenement district and not lag in their efforts toward obtaining the much-needed amount of $6500 required for the season's distribution of ice.

One of the largest individual donations of this season to the Ice Fund came from Phil H. Brockman, president of the De Luxe Automobile Co., who sent his check for $50, saying "This is such a worthy cause I feel it is a pleasure to subscribe to it." Other cash contributions include $10 each from Mrs. Ralph Dustin Griffin, 5525 Chamberlain avenue, $25 from Edward G. Platt Jr. and Nancy Ann Platt, 5159 Lindell boulevard, I. A. Stevens, Clayton road, and "Cash," Mrs. A. Harris, 4943 Lindell boulevard, sent $5; Allison Jones and Mary Louise Tindall, who reside in the 5500 block of Cates avenue, sent $2; the Beginners' Department of Central Presbyterian Sunday School, Clara and Delmar, forwarded $2 through Mrs. Hugh Wilson, secretary; Billy, a friend, gave $1; Marjette Muckerman, 5427 Longfellow boulevard, donated $1.10 and $1 was received from an anonymous contributor, "Jel."

A check for $5 was received by the Ice Fund as a donation from the Cates Avenue Reporters' Club, whose members own and publish a neighborhood publication, "The Neighborhood News." The club is composed of Misses Marguerite Newton, Ruth Bender, Marjorie Arthur, Florence Arthur, Dorothy Moon and Ruth Moon, girls from 12 to 15 years, residents of the 6000 block of Cates avenue. Their donation was made possible by the support given the club by residents of the block when they sponsored an entertainment on the Bender lawn, 6057 Cates avenue, June 27.

Children of the 4700 block of Westminster place earned $4 by conducting a lemonade stand during the recent warm days. Those who helped were: Richard Landau, Edward, Elise and Ann Marie, Jack Hardy, Arthur Lieber and Edward Shirley.

Catherine Strieff, 5557 Cates avenue, sent $1.40 to the Ice Fund. This sum was earned by a lemonade sale on Saturday, July 11. The workers were: Mary Ann Neville, John Alden, Arthur Hopkins and Catherine Strieff.

Children in charge of an entertainment for the Ice Fund at 3011 Union boulevard have announced that postponement of the affair has been made from Friday, July 17, to Friday, July 24.

FUNERAL OF REV. C. E. PAXSON
Had Been in Ministerial Work for About 50 Years.
The funeral of the Rev. Corey E. Paxson of the Southern Presbyterian Church, who died of heart disease Monday at his home, 3919 West Pine boulevard, after a year's illness, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow from an undertaking chapel at 3221 Olive street to Bellefontaine cemetery. The Rev. Mr. Paxson, who was 72 years old, had been engaged in ministerial work for almost 50 years and his father, the late William Paxson, was pastor of Dardennes Church in St. Louis County from 1844 to 1874.

His son, the Rev. Stephen E. Paxson, is pastor of the Richards Church at Lewisburg, W. Va. Besides his son the Rev. Mr. Paxson is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Grace Killinger of Kansas City, and Miss Elizabeth Paxson, with whom he resided.

RAIN HALTS OUTDOOR SHOWS
The Garden Theater had its first encounter with rain last night, and the performance of "Electra" was abandoned. At the Municipal Theater the double bill of "Cavalleria" and "Pinafore" was also called off.

Both managements announced that tickets may be exchanged for another evening this week.

Social Activities

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Yantis of 5077 Westminster place will depart about Aug. 1 for Watch Hill, R. I., where they will be at the Ocean House for the summer. Mrs. Yantis recently returned from Chicago, where she attended a charity performance of "A School for Scandal" for the benefit of St. Luke's Hospital there, and which netted more than $100,000.

Judge and Mrs. William Dee Becker of 5321 Delmar boulevard and their daughter, Miss Anne Becker, and their son, Alvin, will spend the summer in Colorado. Judge Becker, his son, and Julius Koehler will depart Saturday and Mrs. Becker and Miss Anne will join them in a fortnight. They will be gone until September.

Mrs. Senter Gettys of 5325 Delmar boulevard will fill the first week in August for Europe to join her mother and sister. Mrs. Gettys was a Miss Bevis before her marriage and is a cousin of Mrs. Lida Bevis of the Forest Park Hotel, who, with her sister, Mrs. G. Lacy Crawford, has been touring Europe for several months. They are now in Paris, where Mrs. Frank Hicks recently joined them.

Mrs. Raymond M. McNally of 4437 Westminster place and her younger son have gone to Wequeton, Mich., for the summer. The other two McNally children are in camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overton Watts Jr. of 4937 Laclede avenue departed yesterday for Wequeton, Mich., to be the guests of Mr. Watts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Watts, at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reiner landed yesterday in France for their wedding trip abroad, and will tour that country, Italy and Spain until December, when they will return to spend the Christmas holidays with their parents. In January they will go to Rochester, N. Y., to make their home. Mrs. Reiner was Miss Virginia de Angura, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand de Angura, 539 Adelaide avenue. Miss Helen de Angura and her brother, Fernando Jr., are visiting relatives in Highland Park, Ill., for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Huey Hughes of Dallas, Tex., who have spent the past few weeks in Europe, will arrive in St. Louis early in August to visit Mrs. Hughes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Baggett, of 12 Westmoreland place. Mrs. Baggett and her daughter, plan to be in Hot Springs, Va., for part of August.

Mrs. Horace S. Rumsey of 5290 Watkinson avenue, and her daughter, Miss Louise Rumsey, will sail today from New York on the Rotterdam for Europe, where they will be joined later in the season by Mr. Rumsey.

Miss Helen Rule, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Virgil Rule of 5250 Westminster place, will depart today for Madison, Wis., to visit Miss Henrietta Hadley, daughter of Chancellor and Mrs. Herbert S. Hadley, who is attending a summer session of the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert R. Fleming, formerly of Alice Apartments on Union boulevard, will be at home to their friends after July 15 in their new home in El Santo Apartments.

Miss Florence Hazelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hazelton of 5410 Bartmer avenue, left June 26 for Philadelphia, where she visited until July 6. She is now in Marblehead, Mass., studying art under the marine painter, Hayley Lever. The latter part of August she will tour the New England states, returning to St. Louis in September. Miss Hazelton is instructor of art at Soldan High School, and last fall was awarded the Edward Mallinckrodt prize for water colors at the St. Louis Artists' Guild.

Invitations have been sent to friends at Lindenwood College for the wedding of a former member of the faculty, Miss Floy Wink, Tuesday evening, July 21, to Blaine Morrison de Lancy of Parkersburg, W. Va., at the First Presbyterian Church at Attica, Ind. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Linde Wink, will give a reception at the Harrison Hills Country Club, following the ceremony.

Myrt A. Rollins, a recently elected member of the board, proposed, before the vote on re-election of the superintendent, that Supt. Maddox be asked to outline his policy for the next four years, in a statement to the board and the public.

Ben Weidie and President Tobin opposed this proposal. Both said that the Superintendent should not be asked to make a statement pledging himself to a certain line of action for four years to come, when conditions might make many changes in his plans necessary. The chief result, they said, would be to afford frequent ground for criticism of the Superintendent, and to place him on the defensive whenever he found it necessary to vary from the program announced.

Salary Increase Voted.
After his proposal had been voted upon, Rollins voted for the re-election of Supt. Maddox. He opposed the salary increases. These increases, besides that $1000 increase of the Superintendent, were: Attorney for the board, from $4500 to $5500; Auditor, from $6000 to $6500; Commissioner of Buildings, from $9000 to $9500; Supply Commissioner, from $7000 to $7750; and Secretary-Treasurer, from $7000 to $7500.

THIRD DIVISION MEN
ARRIVE FOR REUNION

Will Attend Municipal Opera Tonight; Business Sessions Tomorrow; Parade Friday.

Veterans of the Third Division, which participated in five major engagements in the World War, are registering today at Hotel Statler for their sixth annual reunion. It is estimated about 1000 veterans will attend.

A feature will be a parade through the business district at 2 p. m. Friday. The veterans, in overalls caps and army shirts, will assemble at Twelfth boulevard and Market street. Police who are ex-service men, the police band, a company of soldiers from Jefferson Barracks and band, will take part. The parade will proceed north to Washington avenue, east to Broadway, south to Olive street, west to Twelfth boulevard past the reviewing stand, and south to Market street.

The municipal opera at Forest Park will provide entertainment to-night, and business sessions will be held tomorrow morning. Following a sight-seeing tour, the veterans will go to Forest Park Highlands tomorrow night. Regimental dinners at the Statler Friday night will be followed by a smoker at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, 511 Locust street.

Memorial exercises for comrades will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday at National Cemetery. Jefferson Barracks, after the election of officers at a business session at the Statler.

Gen. R. L. Howze, who commanded the Third Division in Germany, will be the principal speaker Saturday night at a banquet in the main dining room of the Statler. Colin M. Reiph, former Postmaster, will deliver a memorial address. Col. W. S. Daley will preside.

Grain Rate Reduction Ordered.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 15.—Railroads serving Oklahoma were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce rates on grain, grain products and live moving stock from St. Louis, Kansas, Missouri and Texas. Adjustments also were found to be necessary in rates on similar products grown in the Texas Panhandle and Eastern New Mexico and shipped to the Missouri-Kansas territory.

Japanese Royalty to Visit U. S.
By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, July 15.—It is understood here that arrangements are being perfected whereby Prince and Princess Asaka, who are at present in Paris, will return to Japan during the fall, visiting America en route.

The deaf, to be built at 1604-1620 South Grand boulevard, were approved by the board, over the opposition of Mrs. Michael. The plans contemplate centering all instruction of the deaf in one building, whereas Mrs. Michael held that different classes of deaf children should be separated. She holds that pupils in lip-reading should be instructed in a school apart from those learning the mechanical means of communication, as the latter and easier method tends to interrupt the learning of the other.

The board's annual budget, presented by the Committee on Finance and approved, showed these figures: Cash on hand July 1, $5,995.61; 1925 total estimated income less 5 per cent reserve fund, $10,431,930.46; total resources, $16,430,541.38.

Estimated expenditures: Attorney, $4700; auditing department, $19,282; building department, $2,734,793.99; finance department, $361,881.50; instruction department, $7,587,928; supply department, $918,058. Total estimated expenditures, $11,626,625.49, leaving $4,803,905.89 balance subject to appropriation.

The estimated expenditures of the instruction department are $25,488.87 greater for 1925-26 than for 1924-25. The increase is largely in salaries of teachers, attendance officers and clerical employees, although some items of printing and other expenses are included in the total.

The principal building expenditures of the 1925-26 program are for completion of Theodore Roosevelt High School, William Beunvoit High School, Elias Michael School and the School for Handicapped Colored Children.

New Yorker Buys Old Masters.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 15.—Col. Michael Friedsam of New York City has purchased from Count Nicolo of Florence, Italy, a portrait by Botticelli and from a Hanover, Germany, museum, Perugino's "Portrait of an Elderly Man." The two cost about $200,000. The Botticelli already is in New York and the Perugino is being sent there.

ST. LOUIS DOCTOR ELECTED
NATIONAL OFFICER OF ELKS

Dr. Carroll Smith Named Grand Esteemed Leading Knight.

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., July 15.—More than 25 years of active service for the advancement of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was recognized when the sixty-first grand lodge reunion in session here elected William Hawley Atwell, a member of the Dallas, Tex., lodge and Judge of the Federal Court of the Northern District of Texas, to the office of grand exalted ruler.

The election was unanimous. Atwell succeeds John G. Price of Columbus, O., to the highest office of Elksdom.

Chicago was designated for the 1926 reunion, which will be held in July, and will be featured by the dedication of the new $4,000,000 national memorial headquarters, now under construction.

Other officers elected were Dr. Carroll Smith, St. Louis grand exalted ruler; R. C. Bowser, Montpelier, Vt., grand esteemed local knight; Walter F. Meier, Seattle, grand esteemed lecturer; Fred C. Robinson, Chicago, re-elected for the twenty-first term as grand secretary; John K. Burch, Grand Rapids, Mich., re-elected grand treasurer; Edward J. Kelly, Salt Lake City, grand tiler; John McW. Ford, grand inner guard; the Rev. Dr. John Dwyer, Flint, Mich., re-elected grand chaplain, and Clyde Jennings, Lynchburg, Va., a member of the board of trustees.

Dr. Carroll Smith, who was elected grand esteemed leading knight of the Elks, resides at 3644 Washington boulevard. He has taught surgery at St. Louis University since he came to St. Louis, 17 years ago, from Florida, Ill. He is a past exalted ruler of the St. Louis Elks' Lodge.

BUST OF LAFAYETTE GIVEN TO FRENCH SOCIETIES HERE
Presentation of Work of Sculptor Holm Is in Connection With Bastille Day Celebration.

A bronze bust of Lafayette was presented to the United French Societies of St. Louis by the St. Louis sculptor, Victor J. Holm, last night during the societies' annual celebration of Bastille day at Cafeteria's Garden.

In turn, the French Societies contemplate offering the bust to the city to be set up in the north end of the park in proximity to the statue of Washington has been tentatively selected.

George C. Willson, president of the St. Louis Bar Association, was the chief speaker at last night's celebration, taking for his subject the French patriot, Mirabeau. Other speakers were Maurice Faure, president of the French Societies, and Marc Sequin, French consul in St. Louis.

Duchess Opens Conference.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 15.—With Lady Astor in the chair, the Duchess of York today opened an international conference on women who are engaged in scientific, industrial and commercial pursuits. Miss Ethel Bailey, representing the American Society of Automotive Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, brought fraternal greetings from those organizations.

The conference, being held at the Wembley Exhibition, is the first of its kind in England.

$100,000 Willed to Church.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HARTFORD, Conn., July 15.—By the will of the late Dr. Lawrence Reynolds, the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, named as residuary beneficiary, will receive approximately $100,000. Dr. Reynolds will give $100,000 to the widow, now living in Manhattan, Kan.; $5000 to each of his children, and the remainder to missionary work, in which both he and Mrs. Reynolds had been interested. The will left to the Board of Foreign Missions more than twice the amount given the doctor's family.

Paris, July 15.—American pilgrims last week and are now enjoying the sights of Paris as a reward for having aided in the work of saving Monticello from private ownership, found themselves quartered today in a beautiful new hotel at the Rue de Berri and Champs Elysees, where Thomas Jefferson planted seed for fruits and flowers during the four years of his official residence here.

Jefferson was a leaseholder of a large piece of land now in the very heart of Paris, within five minutes' walk of the Arc de Triomphe.

When the young women arrived here they were quartered in three hotels in another part of the city, but the Paris committee in charge of the reception succeeded in transferring them to the hotel on the spot Jefferson loved so well when he tried his horticultural experiments to take back certain seed for planting in America. The visitors were delighted by this change in their surroundings, learning for the first time of the garden work Jefferson had personally done on the premises where the new hotel now stands and where a tablet marks the spot as one of historic interest.

During the great day yesterday commemorating the fall of the Bastille members of the party were taken to many points where patriotic celebrations were in progress. Today they will be received by the President and other officials of the republic, to whom they will convey a greeting, also receiving one.

RELATIONSHIP OF BANKER AND DEPOSITOR DISCUSSED

R. Jesse Chaney of Washington and Other Speakers Heard at American Bankers' Meeting.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 15.—The strengthening of the relationship between banker and depositor was stressed by R. Jesse Chaney of Washington in the conference on credits of the American Banking Institute, which began its annual convention here yesterday.

"Small depositors," Chaney said, "are receiving more attention from the banks. The initial deposit of an account is seldom a criterion of the caliber of the account, for the small account today may be the large account of tomorrow."

COOLIDGE SEEKS
9-POWER ACCORDON CHINESE POLICY
On the fundamentals of reorganization work without legislation.
This is one of the President's pet measures, since it promises additional economy, and he is preparing to make a fight for it.

Sides With Shipping Board.

Evidences today were that the President sides with the Shipping Board in its refusal to approve the ship sales agreement reached by Admiral Palmer of the Emergency Fleet Corporation for the disposal of 200 vessels to the Boston Iron and Metal Co. of Baltimore at a price of $1,370,000. He certainly is not critical of the board for its action, since he assumes it had information on the possibility of obtaining a better price.

In the President's opinion, a question of policy over which the board has jurisdiction, was involved. The board, he understood, did not want to sell at scrap prices when the bid left the purchasers entirely free to use engines and boilers for new vessels. The board takes the position that such use might be discrimination against other shippers.

Mr. Coolidge does not feel there is necessarily friction between the Admiral and the board, and the board, it was stated, has accepted with a spirit of co-operation the suggestion that Admiral Palmer be permitted to negotiate ship sales.

Visit to Quincy Today.

The President is retaining his interest in the development of naval aviation. He and Mrs. Coolidge embarked early this afternoon on the presidential yacht Mayflower for a visit to the Fore River shipbuilding yard at Quincy, Mass., where the big airplane carrier Lexington is under construction. The party included Melville E. Stone, Secretary Sanders, Col. Cheney, military aide, and newspaper photographers. They expected to return early in the evening.

Quincy celebrated its terecentary a few weeks ago, but Mr. Coolidge could not attend. The only other two men Massachusetts ever sent to the White House were John Adams and his son, John Quincy Adams.

France Wants China to Restore

Order Before Powers Confer.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 15.—This is not a propitious time, it was said in French official circles today, for negotiations seeking revision of foreign extraterritorial privileges in China. The opinion was expressed that the essential preliminary for the proposed nine-power Chinese conference is that China restore order and show she can maintain it.

annually. As this would necessitate the payment of a similar sum to Great Britain, it would total more than half the reparations Germany is to pay France, under the Dawes plan.

Washington Will Ask More.

It is anticipated Washington will ask more, and the repeated charges that France is imperialistic are expected to make it difficult to induce the Congressional Funding Commission to accept terms as low as France will offer. Questioning by the Americans of the military, item in the French budget is anticipated, and if this happens Bouillon will be prepared to offer to let unprepared Americans decide in consultation with a qualified British, a Frenchman and an Italian whether France can reduce her present armament.

The plan practically means

American examination of German disarmament. The state of Germany's armament, Germany's state of mind and France's colonial difficulties all will enter into the discussion.Bouillon is a graduate of Cam-

TIN BUCKET ON TABLE LEADS TO AN ARREST

Detectives Raid Confectionery
on Easton Avenue — No Major Crime Reported.

Police reports last night were devoid of any record of crime. Not a single major offense was reported between 8 p. m. yesterday and daylight today. Meanwhile the police made 119 arrests in the 24 hours preceding last midnight.

Ten men were arrested yesterday afternoon in raids on alleged handbooks by uniformed policemen. In a room in the Brevort Hotel, 413
Pine street, they arrested Arthur Pohl, manager of the hotel, and three other men. The policemen reported they found a racing form in the room.

The other objectives were cigar stores and the men in charge were arrested in each instance. The raiders reported finding racing forms.

The places raided and the names given by the men arrested were:
307 Pine street, Fred Bach; 323
Olive street, Louis McComas; 611
Pine street, Barry McDonald; 205
North Tenth street, Christ Pontana; 110 1/2 North Eighth street, Frank Bunyan; 410 North Tenth street, Earl Campbell.

Eight Negroes Arrested.
Gambling squad detectives raided a cellar at 3333 Lucas avenue yesterday afternoon and arrested eight negroes as agents for a policy game.

The tin bucket which, a rum squad of detectives have learned, is enjoying a rise to popularity comparable to the days when it was known simply as "the can," was one of the objects that caught the eye of rum squad detectives when they entered a confectionery at 5150 Easton avenue yesterday.

Seated at the table on which the bucket stood were two men. The liquid in the bucket looked like beer. At this juncture a negro came into the place by a rear door carrying a sack with 20 quart bottles of home brew. Seventy-four more bottles were found in a shed and two pints of whisky were taken from a rear room. Michael La-monica, in charge of the place, was arrested.

Beer and Whisky Seized.
John King, bartender in a saloon at 4974 Easton avenue, slammed a rear door when detectives entered at 9 p. m. yesterday. Through a hole in the door they could see two men and a woman there. When they finally opened the door the three occupants of the room had fled, but the detectives, climbing a flight of stairs, found eight cases of beer and six gallons of whisky in a second floor room. King was arrested.

A man was pouring whisky from a bottle into a tin pitcher when detectives entered a saloon at 603 Walnut. He gave his name as Alfred Gimmer of the Globe Hotel.
He and the bartender, Raymond White, who was watching him, were arrested.

S BARNES TILDEN FACES THALHEIMER OF TEXAS IN TODAY'S TENNIS FEATURE

—By KEN KLING

Wray Brown and Chapin Expected to Supply a Match Full of Thrills

Brian Norton Should Advance at Expense of Horace Orser in the Third Big Contest of Clay Court Tourney Program.

By Athur Schneff.

William Taten Tilden II of Philadelphia, the most brilliant figure in the tennis world, will again be the main attraction in the fifth day of play in the National clay court championship when he meets Louis Thalheimer of Dallas in a fourth round match at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the Triple A courts.

There are other important matches scheduled to start at two o'clock, such as the battle between Wray Brown, St. Louis, and Alfred H. Chapin Jr., Springfield, Mass., and that of B. I. C. Norton, St. Louis, against Horace Orser, New York youth, but unquestionably the one outstanding desire of the tennis fans who visit the stadium in the park is to see Tilden in action.

And there is good reason for such an attitude on the part of the public. No sport today is more completely dominated by one man than is lawn tennis by Tilden. There is no player in the world who is so much of a master. There is no player of the tennis today who would dispute his claim to the title of the world's tennis champion of all time. He is at home among those super-champions as Willie Hoppe, Paavo Nurmi and Ty Cobb.

No Monotony in Big Bill's Game. Aside from the perfection of Tilden's playing, any match in which the champion appears is invariably interesting. Tilden's unique mannerisms, his occasional display of erratic temperaments, and his willingness, frequently, to let an opponent gain a great lead just for the satisfaction of pulling the match out of the fire, make his matches the outstanding attractions of any tournament.

The champion had a busy time of it yesterday. In the morning he eliminated Charles Barnes, local player, by scores of 7-5, 6-2, after permitting Barnes to gain a big lead in the opening set. John Barr of Dallas, in an afternoon match, was able to win only three games in two sets. Tilden and his young doubles partner, "Sandy" Wiener, then opened the doubles competition by eliminating John Hubbell and Gerald Smith of Kansas City, 7-5, 6-2, 6-1. Then, to complete his day's work and to satisfy the demand of his insatiable admirers, the champion, paired with Brian Norton, with whom he won the national doubles championship in 1923, played an exhibition match against the California team of Snodgrass and Westbrook.

Thalheimer Has Merit. Tilden is, of course, favored to dispose of Thalheimer easily this afternoon, even though the Texan yesterday played splendid tennis to win an uphill fight from Paul Bennett, former Davis Cup player for Canada. Thalheimer, after losing the first set, improved as the match progressed, and by the time the third set was under way he was playing with a grace and steadiness of stroke that could not be denied. The match was an excellent exhibition of courage.

Five St. Louis players remain in the tournament, but only two of them are considered as likely to survive today's competition. Brian I. C. Norton should have little difficulty eliminating Horace Orser, star junior of New York. "Babe" Tilden described the important features of the fourth day's play. He followed both morning and afternoon contests closely. The champion's comment follows:

"The outstanding player of the day was Horace Orser of New York. Although just over the junior age, Orser defeated two men with considerable tournament experience and in his third match defeated a lad 15 years of age. Orser displayed a remarkably steady game. His volleying was beautiful."

Orser's first round match was against C. H. Alberts, St. Louis. The first set was easy but the second went to defeat. Orser won the match 6-1, 7-5. The New York Oklahoma veteran, although dropping the second set, Young Smith of St. Louis was his victim.

Tilden was asked his views on the playing of George Lott Jr., and he replied as follows:

"Lott played impressive tennis to win his morning match from John Hubbell, the Kansas City player, by the score of 6-1, 6-2. He continued his aggressive tactics against Sandy Wiener, beating him 6-3, 6-2. Young Wiener drove and served well, but Lott's greater steadiness offset the spasmodic brilliancy of the younger player. Wiener had previously defeated Ren Stiphlin, the Omaha player, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2."

"Norton Has More Speed." When watching Brian Norton playing, Tilden remarked: "Norton is in better condition than last year. He seems to have more speed to his shots this year."

"Lewis White, the Dallas star, had a narrow escape," Tilden said. "He struck a snag in his match with John Rolley, the Chicago player. White won the first set, lost the second and was two games down in the third, but finally won this set and the match."

About the important morning matches, Tilden said: "Howard Kinsey seemed very much bothered by coming on to dirt, but he looked to me to be in splendid physical condition and I believe he will rapidly round into his best form. He seems to have recovered from the injury to his ankles which was largely responsible for his defeat by Elmer Griffin in the recent Pacific Coast championship."

Alfred H. Chapin, the Springfield star, started impressively in his match against Walter Finger of St. Louis, winning the first set, 6-1, and reaching 5 to 1 in the second. He grew careless, however, and threw away the chance to end the set quickly, but ultimately won it, 10-8.

Replying to a query relative to playing conditions, Tilden said: "I find the hard dirt courts are both trying me more than I expected. They are quite different from the perfect grass courts at Providence and Nassau."

Tilden had a busy schedule yesterday. He advanced to the fourth round of the singles event, and with A. L. "Sandy" Wiener of Philadelphia, reached the third round of the men's doubles event.

After his tournament matches, Tilden helped to entertain the largest gallery since Saturday by playing with Norton in an exhibition doubles match against Harvey Snodgrass and Walter Westbrook, the California pair. Only one set was played, Tilden and Norton winning, 6-4.

Lucian Lacoste of San Antonio, whose tennis has attracted much attention in the Southwest, this year, could scarcely hit a ball with a racket a year ago, according to J. B. Adoue of Dallas, official referee of the clay court tournament, who is enthusiastic over Lacoste's progress and prospects. Lacoste defeated Teddy Egman of East St. Louis in his first round match but encountered B. I. C. Norton in the second round yesterday and won only three games in two sets.

Junior crews will compose the Saturday program and the senior crews will race on Sunday.

HARD ROADS LEAGUE TO HAVE "LADIES' DAY" HARRISBURG, Ill., July 15.—At a meeting of the executive board of the Southern Illinois Hard Roads League in Marion, recently the members voted to observe each Thursday afternoon during the remainder of the season as "ladies' day." President Campbell of Benton, who presided, also had umpires of the league present and ordered them to enforce all rules more rigidly during the remainder of the season.

Tex Rickard has an appointment with the champion snuff after he docks. If Dempsey fights his title against either Willis or Tunney in the East Rickard will promote the match under a contract signed soon after Dempsey won the heavy-weight title from Jess Willard.

A high-contrast, black and white graphic portrait of a man with a mustache, wearing a suit and tie, holding a cigarette in his mouth. The style is reminiscent of a woodcut or a high-contrast photograph. The man has dark hair, a prominent mustache, and is looking directly at the viewer. The image is characterized by stark black shadows and bright white highlights, with very little mid-tone detail. The background is plain white.

WHY ONE WOMAN HATED HOUSEWORK

Gas on Stomach Made Her Drowsy and Work a Burden

The gas on the stomach Adieria has no equal. I used to feel drowsy and work was a burden to me. After using two bottles Adieria I feel like doing my work and enjoy life again. (Signed) Mrs. W. H. Chastain.

There is now offered to the public a liquid preparation which is not only a wonderfully effective and quick intestinal evacuant, but which also seems to stimulate the glands of the intestinal tract and to cause expulsion of flatus (gas). This preparation, known as Adieria, is a valuable agent for the purpose of cleaning the bowels of matter which has been in the system a long time and which often less effective means have been unable to dislodge. It is often astonishing the great amount of matter Adieria draws from the intestinal canal—even right after a natural movement is sometimes brought out unaccountably. It is especially valuable when the stomach is drowsy or when the bowels are sluggish. It encourages the elimination of metabolic poisons and quantities of additional matter.

In slight disorders, such as occasional constipation or gas on the stomach and headache (when due to bowel inaction), a single episode of Adieria will produce surprising and gratifying results. In cases of chronic constipation or stomach trouble, if Adieria does not bring relief in 24 to 36 hours the advice of a reputable physician should be secured.

WARNING GIVEN AGAINST

BOLSHEVIST TREND IN CHINA

Anti-Communist Sentiment Reported to Be Spreading Throughout

The Country

By the Associated Press.

Beijing, July 13.—(AP)—That anti-Communist sentiment in China today is more widespread and deep-seated than that manifested in the Boxer outbreaks, a quarter of a century ago, is the expressed conviction of members of the Institute of Pacific Relations meeting here. Chinese and foreigners familiar with China, who hold the outside world is uninformed as to the real situation, have held several sessions devoted to presentation of facts to members of the Institute of Pacific Relations meeting here. TRADE POSSIBILITIES
OF INDIA PICTURED

U. S. Commissioner Tells Club Here American Firms Can Profitably Cultivate It.

India, with a favorable trade balance of $1,000,000,000, offers an inviting field for business, which American firms may profitably cultivate, members of the World Trade Club of St. Louis were told yesterday by Charles B. Spofford, trade commissioner of the United States Department of Commerce, recently returned from a six years stay in the Far Eastern empire.

Commissioner Spofford, stopping off in St. Louis yesterday on his way to Washington, addressed the Trade Club at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce. During his day's stay he was interviewed, on the commercial possibilities described by St. Louis manufacturers' representatives in the interests of their particular products.

"India is essentially an agricultural country," he explained in his talk at the Chamber of Commerce, "and it has been especially favored in late years. Favorable monsoon needs for the last four years have furnished it surplus crops for export until now it has a favorable trade balance of about $1,000,000,000."

Variety of Products.
"Last year India sold to us about $120,000,000 worth of goods, while we bought some $50,000,000 worth from her. She sold us burlap for bags, goatskins for shoes, mica for electrical insulation and shellac for our paint and varnish industries. We sold a variety of products, many of which were made in St. Louis."

"For instance, of $17,000,000 imports of hardware products, $2,700,000 came from this country, much of it from St. Louis. Of $1,000,000 purchased in boots and shoes the United States furnished some $100,000 worth. She supplied over half of the $575,000 expended for medicines, and similarly the United States furnished most of the $500,000 spent for photographic supplies. More than 90 per cent of the moving picture films ordered by India were supplied by the country."

"In electrical lines, including supplies as well as large machinery, the United States furnished about $1,000,000 of $14,500,000 expended. These figures show India rather as a potential market, and a further analysis shows her sound financial position.

"India has a population of 225,000,000, but for purposes of consideration of most American products, consider that about 10 per cent of that number have direct purchasing power. Today Indian exchange is quoted above par, the rupee being worth 37 cents as compared to a pre-war normal of 23 cents and a one-time low of 23 cents. It is reasonable to believe she will be on a gold parity within 12 months. The Imperial Bank of India, corresponding to our Federal Reserve Bank, quotes a bank rate of 4 per cent and a call rate of 4 1/2 per cent.

No Preferential Tariff.
"Despite popular impression, India has no preferential tariff date, as favoring British goods. She is seeking to industrialize herself, and in the infant industries, in which she is seeking to protect herself, the manufacture of cotton goods and iron and steel making—we are not competitors. In fact, it may be a surprise to note that India last year shipped 133,000 tons of pig iron to Pacific and Atlantic ports.

"India now has about 200 cotton mills, 70 jute mills, a steel plant, two iron foundries and other smaller industrial organizations. She now is a big purchaser of cotton goods made in England. As fast as she makes these goods herself she will increase her purchases. Representatives of the World Trade Club of St. Louis were told yesterday by Charles B. Spofford, trade commissioner of the United States Department of Commerce, recently returned from a six years stay in the Far Eastern empire.

"To take advantage of the possibilities of this rich domain, Americans must enter the field. There are only a handful of American firms there now. We are an American selling organizations displaying American genius and initiative. You can't expect to sell through British firms acting as American agents—they naturally will favor home-made goods. The most practical suggestion is for American firms in allied lines to group themselves together and so after this business."

FIUME PAID DEARLY FOR FAME

City Has Undergone Economic Decline Since 1913.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.
ROME, June 30.—Fiume, the inspiring seaport town which Hungary developed, against all economic reason, to satisfy its racial pride, has had the luxury of world fame and has paid for it dearly. Figures announced by Premier Mussolini in the Italian Chamber of Deputies show that last year only 400,000 tons of merchandise were handled in the port, as compared with 2,250,000 tons in 1913.

For five years the city has lived on poetry and charity. It is now, as Mussolini points out, improving since its annexation to Italy. But the improvement is in relation to recent years, when Italians and Slavs were disputing over its exhausted body, not in relation to the years of Austro-Hungarian control. The hinterland, which gave the port Fiume its reason for existence, has been smashed to bits. Trieste has seized much of the Austrian and Bohemian trade. Venice has taken all that her official

DUCHESS OF YORK UNVEILS
"FIVE SISTERS WINDOW"

Handicraft Six Centuries Old Restored and Placed in York Minster.

Correspondence of Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.
LONDON, Eng., June 20.—"As an act of most high praise and glad thanksgiving to Almighty God for the lives and devotion of the 1400 women of the empire who died for their country in the war, now in the name of their sisters in all parts of the world, I unveil and restore to its ancient use the Five Sisters window."

These words were spoken by the duchess of York as she unveiled the restored "Five Sisters" window in the north transept of York minster. As the duchess spoke, the curtain shrouding the window fell away revealing the actual handicraft of an artist, John Romain, and his fellow craftsmen in glass of six centuries ago.

The window takes its name from the legend that the design of the glass was worked in tapestry by

AVIATORS TAKE AND DEVELOP

Pilots Test New Film Above Senator Wadsworth's Home at Geneva, N. Y.

By the Associated Press.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 14.—Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, witnessed a demonstration of the value of the air service yesterday when two aviators in an army photographic plane circled about his home at Geneva and nine minutes later dropped photographic prints of his residence on his front lawn.

The two aviators, Lieut. George W. Goddard of the Army Air Service, and Dr. S. M. Burk, Government physicist, both stationed at the Dayton Ohio experimental field, are now in this city conducting experiments on new photographic processes. Among the developments under trial are several new types of photographic emulsions which make possible the developing and printing of photographs during flight in five to ten minutes after the shutter of the camera is snapped.

Today, tests were made with a new film, manufactured by the Eastman Kodak Co., which after removal from the camera and developing, becomes a positive print. Similar tests were made yesterday on a negative and a positive film. Prints were secured by this method in five minutes after the time of exposure.

TWO GAMBLING HOUSES IN COUNTY RESUME OPERATION

Places Were Closed Recently When Attorney General Sent Special Investigator There.

The St. Louis County gambling houses of John P. Connor at 423 Easton avenue and of Mark Gumperts at Fauna Flora, which were closed after it was learned Attorney General Otto was investigating crime conditions in the county, have reopened. Both were operating last night.

Sheriff Wilmas said today he would not raid the places unless someone made an affidavit upon which to base a search warrant.

Circuit Judge Wurde, on the other hand, said the Sheriff did not need a search warrant. "That's all right," the Judge said. "All Sheriff Wilmas needs is gun and a sledge hammer. Let him raid the place every day if he is sincere."

The fact that the places are operating again has been reported to Attorney General Otto by his special investigator whom he has retained to look into county conditions.

MONEY LENDER CONSIDERED 60

London Lawyers Halts Judge's Reference to Shylock—Case Not on Law Record.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.
LONDON, June 20.—Lord Darling: There is a famous case in which a person named Shylock was plaintiff.

Barry Cohn: The case is not in the law reports, my Lord.

The foregoing snatch of dialogue was heard in a recent trial that gave London paragraphers much fun. Before Lord Darling, proceedings directed against the money lenders of England were being heard. Lord Darling of course, is probably the wisest and certainly the wittiest of English jurists and Barry Cohn, a London lawyer, who defended a group of money lenders, has reason to be proud of his exchanges of wit. It was Lord Darling, by the way, who tried the "Mr. A." case. In the money lenders' trial he had not quite the opportunity for such raillery as distinguished his conduct of that great black-and-white case, but he enjoyed things considerably just the same. His latest protest, salted with humor, came when he forced a money lender to admit that he considered 60 per cent a "reasonable" profit. The trial was inconclusive.

LOVE

CHAPTER 20.

VIRGINIA saw—it was her business to see the servants behaved, and her glance naturally took in Catherine, too—her mother's attitude, and hoped that Mr. Lambton didn't. The only decent way of praying in a drawing room was to kneel up straight, hands folded and eyes either shut or looking at the seat of one's chair. Her mother was crouching, almost sitting, on the floor, her arms resting on her chair, her head laid sideways on her arms. Mothers oughtn't to do that. A child who was very tired might, but it would certainly be reproved afterwards. Fortunately the servants couldn't see because of their backs, but Mr. Lambton, if he caught her eyes, wouldn't be able to raise his. She hoped he wouldn't raise his eyes. How very keenly one felt everything one's mother did or didn't do. Strange how sensitive one became about her when one was grown up, and how, in some uncomfortable way, responsible.

Prayers were over in 10 minutes, the servants filed out, Mr. Lambton, having drunk some soda water and said what was proper about his evening, went away, and Virginia, reluctant to go upstairs to her frigid solitude, came and stood by the fire warming her hands so as to put off the melancholy moment a little longer, and talked of Stephen.

"I do so miss him these week-ends," she said, straining a sigh. Catherine sympathetically stroked her arm. "I can so well understand how much one would miss someone one loved as you love Stephen," she said.

"Mother, I thought Virginia, 'is really very nice in spite of her odd ways.'"

"You've no idea," she said aloud, her eyes bright with pride, "how wonderful he is."

"(Who, thought Catherine, 'could have imagined it. That solemn old Stephen.'"

"I'm so glad," she said aloud, putting her arm round Virginia. "You know I used to be afraid—I wasn't quite sure—whether perhaps the difference in age—"

Virginia looked down at her mother pityingly. "I wish you understood, mother," she said gravely, "how little she has to do with it so long as people love each other. Why, what can it matter? We never think of it. It simply doesn't come in. Stephen is Stephen, whatever his age may be. He never, never could be anything else."

"No," agreed Catherine rather wistfully, for if Stephen could only be something else she might find him easier to talk to."

However, that was neither here nor there. He wasn't Virginia's husband in order to talk agreeably to her mother. The great thing was that he succeeded in bringing complete bliss to his wife. How right the child had been to insist on marrying him; how unerring was her instinct. What had she cared for the reasoning of relations, the advice so copiously given not only by Catherine herself but by various uncles and cousins, both on her father's and mother's side? And as for the suggestion that she would look ridiculous going about with a husband old enough to be her father, she had merely smiled gravely at that and not even condescended to answer.

"I wonder," said Catherine, pensively gazing into the fire, her cheek against Virginia's sleeve. "How much happiness has been prevented by fear?"

"What fear?"

"Of people—and especially relations. Their opinion."

"I am sure," said Virginia, blushing a little, for she wasn't used to talking about these things to anybody but Stephen, "that one should give up everything to follow love."

"But what love?"

Virginia blushed again. "Oh, mother—of course, only the right love."

"You mean husbands?"

"Well, of course, mother."

What could her mother imagine she was thinking of?

She went on with grave shyness: "Love—the right love—shouldn't mind anything anyone in the world says."

"I suppose it shouldn't," said Catherine. "And yet—"

"There isn't any 'and yet' in love, mother. Not in real love."

"You mean husbands," said Catherine again.

"Well, of course, mother," said Virginia, impatiently this time.

"I suppose there isn't," said Catherine pensively. "But still—"

"There isn't any 'but still,' either."

Before this splendid experience, this magnificent unawareness, Catherine could only be mute; and presently she held up her face to be kissed, and murmured that she thought she would now go to bed.

Virginia flinched. She didn't seem to want to leave the fire. She raked out the ashes for quite a long time and then pushed the chairs back into their proper places and shook up the cushions.

"I hate going to bed," she said suddenly.

Catherine, who had been watching her sleepily, was surprised to awake again—Virginia had sounded so natural.

"Do you, darling?" she asked. "Why?"

Virginia looked at her mother a moment, and then fetched the bed-room key from the table where it had been put ready on the electric light being now out off by Stephen's wish at half-past ten each night.

She gave Catherine her candle. "Didn't you?" she began.

"Didn't I what?"

"Hate going to bed when my father was away?"

HOW PEER'S DAUGHTER ENTERED SLAVERY

She Smoked a Pipe of Opium "Just for a Lark" and Later Found That It Was Her Master.

By WINIFRED BLACK.

THEY found her in the river the other night—the dark river that slips so quietly through the dark streets of dark old London.

Young, beautiful, high bred, rich, desired, and desiring—yet she sought her bed in the dark river of her own accord.

The daughter of a peer, she was. Born in a castle and brought up in gorgeous places of comfort in all the great cities of the world and in her quiet home of beauty, in a quiet English shire.

Unusually clever, light hearted, generous and kind. As beautiful as a princess in a fairy tale. The heiress to a great name—and yet just because she smoked a pipe of opium once—"just for a lark," she was glad to lie down and die in the dark river before she was 27 years old.

How many simple country girls in her native shire have looked at her, do you suppose, and wished they had had half as much to live for as she?

How many poor little pinched, half starved, dead-and-alive shop girls have envied her and wondered why she had "all the luck?"

And now one of them is perhaps a cherished wife in some humble and happy home and the other may be a loving mother, with all the happiness in the world in her two loving arms.

After all, it seems to be what we are and not what we have that counts, doesn't it?

This poor girl who died in the Thames River the other night—She began to smoke opium—for a "lark"—with a group of other boys and girls, as foolish and as reckless as she.

Where did they get the idea?—that isn't hard to guess.

They got it from the theater and from the novels and from the "poetry" about "poppy dreams" and from the foolish talk of foolish folks who don't know a thing about the "poppy dreams" and how easy it is to dream them and how bitter hard to rouse from the dreaming of them.

And after the opium came morphine and then came cocaine. Finally it was all gone—the beauty and the charm and the delicacy, the hopes and the ambitions and the innocent love and innocent friendship that this poor girl knew before she had dreamed the "poppy dreams."

She tried to cure herself; she tried to shake off the chains of the hideous slavery—but she failed—and so they found her in the river.

And someone will doubtless write a novel about it and make it something very beautiful and very wistful and very romantic—and it is all just foolish and cheap and sordid.

Poor girl, I am glad she is at rest—at last.

USING FLOWERS TO DECORATE

By HANNAH WING

THE placing of an arrangement of flowers often determines its form; therefore the position it is to occupy should be considered from the first. The observer's point of view should influence the arrangement. Some plan to look their best in a jar placed on the floor. Pond lilies never look so well as when floating in a shallow dish on a table or a stand that is lower than an ordinary table.

of the centerpiece should repeat the shape of the table; it should be round for a round table, or long and narrow if the table is that shape. The color of the flowers should harmonize with the color of the china and of the room.

Simplicity and fitness are guide words to use in the selection of a centerpiece for any decorative arrangement of flowers, and every homemaker, should have a large variety. This does not necessarily entail a large expense. Many excellent containers may be obtained for less than a dollar, and some can be obtained without money and without price, being the containers for olives, mustard, oil, ginger, or other commodities.

These are much better than the vases, ugly in line, unwieldy in shape, aggressive in color, overloaded with decoration, that are manufactured to sell to the innocent as the unwary. The color of the decoration on the receptacle should be in accord with that which it contains echoing in color, line, or shape, but never vying with these.

The province of the receptacle is to serve; its highest use is to supplement, to enhance, the beauty of the composition, as does the accompanying vase, as does the frame the picture, as does the gown the woman.

A suggestion for the color of receptacles may be taken from the natural environment of the flowers. Swamp orchids spring from gray-green beds of moss, delicately colored flowers of the springtime from the brown leaves of the previous autumn, and later summer flowers from the soft green tints of the sod land.

The province of the receptacle is to serve; its highest use is to supplement, to enhance, the beauty of the composition, as does the accompanying vase, as does the frame the picture, as does the gown the woman.

A suggestion for the color of receptacles may be taken from the natural environment of the flowers. Swamp orchids spring from gray-green beds of moss, delicately colored flowers of the springtime from the brown leaves of the previous autumn, and later summer flowers from the soft green tints of the sod land.

For a long table there may be a central arrangement and others that are subordinate. The shape of the centerpiece should repeat the shape of the table; it should be round for a round table, or long and narrow if the table is that shape. The color of the flowers should harmonize with the color of the china and of the room.

Simplicity and fitness are guide words to use in the selection of a centerpiece for any decorative arrangement of flowers, and every homemaker, should have a large variety. This does not necessarily entail a large expense. Many excellent containers may be obtained for less than a dollar, and some can be obtained without money and without price, being the containers for olives, mustard, oil, ginger, or other commodities.

These are much better than the vases, ugly in line, unwieldy in shape, aggressive in color, overloaded with decoration, that are manufactured to sell to the innocent as the unwary. The color of the decoration on the receptacle should be in accord with that which it contains echoing in color, line, or shape, but never vying with these.

WHERE A RAVEN'S FEATHER IS A GUIDE

WE speak of the frozen North as though it were a myth and not an actuality. But we do not realize when we say the words, "Come and my guide when I need you," that they are literally true, that there are parts of the Northland which are buried under ice for the greater part of the year.

It is for this reason that the Lapps, who dwell in such a frozen land, depend to a great extent on reindeer to supply them with practically all of their material needs. The reindeer furnishes the Lapp with his clothing, the roof over his head, the walls of his dwelling, his food, his thread, his fishing line, his implements and tools.

You can readily see then that the raising of the herd of reindeer is the chief occupation of the Lapp. He and his family follow the migrations of the herd without any hesitation. In the spring, they wander up to the highlands of Lapland, and in the fall they return to the wooded lowlands. For they must wander to those parts of the country where food is to be found.

A raven's feather is the guide to the spot where food is to be found.

He must catch a reindeer. There are no doctors among them. And so they There he picks up the acquired strange practices, in of the poor unfledged they have the utmost faith.

He must sleep with the feather in his hand. After this he lets the feather go in a strong wind and the magic words, "Come and my guide when I need you," the feather will return to him if the raven is still alive and will not return if he is dead.

The Lapps know nothing of the feather's flight against the wind. They are no doctors among them. And so they There he picks up the acquired strange practices, in of the poor unfledged they have the utmost faith.

How to Keep Beauty Fresh

By LUCREZIA BORI, The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

DO you sometimes feel that you have allowed your personal appearance to drop below par for some reason, and that you don't know exactly what is the matter?

Do you sometimes notice that your complexion isn't becoming and that your clothes seem to have lost their snap, and that the whole thing is affecting your mental attitude and your general spirits?

Now, if you feel this way, as all of us are likely to at times, it is safe to say that most of it is probably mental. You may just be a little tired, and that's why things take on less attractive colors and appearances in your eyes.

The first thing I advise is a good course of resting. You can take this, you know, without taking time off from the regular duties of your life. It simply means getting your full eight or nine hours of sleep, eating regular meals, and not rushing from one thing to the other unless you absolutely have to do it.

For instance, if you have to cut down on trifles for a time, just let them go and take the time that you would be using up in gadding about to rest and improve your appearance and your general feelings. There are many people so constituted that they throw themselves with all their energy into whatever activity happens to be at hand. This means they work hard when they work, and that when they play they bring all their energy into this, too. Now this is an ex-

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN By HELEN ROWLAND

JUST LIKE A WOMAN!

NO girl in a sane and fully conscious moment would deliberately marry a "caveman." And yet—every girl carries tucked away in her subconscious mind a picture of the primitive lover, full of "brute force," and quite capable of dragging her around by the hair, if necessary.

No girl really wants a man to be a Don Juan. And yet, somehow, she always dreams of him as having left a trail of broken hearts in his wake, and it pleases her vanity to think that when she marries him many a sweet young thing's life will be "wrecked" forever.

A girl doesn't really want a man to be "masterful," but she loves to muse upon his "iron jaw" and to kid herself with the illusion that he COULD make her obey him, if he cared to.

She would curl right up and die if she thought she loved a "molluscoid." But she delights to persuade herself that she can "wind a man around her little finger," that she "holds him in the hollow of her little hand," and could make him lie down and roll over and jump through hoops—and all that sort of thing.

No intelligent woman would care to be tied for life to a typical moving picture hero—and yet, every girl hugs the thought that her darling COULD be romantic and dashing and foolish and comic-operative if the occasion arose.

No girl admires a walking clothing advertisement, but it DOES satisfy her soul to feel that the man beside her is faultlessly groomed and that his coats are always the smartest cut, his linen exquisite, and his manners charming. Oh, yes!

No girl would think of marrying a spendthrift. And yet it thrills her to see a man pay the check without glancing at it, overtip the waiter and order a limousine instead of a taxi.

Oh, no! No girl actually wants a man to BE the impossible, flawless, picturesque, brilliant twenty-one candle-power, Laura-Jean-Libbey hero of her dreams!

She merely wants a nice, amiable, intelligent Regular Fellow, who is capable of making a graceful, dramatic, thrilling GESTURE at a moment's notice.

She doesn't want a MIRACLE—she merely wants to be "kidded!"

But, alas, no girl ever GETS what she wants!

be completely cured. Such are the they are kindly and generous. medical cures among the Lapps. They always welcome the stranger. The people of the frozen North and they are most thoughtful of are superstitious and primitive, but their animals.

Children's Stories :: Household Hints

Grubby Gopher

Beware of folks who scorn the light,
But love the darkness of the night.

—Old Mother Nature.

WHEN Digger the Badger told Peter Rabbit that when he had lived in the West he had depended on Prairie Dogs for his living he would have gone hungry most of the time, Peter's curiosity was aroused at once. You would know it would be. "If you please, Mr. Badger," said Peter, "what did you live on when you couldn't get Prairie Dog out there in the Far West?"

"Mice," replied Digger. "Were Mice the only folks you hunted beside Yap Yap the Prairie Dog?" Peter asked.

"No," replied Digger. "I had many a good meal on Seek-Seek the Spermophile."

"Goodness me!" exclaimed Peter, "who under the sun is that?"

"That," replied Digger, "is a Ground Squirrel, own cousin to Striped Chipmunk, whom you know so well. It used to be great fun to dig out those Squirrels."

"Was there anybody else that you hunted?" Peter persisted.

"Let me see," said Digger, scratching his head as if he couldn't remember. "Oh, yes, there was Grubby Gopher."

Peter looked more puzzled than ever. "Now, who under the sun is Grubby Gopher?" he asked. "I don't know any one around here by that name."

"Well, if you lived out where I came from you would know him," said Digger. "I must say he is no beauty, but how that fellow can dig!"

"I must say he is no beauty, but how that fellow can dig!"

"Does he dig great deep holes like Yap Yap the Prairie Dog?" Peter asked.

"No," replied Digger; "no, he doesn't dig that kind of a hole at all. Have you ever seen where Miner the Mole has been at work?"

"What a foolish question. Of course I have," retorted Peter. "Any one living on the Green Meadows as long as I have would have to be blind not to have seen the long ridges made by Miner when pushing his tunnels along just under the surface."

Digger nodded. "Just so," said he. "Well, Grubby Gopher digs tunnels the same way Miner does, only he digs them a little deeper and they do not make ridges on the surface. But every little way he throws up a mound of earth."

"Hub, I don't see what he does that for," said Peter.

"To get rid of the dirt," replied Digger. "He has to put that dirt somewhere. So every little way he opens up the tunnel to the surface and pushes the dirt out until there is quite a mound."

"He isn't very smart is he?" said Peter.

"What do you mean, isn't smart?" asked Digger.

"Why, if he keeps making openings into his tunnel like that, what is to prevent enemies from coming in after him?" demanded Peter.

"He closes the door," replied Digger tartly. "Just as soon as he has pushed a load of dirt out he plugs up the hole. The only time he leaves a hole open is when he wants to air out. My, but that fellow certainly has big pockets."

"Pockets!" exclaimed Peter. "Pockets! What kind of pockets?"

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

Several women prominent in New York society have formed a syndicate and will erect for their own occupancy a 14-story co-operative apartment house de luxe.

According to Dr. Nellie B. Cooper, president of the American Cosmetics Society, American women spend more than $5,000,000 daily for beautification purposes.

Many notable women in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania have subscribed toward a million-dollar hotel and club for women to be erected in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Kate Walker, who for 35 years attended the Robbins Reef light in New York harbor, has been pensioned by the Government.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Moths in the Carpet.

If you suspect moths or moth eggs in the rugs or carpet, spread a wet towel smoothly over the carpet and iron over it with a hot iron. The steam will kill the moths.

In the Garden.

That worn bathroom rug will be just the thing for a knee rest for the woman gardener to protect her from dampness and dirt when weeding or planting. Just try using a rug and you will never go back to that awkward stooping posture again.

The Housewives' Exchange.

One pint of milk should serve from 6 to 8 persons for cereal.

Irons will keep hot a long time if kept on the soapstone of a fireless cooker.

You can't beat the slogan, "A Place for Everything and Everything in its Place" in housekeeping.

Put a pan of boiling water in the oven with the rolls while they are baking and the crust will be soft instead of crisp.

All of Monday's Laundry treated like Fine Fabrics

Now LUX TAKES OVER ANOTHER TASK! Now every Monday all your clothes—and your house linen—go into its gentle, magically cleansing radi. How much nicer everything looks after its Lux-washing—how much longer it wears! And Lux is so kind to your hands—like fine toilet soap.

Nowadays everything you wash is too nice to trust to ordinary laundry soap—your hands, too, deserve to be treated with the utmost kindness.

WASHING with ordinary laundry soap is harder on your clothes than the actual wearing of them. And the things you put in the regular weekly laundry are washed so much more often than your finer things! You can't afford to trust them to ordinary bar soap any longer.

Use Lux for the family laundry—magical Lux! See how much longer gingham keeps their fresh, new look. Cuffs wear longer, dimities and muslins don't wear thin and give out so quickly. You get longer service from everything you wash with Lux.

And then—your hands! What a relief Lux is to them after harsh soap. Lux is so kind, so gentle, your hands don't mind Monday a bit now!

Rid your hands of that in-the-dishpan look!

In the water an hour and a half every day washing the dishes—your poor faithful hands. Spare them that coarsened red look that comes from using strong kitchen soap. Use Lux for washing dishes. Its quick rich suds are every bit as easy on your hands as fine toilet soap. A single teaspoonful is all you need! Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Now the Convenient
Big Package, too

A little Lux goes so far it's an economy to use it

3 Inspection Days...Thursday-- Friday--Saturday Semi-Annual SALE Starts Next MONDAY

THE next three days present an advance opportunity to make selections at the sale prices and have the goods selected held for your order till the opening of the sale. The Man on the Sandbox by
L. C. Dams

A SUMMER IDYL

O, I would I were an Esquimo,
I'd gaily skip from floe to floe

And build myself a house of snow
And twist the blankets slumber;

With nothing to disturb my sleep,
My slumber would be calm and deep.

And, in my igloo I would keep
As cool as a cucumber.

When it was hitting 92,
O, thereabouts in old Mizzou,

I'd write a postal card or two
To friends I'd left behind me.

And tell them all about the way
I climb an iceberg every day.

And, in the Polar League to play,
Old Boreas had signed me.

I'd write them: "Wish that you were Here,

In this delightful atmosphere,
Where there is not the slightest fear

Of sunstroke in the summer.
Last night the weather nipped my toes

And all the running water froze—
When in the morning I arose,

I had to call a plumber."

QUITE SO.

The man on the sandbox says it seems to be a contest between the weather and the pennant race to see which is the hottest.

Harry Rice, who has been losing the ball in the bleachers, showed his versatility the other day by losing one in the sun.

Incidentally the opposing pitchers have been finding that Rice is no pudding for anybody.

TOO TRUE.

Joe Stecher spurs an offer of $20,000 to meet Jimmy London.
Jimmy is a tough baby and there are more tender infants to be had for the same money.

"Policeman Fined $10 for Losing Revolver."

Keep your eye on the gun, boys!

"Ban Dice Game an Hour; Gets Five Years."

Indicating that the Judge had him faded.

That's bad enough, but it is better than an indeterminate sentence of from 7 to 11 years.

To the man on the sandbox, the outstanding feature of the trial at Dayton, Tenn., is number of high-priced lawyers working for nothing.

In the meantime the monkeys out at the Zoo seems to have taken on an air of quiet dignity in striking contrast to their former frivolous demeanor.

"Mike's" bicycle lies neglected in a corner of the cage while its owner gravely scratches his head and views his homogenous visitors with an air of calm superiority.

STATE RESTS ON BRIEF TESTIMONY AGAINST SCOPES

Three Hours Required to Present Prosecution's Evidence Against Evolution Case Defendant.

TWO SCHOOL BOYS
ON WITNESS STAND

Testify Young Teacher Told Them That Man Descended From Lower
Form of Life.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 16.—The case of the State of Tennessee against John Thomas Scopes, which has aroused the world, was begun and completed yesterday afternoon in a little less than three hours. That is to say, the testimony, the presentation of the actual evidence against Scopes, required only that time. Briefly, it consisted of the testimony of two high school boys, a ready stipulation by the defense that two others would tell the same story, the testimony of Superintendent of Schools White and Chairman of the School Board Robinson, one volume of Hunter's "Civic Biology," and the first two chapters of Genesis. That was the sum total of it. That was the renowned prosecution.

It seemed painfully as if the mountain had labored, alarming the world with its heaving, and had brought forth a mouse.

The high school boys testified Scopes had taught them that man descended from a lower order of life. White and Robinson testified that Scopes in his presence had admitted teaching evolution and the textbook and Genesis spoke for themselves. And the State rested.

Last night Scopes complained to the writer about the scantiness of the evidence against him.

"Shoot," he said. "I thought they would make a better case than that. Under it's a real case. The Judge didn't throw it out."

We were standing at that moment on the sidewalk in front of Robinson's drug store. Just then Howard Morgan, one of the boys who had testified, came along. Scopes seized him, playfully by the arm.

"What was the matter with you, Howard?" he demanded. "Have you forgotten all I taught you?"

"I told them all I could remember, but I was so scared I couldn't ask them a lot of hard questions that I forgot most of it," Howard replied.

White's Testimony. Superintendent White testified that Scopes admitted to him about the first of May, during conversation in Robinson's drug store, that he was teaching evolution in the high school. White said that he and G. W. Rappleyea, the mining engineer, had been discussing the new anti-evolution law, and that Scopes, along with Rappleyea, asked him if he was violating the law.

"Certainly, and so is every biology teacher in Tennessee. It is impossible to teach biology without teaching evolution," he said.

Scopes replied, Rappleyea said, Robinson's shelves took down a volume of Hunter's civic biology and they went over to chapters which referred to evolution. Scopes said he had taught those, and had reviewed the book shortly before the close of school. The State turned White over to Darrow.

Darrow immediately drew from White the edifying admission that the text book was the one officially designated by the Tennessee Text Book Commission for use in the schools, and that Scopes had no choice but to teach it. In other words, the State is prosecuting him for teaching a book that it compelled him to teach.

In reply to another question, he said that Scopes' work in the school had been perfectly satisfactory.

School Boy on Stand. Howard Morgan, 14 years old, took the stand in white shirt and duck trousers, sleeves rolled up, collar down, and skin brown as a berry. He had studied elementary science under Scopes. The professor, he said, told the class, "At first the earth was too hot for life to exist on it. After it cooled off, the plant life appeared. The sea came, and it kept on evolving until it was a pretty good sized animal, then it became a land animal, and the climax of all this was man."

There was derisive laughter from the courtroom.

Howard said that Scopes taught that man was a mammal, and classified him with cats, dogs, cows, horses and lions.

Darrow's cross-examination of the youthful witness was a marvel of simplicity, penetration and its calculated effect on the jury.

"Scopes didn't say a man was the same as a cat, did he?" he inquired.

"No, he said that man possessed a reasoning power that they didn't have."

"Well, I think there's some doubt about the truth of that," remarked Darrow, "but anyhow that's what he said. Did he list whales with man and cats and other mammals?"

Howard pondered.

"I'm not sure about the whales," he answered earnestly, but the rest was lost in laughter from the courtroom. Howard looked hurt.

"Did he teach you anything else wicked?" asked Darrow. "No, sir."

Darrow's questions were being put in a sympathetic manner. He was not antagonizing the boy.

Darrow took the text book, and in a sentence he reviewed the simple definition of mammals and repeated a rudimentary sketch of the evolutionary process all in two sentences, concluding: "That's what he taught you, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir."

"It hasn't hurt you any, has it, Howard?" The reply was an emphatic, "No, sir."

The next was Harry Sheldon, 17. He had studied biology. All he remembered from the eight months of it under Scopes was that Scopes had said all life, including man, came from a single cell.

"Did anybody ever tell you anything different?" asked Darrow. "No, sir."

"Do you belong to the church?" Harry said he did.

"You didn't quit going to church after Scopes told you that all life came from a single cell?" "No, sir."

"That's all."

At one time as Darrow read from the biology textbook he stopped and remarked: "I suppose I'd be arrested for this if it wasn't that I'm a lawyer instead of a teacher."

Robinson, the drugist and School Board chairman, corroborated Supt. White's testimony about what Scopes said, repeating Scopes' remark that every biology teacher in Tennessee was violating the anti-evolution law and couldn't help it.

Darrow elicited the fact that Robinson sold the book, and jealously admonished him: "Somebody ought to advise you that you don't have to answer that question. It might incriminate you." The genial pharmacist didn't seem worried. He said he had been selling it for six years.

"Have you noticed any mental or moral deterioration in the community growing out of it?" asked Darrow, but Attorney-General Stewart objected and there was no answer.

Stewart read the first two chapters of Genesis into the record while Robinson was on the stand. He already had introduced the biology textbook as an exhibit.

Hays' Objection. Arthur Garfield Hays had interposed a strenuous objection to the introduction of the King James version of the Bible, the common Protestant version, in evidence, and seemingly raised a knotty question.

Malone in his address said that the defense would seek to prove that primarily the theory of evolution was not in conflict with Christianity and secondarily, that Scopes was not guilty as charged. He asserted that the outlawing of the teaching of evolution would put a ban on geology, physiology, biology, astronomy and other scientific studies, and would cripple the progress of agriculture and other industries.

During Hays' arguments, Judge Raulston questioned the attorney as to his understanding of White's testimony yesterday in regard to the expiration of a contract authorizing textbooks. John R. Neal interposed to say that the contract authorized the teaching of the books provided, leaving the books in full force.

Bryan's Suggestion. W. J. Bryan spoke in the case for the second time, rising to suggest that the passage of the statute forbidding the teaching of evolution theories suspended all textbooks in conflict with the law. Hays spoke of "Mr. Bryan," suggesting that perhaps he should say "the distinguished leader of the prosecution." The court said that William Jennings Bryan Sr. had not yet made an argument in the case, and anything he might have said outside of the courtroom would not be competent discussion in argument. Bryan called attention to the fact that he was not the leader of the prosecution, but merely associate counsel, and that Attorney-General Stewart was in charge of the State's case.

Stewart announced that he "bowed" to Bryan.

Robert E. Hicks followed with a speech stressing the position that scientific testimony has no place in the case.

Hicks stated that the State would make any effort to convert the courtroom into a high school or college. He suggested that the State should have a right to challenge three without fear and the "whole bunch" for cause.

McKenzie Speaks. Ben T. McKenzie, former Attorney-General, contended that the question of scientific testimony was outside the issues involved.

"I may not be able to decide this today," said Judge Raulston. "We trust you will decide at once," said Darrow.

Malone broke in: "Your honor, we have brought witnesses, many of them from a great distance. They are busy men and we would like to have this settled at once."

"Well," said the court, "We'll see."

McKenzie emphatically denied that the language of the Bible was ambiguous. Quoting from the story of divine creation, the speaker said, "This is a much more reasonable story to me than that God threw a substance into the sea and made six thousand years. I'll make something out of you."

Discusses Bible Teachings. The speaker in telling "what my Bible teaches me," discussed the teachings of the Bible in some detail with attorneys for the defense. That McKenzie was testifying as an expert "on the other side," the expert testimony had not been admitted. The Dayton lawyer countered with the statement that Malone made a speech on evolution yesterday while apparently stating the issues in the case.

Questioned by Hays during his argument, McKenzie asked Hays: "Do you believe the divine story of creation?"

"That is none of your business," shouted Hays.

"Then don't ask me any more impertinent questions," said McKenzie.

At the suggestion of the Court, apologies were exchanged.

Number of Spectators Limited to the Seating Capacity.

For the first time in the trial, deputies limited the number of spectators today to those for whom seats were available. This would reduce the daily attendance by several hundred.

To prevent the loss of press chairs to the spectators, which occurred yesterday, one reporter brought in a heavy chain and padlock to secure his seat today.

The morning prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. Allen, a visiting churchman.

Dr. Maynard M. Metcalf, professor of zoology and long engaged in research in that field, again took the stand. The zoologist started his testimony yesterday with the jury excluded.

Before Dr. Metcalf could answer Clarence Darrow's first question on evolution, Attorney-General Stewart objected to continuation of this testimony, the State claiming the witness had testified at sufficient length to show the nature of the testimony.

UNIVERSITY WATCHMAN FINED $50 FOR KILLING TWO DOGS

Police Judge Refuses to Reopen Case Against Columbia Man.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
COLUMBIA, Mo., July 16.—Orville H. Barnett, attorney for the University of Missouri, appeared in Police Court today and attempted to have a case against Frank Coons, a night watchman at the university, who pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon of killing two dogs on the campus by beating them to death with an iron bar, reopened.

Judge Shaw informed Barnett the case could not be reopened. Coons was charged with unnecessarily and cruelly beating and needlessly mutilating a dumb animal, to-wit: A dog, said dog belonging to and being the property of F. W. Neidermeyer and Miss Sabra Neidermeyer.

He appeared in court yesterday without an attorney and was fined $50 and costs and lectured on the property rights in dogs under the Missouri law and criticized for the brutal manner in which he killed the dogs.

Coons said that there were a number of dogs on the campus. He admitted that he kicked two of them into a pool and then got an iron bar and beat them to death. The dog belonging to Neidermeyer was a white spitz. The other was a hound.

The old Clark Clark song still reverberates in this court and he got a kick kicking my dog round," said Judge Shaw, concluding his lecture.

BANKERS VISIT LONG FARM Convention to Elect Officers at KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 16.—

Business was put aside and delegates to the annual convention of the American Institute of Banking met here today. A trip to the farm of R. A. Long, was followed last night by a box supper and a swimming party and a dance at a local amusement park. The Yammering Club, captaining the team of Yakima, Wash., upholding the affirmative, won the annual debate. The question was on whether tax free securities should be abolished. The Des Moines, Ia., chapter upheld the negative.

Departmental meetings were continued today. Candidates for candidates for office are to be held tonight. Election of officers will be held tomorrow.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 16.—Jesse C. Jones, Orville T. Jones and E. J. McKeen, life prisoners at the State Penitentiary, escaped from Memphis, Tenn., today, and are expected to reach Chattanooga and Knoxville.

Lloyd Lowe and Roland T. Henley, also from Memphis, last night escaped from the penitentiary through the airshaft, getting a key to its steel-barred door.

Train Kills Boy Sleeping on Tracks.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., July 16.—Leo Haney, 14 years old, traveling from Arkansas with his father, was fatally injured by a Missouri Pacific freight train at Williamsburg, Mo., today.

The railroad track accident occurred on their way to Gary, Ind., and ran out of funds at Williamsburg. At 6 a. m. the father left the boy at the station to get something to eat and the boy went to the track, sat down and fell asleep.

McKenzie Speaks. Ben T. McKenzie, former Attorney-General, contended that the question of scientific testimony was outside the issues involved.

Sidelights on Scopes Trial

DAYTON, Tenn., July 16.

HOWS this for irony? Last night the defendant, Scopes, complained bitterly to the writer that the State hadn't made a strong case against him, especially in the prosecution of witnesses, a former pupil, for failing to tell all that he knew when on the witness stand. It illustrates one of the elements which makes this the most astounding, the most incredible and most fantastic criminal prosecution ever conducted in modern times. Here's another: The Superintendent of Schools, on the witness stand, testifies that the textbook out of which Scopes taught evolution, for which the state is now prosecuting him, was the textbook officially designated by the State, and that Scopes had to teach it to hold his job.

Look again. Paris, London, Berlin and Athens newspapers are publishing dispatches describing the prosecution of "Prof. John Thomas Scopes, the American biologist." Last night, and every night for that matter, I observed this "Prof. John Thomas Scopes," principal in a great test case which involves the freedom of thought and the separation of church and state, riding up Market street in an old yellow roadster, bareheaded and wearing a blue shirt, stopping every once in a while by the curb to chat with the flappers of Dayton. A few hours later he was trotting in the approved collegiate style on a pine board floor with a shop girl.

But make no mistake. Paris, London, Berlin and Athens have not overestimated the importance of the case. It is the principle—not the principal—that is important. And John Thomas Scopes is a very modest, likable, freckled youth, too, who is conducting himself with admirable good sense. He understands that about the principle—and the principal.

The most confirmed of all fundamentalists are women. It is to them that Bryan makes his most successful appeals—to these brown, bent and wizened women with suckling babies in their arms and all hope gone from their eyes, save the weary, desperate, agonized hope that somewhere in the beyond there must be a better world than this, a world without washboards, without endless meals of cold, without endless pants of childbirth. They will fight to keep that vision. Do you blame them? It is all they have.

On another occasion the lusty gendarme halted the proceedings to announce that somebody had lost a notebook in the lobby of the Hotel Aquia and would pay a $5 reward for its return. Be quiet, now, respect the court.

As Judge Raulston read his lengthy decision yesterday, a policeman stood over him and fanned him with a palm leaf. The judge's thin blond hair straggled limply in the breeze from the fan as he frowned on and on, facing the microphone of the radio broadcasting set.

Judge Raulston interrupted the trial yesterday afternoon long enough to announce in a pained tone that it was impossible for him to come down from the bench and meet friends in the courtroom. He wanted to greet him, and that was equally impossible for him to obtain seats for them. To add to the gravity of the incident, the leather-lunged policeman, who acts as court crier, vociferously repeated his honor's statement word for word.

Father Seeks Custody of Child. Theron A. Groves, son of Albert B. Groves, architect, of 5419 Maple avenue, is suing his former father-in-law, for modification of a divorce decree granted to her in December, 1923, with custody of their 4-year-old daughter, Jeanne Marquita. Mrs. Groves now resides at 6323 Delmar boulevard.

Graves contended she is not qualified to have custody of the child and to receive alimony. He asked that alimony of $40 a month, which was granted by the court, and a $40 monthly allowance for support of the child, be revoked and custody of the girl awarded to his parents, with whom he resides.

Willie Hoppe to Wed Actress. By the Associated Press.
MANHATTAN, N. Y., July 16.—The engagement of Dorothy Dowsey, Broadway actress, to Willie Hoppe, former champion billiard player, was announced today by her parents. The wedding is to be late in August. Hoppe divorced his first wife in New York State last July. Miss Dowsey has appeared in several New York theatrical productions.

Treated for Heat Prostration. A man and a boy were treated at city hospital yesterday for heat prostration. They were Eugene Brinkley, 2 years old, of 1904 Mendon street, and Leo Kirchoff, 31, of 6220 Michigan avenue. Both returned to their homes.

MUSEUM TO MAKE MOVIE FILMS OF ITS ART TREASURES

Metropolitan of New York to Distribute Strips at Rental Fee of $5 a Reel.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 16.—Art, with a capital "A," has discovered the movies.

Sponsored by no less an institution than the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the celluloid strip that immortalized the egyptian, the Greek and the Roman, is now being used to give Egyptian history, heraldy and Greek mythology the same chance to become household favorites.

The Museum announced today that, following the success of experimental films last year, the Metropolitan henceforth will have a permanent place in its program of educational work. Films will be made either in the museum or elsewhere under the direction of its officials, and will be distributed to other museums, art societies, schools and clubs at a rental fee of $5 for each reel.

Pictures already planned include one to be taken in the Department of Armor, illustrating the development of that form of dress, and one which will show the development of the rifle from the bow and arrow.

Others proposed are "The Spectre," illustrating New England life in the seventeenth century; "The Gorgon's Head," telling the story of the slaying of the Medusa by Perseus, and "The Making of a Pharaoh," in which a Pharaoh's statue of Theodore Roosevelt will be used.

"If he regarded the note as a subsisting and valid obligation given to him in good faith, it is difficult to believe that he would, even under the nervous strain under which he was laboring, have deliberately done an act which constituted a fraud upon his creditors. For if this note was a valid obligation to him to himself, it constituted a part of the assets of which his creditors had a right to look for the payment of his debts. In actual fact his creditors would enforce his personal liability on his indorsement of the corporation paper, he destroyed the note. If the creditors had enforced their rights against him and had faced him with this transaction, what would have been his defense other than that the note was never given in the expectation that it would be paid, but was merely one of the steps in a device to avoid taxation on his income?"

Deal Not a Sale, Board Rules.
The taxpayer is voluble in his protestation that the transaction was an actual sale entered into in good faith between himself and his wife. But the facts of record in this case speak more eloquently as to the real nature of the transaction between the taxpayer and his wife, which was not a sale.

Evidence before the board also showed that Mrs. Fouke, after the original transfer, indorsed the stock in blank and placed it and the note in Fouke's safe deposit box.

The board held that this was a loan, or between related parties engaged in a business transaction, such an arrangement is inconceivable.

Fouke is now president of the Fouke Fur Co. His home is at 20 Westmoreland place. He was a member of the Police Board under Gov. Gardner, and was Co. Guard in the First Regiment, Home Guard, in the war period. At Charlevoix, Mich., today, he declined to discuss the action of the Tax Appeal Board in his case.

CAPE GRIS-NEZ, France, July 16.—Miss Lillian Harrison, a fine swimmer, today was abandoned her attempt to swim English Channel five miles.

Dover, on the English side. Miss Harrison was in the water eight hours and 17 minutes, when she was forced to give up the attempt because of cold and exhaustion.

Miss Harrison started from Cape Gris-Nez, near Boulogne, at 10 o'clock this morning.

The swimmer's parents, newspaper correspondents, barked at Boulogne on the race, which accompanied her.

Miss Harrison's two previous attempts were both made last year. The first she was forced to give up because of a cold and sharp rock. In the second attempt, she was forced to give up because of a cold and sharp rock.

She first achieved international notice in 1921, when she swam 21 hours down the river Parana in Brazil. In the same year she swam the estuary of the River Plate, a notable feat.

Miss Gertrude Ederle of United States, is training for the English Channel, under the guidance of an English swimmer, to swim the channel.

$50,000 PRIZES AT LOTTERY FOR CITY BOND HOLDERS
1176 Winning Numbers for the Players When New Orleans, La., Lottery Commission Announces Results.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW ORLEANS, July 16.—The lottery wheel, the center of the bitterest fight in Louisiana, was spun for the last time. The approval of law in New Orleans yesterday.

The dealer was the city of Orleans and the players were the holders of 50-year premium bonds issued by the city in 1876, to pay off an indebtedness of $500,000. The stake was pronounced $50,000. The players numbered 10,000. There were 1176 winning numbers.

The lottery was arranged by the administration of Mayor C. J. Davis. Bernard Shibus, secretary of the Board of Finance, planned the lottery since 1910, and presided at the final drawing off today. Shortly after the drawing was made, half a century ago, the city started retiring the bonds by the lottery method. The bonds were retired in 1910, and the city as an added attraction.

The accrued interest on the standing bonds totaled two and a half times the par value of the bonds, each $20 bondholder, and a $10 addition is paid on the lottery for the redemption of the $50,000 premiums. The capital prize was $5000 and lowest prize was $20. The money was appropriated by the city, over and above the redemption value of the bonds with interest.

During the time the bonds have been outstanding, the city, by time to time, has purchased a investment, numbers of the bonds, current market prices, so that the final drawing was made the day before the bonds were retired.

WOMAN FAILS TO SWIM CHANNEL

Lillian Harrison Within Five Miles of Goal When Forced to Abandon Effort.

By the Associated Press.
CAPE GRIS-NEZ, France, July 16.—Miss Lillian Harrison, Argentine swimmer, today was forced to abandon her attempt to swim the English Channel five miles from Dover, on the English side.

Miss Harrison was in the water eight hours and 57 minutes. Constriction caused by cold forced her to abandon her attempt.

Miss Harrison started from Cape Gris-Nez, near Boulogne, at 4:30 o'clock this morning.

The swimmer's parents and newspaper correspondents embarked at Boulogne on the tug Albatross, which accompanied her.

Miss Harrison's two previous attempts were both made last year. The first she was forced to abandon when she injured a leg on a sharp rock. In the second she gave up because of adverse currents, after being in the water eight hours.

She first achieved international notice in 1923, when she swam for 21 hours down the river Parana in Brazil. In the same year she swam the estuary of the river Plata, a notable feat.

Miss Gertrude Ederle of the United States, is training at Brighton, England, under John Wolfe, well-known English swimmer, to swim the channel.

$50,000 PRIZES AT LOTTERY FOR CITY BOND HOLDERS

1176 Winning Numbers for 10,000 Players When New Orleans Pays Off $2,000,000 Obligation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW ORLEANS, July 16.—The lottery wheel, the center of one of the bitterest fights in local state politics a quarter of a century ago, was spun for the last time with approval of law—in New Orleans yesterday.

The dealer was the city of New Orleans and the players were the holders of 50-year premium bonds issued by the city in 1875, to pay off an indebtedness of $2,000,000. The stake was premiums totaling $50,000. The players numbered 10,000. There were 1176 winning numbers.

The lottery was arranged during the administration of Mayor Charles R. Leche. Herday, Leche, secretary of the Board of Liquidation, planned the lottery 50 years ago, and presided at the final payoff today. Shortly after the issue was made, half a century ago, the city started retiring the bonds by the lottery method. The bonds to be retired at any given time were determined by lottery, with prizes as an added attraction.

The accrued interest on the outstanding bonds totaled two and a half times the par value of the bonds, each $20 bondholder receiving $70 in addition to partial payment of the principal. The interest was $5000 and the principal prize was $20. The prize money was appropriated by the city, over and above the redemption value of the bonds with interest.

GUESSING ABOUT POLICE ENLIVEN BEAN GUESSING

Tuberculosis Game Contest to Award Prizes, Shares Interest With Doubt as to Its Operation.

PLAN SUSTAINED BY COURT ORDER

Usual Gala Occasion at Ball Park, With Entertainment by Boys and Girls From Playgrounds.

Guessing the number of beans in the five-gallon bottle at yesterday's annual "Tuberculosis baseball game" shared interest at Sportsman's Park yesterday with guessing whether the bean guessing was going to be allowed by the police.

Circuit Judge Miller had the last guess while the crowd of about 16,000 was gathering for the festivities, and issued a temporary injunction against police interference, so the estimating contest was not stopped. This upheld the guess of the Tuberculosis Society lawyers.

For 10 past years chances on valuable gifts had gone with the more cards sold by young women, but this year's police gambling crusade changed and the score cards were accompanied by slips entitling the purchaser to register his estimate of the number of beans in the jar. When the grand march of performers before the stands was held yesterday, the bean jar brought up the rear, riding in state on a silver delivery car. A spy glass would hardly have helped in guessing at the contents, but everybody was reassured by the sight, even though some spectators "guessed" the cops would come in a minute.

Until next Thursday the jar will remain on view at close range at Tuberculosis society headquarters, 209 North Seventh street, and until then all holders of the score cards can register their guesses on the number of beans there. In addition, each slip, upon payment of one cent, entitles the holder to a donated gift, such as a loaf of bread, cake of ice, can of automobile grease and so on. Furthermore, under a feature designed to frustrate the police claim of gambling, persons who entered the park gratis after the fifth inning of the ball game can use free slips handed them in recording guesses.

Ruling of Court.

He who comes nearest to estimating the number of beans will receive an attractive automobile coach. There are 50 lesser prizes for those who aren't such good guessers. Judge Miller said, in effect, that this sort of arrangement to boost attendance at the event and increase the society's income for health promotion was not gambling. Society officials say the police threats kept down the attendance, thereby reducing the income.

It was the usual gala occasion at the ball park, the crowd being augmented by the call of charity and its attendant features. At noon the people began arriving, though it was almost two hours before the program was under way. Boys, girls and young women from the city and county, playing on the playgrounds, through the co-operation of the municipal, recreation authorities, The Letter Carriers and Jefferson Barracks Band furnished music.

"Health tumbler" were the first. They were well named. It took healthy youngsters to gyrate through rigid poses and elastic springing out there on the mats near home plate. Then several groups gave "dances of the nations" and the crowd had an unlooked-for guessing chance—what were the first and last names? One guess is hereby registered that they were, respectively, Russian and American Colonial. Anyway, the "fur-trimmed" red costumes of the first and the dainty frocks of the third agreed with vaudeville versions of period dress.

A Highland Fling.

There was no doubt about it. Dance No. 2—"wee-lash-doin" the Highland fling while the pipes played. The crowd was much amused by the cute essay of 2-year-old Constance Croghan to follow the steps of the Colonial fiddle. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Croghan of 5203 Cote Brilliante avenue.

A large group of girls and young women, attired in sleeveless white middie blouses, black trunks and hose, went through an intricate calisthenics display with American flags waving in all hands. Next 27 teams of six girls each from the playgrounds ran a shuttle relay race in narrow 50-yard courses. University City winning on the basis of time. A group of clowns in ridiculous attire brought laughter as they mimicked ballplayers.

Then the 118 boys who had run a two and one-half mile race from playgrounds Park, dashed, limped or trotted into the park, around Boy Scouts, who were living course markers, and across the line before the grandstand. It was a hot day for youthful runners and

Brothers Steal Away To Play, One Drowned

Second Boy Almost Loses His Life When He Slips Off Barge on River—Mother Warned Them.

Although warned by their mother to stay away from the river, and punished previously by her for having disobeyed, two boys yielded to the appeal of the Mississippi and its willow mudflats yesterday. Elmer Theriac, 13 years old, fell from an abandoned barge about a quarter mile below the Free Bridge and was drowned while attempting to rescue his brother, Frederick, 14, who narrowly escaped drowning. The older boy is under a doctor's care at his home, 318 Valentine street, East St. Louis.

Elmer was going "junking" in the dumps, he told his mother, Mrs. Della Watson, which he usually did during vacation, making 40 or 50 cents a day for picture show money. Richard sealed the fence and disappeared. But in a patch of corn on the way to the river they had hidden fishing poles, a can of worms and lines the evening before. Edmund Bennett, 12, of 920 Valentine street, met them.

Had Fed Pigeons.

Elmer already had fed Pedro and Bill, his two pet pigeons, where some of the boys were pretty well exhausted. Chester Probst of Clayton High School, who won last year's race, was winner again; time, 14 minutes and 18 seconds. Joe Trendall of Fremont School, second by nine seconds, gave an exhibition of gameness when he fell down on the last stretch but struggled up and finished. He was second last year. Chester Vorbeck of Soudan High finished again as third.

Cups were presented to the winners on the field by Mayor Miller, who was all smiles, and then the chief event began as the "sams of the Browns and Boston Red Sox" warmed up. There was a tie for the St. Louis holiday, the Browns winning, 11-2.

Police Prevent Gift of Prizes by Business Men's Association.

The Grand-Arsenal Business Men's Association tried to give away 300 bags of groceries to their customers at a picnic at Forest Park Highlands yesterday, but the police, deciding that it was gambling, appeared shortly after noon, ordered the arrangement canceled and took into custody three men who were gathering names of customers for prizes. The men were taken to the Mounted District Station, but were released when no charges upon which to book them could be found. An officer was then stationed on the picnic ground to arrest anybody who attempted to give away the prizes.

Officers of the association said the plan involved no gambling and had been approved by City Councilor Sent. The bags contained the same articles and were to be distributed indiscriminately.

SIX WARRANTS FOR PROMOTER AND TWO AIDS

Jacob K. Karchmer and Ticket-Selling Cohorts Accused of Conspiracy to Defraud.

When Jacob K. Karchmer, the high-powered ticket-selling manager, and his 17 super-salesmen got busy on a promotion enterprise, speed was the watchword. It was this speed and a tendency to cut corners that resulted in their arrest yesterday.

Today Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Mueller gave a four-wheel brake demonstration of stopping the progress of the sales machine. The demonstration consisted of issuance of six warrants against Karchmer and two of his cohorts. Detectives Jordan and Grubbs stopped the speedster and towed it to police headquarters yesterday after a raid on Karchmer's offices in the Benoit Building, Ninth and Pine streets. In addition they carted off his office records and brought to the station five messengers, boy boys and a girl, who were used as witnesses today.

The raid was made on complaint of W. S. Green, head of the American Rescue Workers here, following an investigation of Karchmer's activities by the Better Business Bureau. Green declared Karchmer had handled the ticket sales for a motion picture, "The Fall of Jerusalem and the Passion Play," given at the Odeon June 26 and 27. He said Karchmer had refused to give to the A. R. W. the 25 per cent of the ticket receipts which he promised.

Ousted From Legion Post.

When he was ousted from the Jerome L. Goldman Post of the American Legion last summer, after a row over his business methods, Karchmer admitted that he promoted dances as a side line. Investigation by the Better Business Bureau has shown he has handled dance and entertainment ticket sales for various organizations, receiving from 60 to 80 per cent of the receipts.

The four offices in the Benoit Building, with their 23 telephones, bore evidence of the high-powered sales methods which are Karchmer's. In one telephone room alone there were 15 telephones and here worked the stars in Karchmer's troupe of ticket sellers, who uniformly introduced themselves as "Dr. Nelson."

At the time of the raid they were "plugging" ticket sales for the dance and entertainment of the United Workers for the Blind of Missouri on Aug. 3. In such a work it was not unusual for the salesmen to have uniformity of attack and so, on each telephone desk, the raiders found a "canned" telephone conversation which read as follows:

"Hello, Mr. Nelson? This is Dr. G. C. Nelson speaking. I have been appointed on the charity staff of the United Workers for the Blind of Missouri, and am assisting them now in the disposal of their tickets for their second annual benefit ball and entertainment which will be held at Hotel Chase."

"I am giving them a few hours of my leisure time this morning to help the blind folks out and to sell a few of their tickets for them. I am calling on my friends and a few other prominent people in your neighborhood to take some of these tickets. It will be a very worthy cause."

If this "spiel" brought a sale, and it often did, messenger boys were dispatched with the tickets and the salesman got 25 cents for each $1 in sales.

Among the employees of his office, Karchmer explained to the raiders, was a Dr. Nelson, who had gone to the ball game yesterday, and unfortunately could not greet the detectives. Dr. Nelson forgot his coat when he left and the detectives are holding it for him.

Dr. Nelson, it appears, had kindly consented to allow his untitled associates to use his name and professional appellation. The title always makes an impression. Karchmer explained to the raiders, and makes a sale more likely.

"Pep" Talk on Blackboard.

There were other evidences of the superpressure methods of business employed by Karchmer. On a blackboard in the office, for example, detectives found a "pep" talk from the chief to his men. It read as follows:

That extra morning wink. Will make your bonus shrink. Be on time. We begin at nine. Ordinarily, the messengers told he established last night.

BARING IS SANE, MUST STAND TRIAL FOR MURDER PLOT

New Yorker, Adjudged Insane a Year Ago, Is Charged With Trying to Poison His Wife.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 16.—Clarence O. Baring of White Plains, who was adjudged insane in June last year while on trial for alleged attempt to kill his wife by poison, has been found sane by a commission of alienists sitting at the Matteawan State Hospital for the Insane.

It is expected he will be taken back to White Plains today, where he will be held for trial.

Westchester County Judge William T. Bleakley, who appointed the commission which declared Baring insane, was notified yesterday of the reversal of findings at Matteawan.

Charles Long of White Plains, attorney for Baring in his trial, refused to comment. It is expected, however, that upon Baring's arrival at White Plains he will be taken before Judge Bleakley and his release on bail will be sought. He was at liberty in $25,000 bail before his trial.

District Attorney Arthur Rowland, in charge of the prosecution of Baring, is on vacation, but he has repeatedly made it known that he would place Baring on trial again if he should be declared sane.

Emmanuel M. Steinblir, attorney for Mrs. Baring, said:

"We are of the same mind as we were when Baring was on trial before. Mrs. Baring will go through with the prosecution. I did not think Baring was insane before and I do not think so now."

Mrs. Baring was said to be in the country near Providence, R. I. No court with a jury will meet in Westchester until fall, so it is not expected Baring will be brought to trial again this summer.

Baring, a manufacturer's agent, was indicted April 27, 1924, charged with seeking the death of his wife by placing arsenic and germs of pneumonia, diphtheria and typhoid in her food.

Authorities disclosed a story of love and intrigue between Baring and Miss Mildred Beam, a teacher of Elizabeth, N. J., and charged that Baring was trying to kill his wife so that his relations with Miss Beam might be unhampered.

Stole $106 From Housemaid.

A thief in the home of Wm. W. Neldinghaus, 4629 Pershing avenue, yesterday stole $106 from the room of Nellie Hickey, a maid. The family is out of the city. The maid told policemen she had allowed a stranger to use the telephone during the day. She said the money shortly thereafter.

50 HELD AFTER A GIRL BETRAYS COUNTERFEIT RING

"Wholesalers" and "Retailers." The "wholesalers" in which class the eight last arrested are believed to belong, sold the "queer" to the "retailers" or "passers" for about 30 cents on the dollar, he said. The victims of the scheme were mostly keepers of small shops.

Some of the seized bills, believed to be the most recent product of the counterfeiters, showed signs of being made from a much worn plate and for this reason they were mostly keepers of small shops.

While the Secret Service men were checking up on their haul, detectives arrested William Tyssen, 22 years old, of 435 East 131st street, the Bronx, after a chase through Broadway, Brooklyn, precipitated by a shopkeeper who charged Tyssen with passing a fake $20 note.

IMPOSSIBLE TO DOUBT PROOFS OF EVOLUTION, SCIENTIST SAYS, ON STAND

Scopes Jury Excluded While Dr. Maynard M. Metcalf, Johns Hopkins Zoologist, Describes the Origin of Man.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 16.—A famous scientist sitting in the witness chair at the Scopes trial yesterday told what evolution is, and what some of the proofs for it are. The jury which must decide whether School Teacher Scopes denied the Bible when he taught evolution did not hear the narrative; it had been excluded; it may never hear it. Judge Ruskon will rule later on whether such evidence is proper, but the Judge, the lawyers, the newspaper men and a courtroom packed with free-lance fundamentalists, listened closely to it. The scientist was Dr. Maynard M. Metcalf, research professor of zoology at Johns Hopkins University, author of a hundred books, treatises and scientific articles, the product of an intensive special study which he has pursued unbroken over a period of more than 40 years.

"Evidence Overwhelming."

Replying to a blunt question by Clarence Darrow, chief defense attorney, concerning the proofs of evolution, the great scholar as bluntly replied: "The entire series of evidences of the evolution of man from a lower form of life are so convincing, so overwhelming, that it would be impossible for any normal human being who was conversant with them to entertain one moment's doubt as to the fact of evolution."

Again, replying to another question, he sought emphatically to make clear that the theories of evolution are theories of how it occurred, not whether or not it did occur. That it did occur is beyond question, he said, but there are many theories of how it occurred. It has.

"Evolution and the theories of evolution are fundamentally different things. The fact of evolution is a thing that is perfectly and absolutely clear. There are dozens of theories of evolution, some of which are almost wholly absurd, some of which seem largely mistaken, some of which are perhaps almost wholly true. There are many theoretical points as to the method by which evolution has been brought about, that we are not yet in possession of scientific knowledge to answer directly and fully the question 'Has evolution occurred?' It has."

"Change of an Organism."

"Evolution, I think, means the change of an organism from one character into a different character. By character, I mean its structure, or its behavior, or its function, or its method of development, or its way of anything else—the change of an organism from one set of characteristics into a different condition, characterized by a different set of characteristics."

"This is the evolution of that organism. But the term in general means the whole series of such changes which have taken place during the hundreds of millions of years which have produced from very lowly beginnings, the nature of which is not by any means fully understood, organisms of much more complex character whose have passed since certain strata

"Yes, 600,000,000 years ago is a very modest guess."

"Well, just go on where I interrupted you."

Animal Development.

"At the same time that this tremendous series of plants was developing from a lowly condition into the elaborate condition which we now find there was developing alongside them a series of animal forms or differences between animal plants."

The difference in the development of animals and plants was largely due to their food habits," Dr. Metcalf declared. "The plants stood still and let food come to them, while animals hustled for it. The consequence was that animals developed organs for moving themselves and for grasping food and these developments led in turn to many other changes and advances, so that the divergence between animal and plant life became increasingly broad."

"Can you say," inquired Darrow, "whether animal life began in the sea or on the land?"

"I think probably that animal life and plant life both began at the border line between the water and the land, where conditions were a little more likely to be productive of such a remarkable substance as living substance. For long periods in the earth's history there probably was no such thing as land life, either plant or animal, but all living things were marine."

"The conditions of life in the seas are very simple and very easy for an organism, which has this green coloring matter which we call 'chlorophyll' and which is able on this account to absorb energy from the sun. Green plants, once cell plants, living in the ocean, are both in a situation containing all of the minerals which they need for their food, and they also are exposed to sunlight whose energy they absorb by means of chlorophyll. It is therefore somewhat advantageous for them to remain small and unicellular. Then they remain surrounded on all sides by their nutriment media, and are exposed on all sides to its sources of energy, the sunlight, but when terrestrial life began there were conditions of difficulty, and in order to meet those conditions it would be necessary to develop means adequate to the needs of such life."

Back From the Land.

"Some animals have gone from the earth to the sea, have they not?"

"Yes, some complex animals have gone back into the ocean. Whales and seals and a great many of the water birds that spend a considerable portion of their life on the sea, have gone back from the land."

Darrow asked Dr. Metcalf to describe a mammal. He replied that some of its characteristics are that it has hair, a backbone, two pairs of limbs, shoulder and hip girdles, and that it suckles its young. Man is a mammal, he said.

"Now, among the mammals, how is man further classified?" Darrow pursued.

"He is classed among the primates. Man is not a very highly evolved animal in his body. He isn't so highly specialized as a great many organisms. His hand, for example, is a very generalized structure, nowhere nearly as much specialized as the hand of a monkey, a bird, but he clearly belongs among the mammals. A group well up toward what we call the well elaborated members of that group phylogically."

Meaning of Primate.

"Evidence Overwhelming."

Replying to a blunt question by Clarence Darrow, chief defense attorney, concerning the proofs of evolution, the great scholar as bluntly replied: "The entire series of evidences of the evolution of man from a lower form of life are so convincing, so overwhelming, that it would be impossible for any normal human being who was conversant with them to entertain one moment's doubt as to the fact of evolution."

Again, replying to another question, he sought emphatically to make clear that the theories of evolution are theories of how it occurred, not whether or not it did occur. That it did occur is beyond question, he said, but there are many theories of how it occurred. It has.

"Evolution and the theories of evolution are fundamentally different things. The fact of evolution is a thing that is perfectly and absolutely clear. There are dozens of theories of evolution, some of which are almost wholly absurd, some of which seem largely mistaken, some of which are perhaps almost wholly true. There are many theoretical points as to the method by which evolution has been brought about, that we are not yet in possession of scientific knowledge to answer directly and fully the question 'Has evolution occurred?' It has."

"Now will you tell what it means the fact of evolution?" asked Darrow.

"Evolution, I think, means the change of an organism from one character into a different character. By character, I mean its structure, or its behavior, or its function, or its method of development, or its way of anything else—the change of an organism from one set of characteristics into a different condition, characterized by a different set of characteristics."

"This is the evolution of that organism. But the term in general means the whole series of such changes which have taken place during the hundreds of millions of years which have produced from very lowly beginnings, the nature of which is not by any means fully understood, organisms of much more complex character whose have passed since certain strata

"Well, it was more than 4000 years ago, wasn't it?" asked Darrow sardonically.

"Yes, 600,000,000 years ago is a very modest guess."

"Well, just go on where I interrupted you."

Animal Development.

"At the same time that this tremendous series of plants was developing from a lowly condition into the elaborate condition which we now find there was developing alongside them a series of animal forms or differences between animal plants."

The difference in the development of animals and plants was largely due to their food habits," Dr. Metcalf declared. "The plants stood still and let food come to them, while animals hustled for it. The consequence was that animals developed organs for moving themselves and for grasping food and these developments led in turn to many other changes and advances, so that the divergence between Four Life Termers Escape.

By the Associated Press.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 16.—Six prisoners in the State Penitentiary, four serving life sentences, escaped shortly before 8 o'clock last night by using an improvised key to enter the inclosure of the ventilation fan, stopping the fan and cutting their way out the top of the main prison. They lowered themselves to the ground on a large piece of insulation telephone cable.

ST. LOUIS MAN SLAIN IN CHICAGO, BURIED

John B. O'Hara, 35 Years Old, Was Killed in Duel With Policeman.

The funeral of John B. O'Hara, 35 years old, who was fatally wounded early last Saturday morning in a revolver duel with a policeman in Chicago, was held this morning from funeral parlors at 1029 North Grand boulevard, to Calvary Cemetery.

O'Hara was one of a group of five men in an altercation in a candy store when Patrolman Michael Murtha passed. Four of the men fled when the officer investigated, but O'Hara drew a revolver, shooting Murtha three times through the leg in the exchange of shots. Other officers found Murtha propped on his elbows, guarding his prisoner with his loaded revolver.

O'Hara died in the Bridewell Hospital without regaining consciousness. The officer's wounds are not serious.

Identification was made by Mrs. Annie Steiger, O'Hara's mother, who went to Chicago Monday when police notified her that they believed the dead man was her son. She returned with the body Tuesday.

Until last fall, when he went to Chicago in search of work as a horseshoer, O'Hara had resided in St. Louis. He lived with his wife, Edith and three sons, Bernard, 16, John, 14, and Emmet, 10, at 8818 Enright avenue. Members of the family declared that he never was in trouble and that he was a steady worker at his trade.

TWO MEN KILLED IN GANG FEUD OUTBREAK IN CHICAGO

One of the Victims Shot When in Parked Auto.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Two persons are dead and one wounded in what the police believe is another of the city's periodic gangland feud outbreaks. Tony Compagno, son of a wealthy commission merchant, was one victim. He was seated with Samuel Cimminello in a parked automobile on the South Side when a crowd of car drove abreast and halted long enough to permit its occupants to fire a score of pistol and gunshot into Compagno. Cimminello, slightly wounded, was held for questioning.

Another murder mystery was presented early today when Charles Burtucci, a taxicab driver, took to a hospital a man fatally wounded. Burtucci said the man, whose name he did not know, had engaged his cab and that an unidentified man had approached the cab and fired three shots at the passenger. Burtucci disappeared before the police arrived at the hospital.

CHARGE AGAINST INVENTOR OF 'WONDER DETECTOR' DROPPED

A charge of using the mails to defraud against Tracy J. Burchard, dealer in "The Wonder Detector," advertised as guaranteed to locate buried treasure, was dismissed at a hearing yesterday before Commissioner Atkins. Burchard produced testimonials, one from a resident of Jefferson City, to the effect that his device had really detected buried treasure. In dismissing the charge, Commissioner Atkins said intent to defraud had not been proved, as Burchard displayed an "honest belief" in the merits claimed for the detector. Burchard promised to stop using the mails to sell the device.

GIRLS! USE LEMON TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Graham White, which any drug-gist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweet-fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It cannot irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sun-burn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.
